Anderson Bros. Here Thirty Years; Romantic Story of Business in Kingston

William and Edward Anderson Opened Small Grocery Store and Progress of Firm Has Been Wonderful—A Special Anniversary Sale.

Thirty years ago this week two Kingston citizens, William and Edward Anderson, opened a small grocery business on Division street near the head of Queen street. This week they celebrate their thirtieth anniversary in business, but it is no longer in the little grocery store in which they started business, but rather in one of the largest establishments of its kind in this part of Ontario.

The growth of Anderson Bros., Ltd., has been amazing, indeed a romantic story of business. By careful and prudent management, by foresight and ability, these two men have built up a trade and expanded their place of business till it is now of huge proportions. A building with a whole block frontage, from Princess to Garrett streets on Division, now houses their retail department, and in many departments behind the sales rooms the large refrigeration plants and cooking rooms are located.

Always looking ahead, Anderson Bros. have been quick to install new time and labor saving machinery as soon as it was patented and put on the market. An ever increasing patronage called for greater and greater service, and with every year that went by the sales force was increased till now it numbers some forty men and women. Four motor trucks take care of the delivery in city and country districts, for Anderson's trading territory has been expanded till it now includes much of the rural district around Kingston.

One feature that has been stressed all through Anderson Bros.' long business career is that of "Service." The sales force has always been instructed along the lines that satisfaction to the customer is the first and most important item, and with this in mind no effort has been spared to please the people who have gone to this store for their supplies. Service and satisfaction have won their reward, and to-day Anderson Bros. wait on a very large number of customers every day.

To say just how many customers are waited on each day, however, would be to give away a valuable secret, for during the special Anniversary Sale, which opens on Thursday of this week and lasts till Saturday, three valuable prizes will be given each day of the Anniversary Sale—Thursday, Friday, Saturday—to the customers guessing nearest to the actual number served.

In These Days of Great Rush and Worry Man Is In Much Need of Recreation

Dr. W. T. MacClement Deals With Interesting Subject at Kiwanis Club Luncheon—Recreation Getting Back To Habits of Long Ago.

"Why do we go fishing? Certainly not for the fish. We go because for a hundred thousand years, our ancestors lived on fish, and catching fish was a daily duty."

So Dr. W. T. MacClement, head of the department of biology at Queen's University and director of Queen's Summer School, explained from a scientific standpoint, why in these days of rush and worry, man needs recreation, in a very entertaining address, at the luncheon of the Kingston Kiwanis Club, in the Hotel Frontenac, Monday noon.

Only two thousand years ago we were savages, roaming out-of-doors, with never a care beyond oneself or his own family. Probably for 100,000 years we had lived such a life. It was a tremendous change to suddenly shut a man up in an office and to lay on him the burden of guiding a great business enterprise and tie him down with rules and regulations. The strain of learning to work with others, the task on the mind of planning for the future, the holding of one's place in the structure of civilization that is constantly getting more complex were causes enough for the constant present in our midst of "The Tired Business Man." Many men still in their thirties, are showing signs of wear that should not be seen till old age.

Recreation was getting back to the habits of long ago. Some go in for horse-racing, probably because the horse was man's friend for many generations. Others fish. The great piles of bones and shells in the settlements of prehistoric days testify to the importance of these forms of food in the early years. Even sleep is a return to nature, from the unnatural position of standing erect.

True recreation is to get away from civilization, to go out to the woods and lakes, to don soft clothing, and as little as possible, and to get under shelter of the simplest kind. It is to get back to the conditions of our ancestors, and to catch, kill, cook and do everything for oneself and forget the tax-gatherer, the tailor and all the other necessities of life. The boy, with his peculiar fondness for living in a tree and the like, was a real savage but only following after his ancestors.

Civilization is only skin deep. Scratch anybody, and you will find a savage. These instincts are kept in control normally by a higher and newer part of the intellect. But this newer part is weaker and it tires. Another form of recreation lies in the use of drugs, which work by acting on this higher intellect. Alcohol gives a feeling of well-being—"speaking from hearsay", interjected the speaker—by paralyzing the higher centres and the individual reverts to the savage, says and does what he likes and loses his anxiety for the future. The modern craze for narcotics and the demand for alcohol are due to this fact—they reduce the strain.

President "Billy" Moore thanked the speaker of the day very heartily, and invited him back again. Dr. Sparks introduced Dr. MacClement.

Mr. T. M. Asselstine, President of the Kingston Automobile Club, who is putting much time on the organization work in connection with the parade for Old Home Week, addressed the Club, and outlined plans under way.

The booster was Stewart Robinson, who was introduced by "Had" Herrington, and whose prize, a silver tobacco set, was won by Frank Day.

"Billy" Mills reported that the flagpole had been erected at the tourist camp, "a $800 one hundred," by Capt. Donnelly. All the spaces on the sign board but two, have been sold. Harry Newman sent thanks for the flowers that the club sent him in hospital.

The President told of a very grateful letter received from one of the four boys which the Club helped attend the camp at Eagle Lake. Bill Anderson collected the fines.

Besides the two speakers, the guests included Rotarian "Jack" Elder, Rev. Dr. J. D. Ellis, formerly pastor of Queen Street Church, and Kiwanian Campbell, of Montreal.

laughter and brought forth much applause.

Queen's Summer School

Another dance will be held in Grant Hall Friday night.

On Monday next, the annual boat excursion is planned. The steamer Brockville will leave at 9.30 a.m. and take the students to Glen Island, where the day will be spent in picnic sports, the return being made in the evening.

Thirty-four students have signed their names as being desirous of taking a course in dramatic art, which was suggested by Mr. Gates, at last Thursday's business meeting. Another list is posted for the names of those interested in rugby. "Lis" Walker will act as coach.

The tennis tournament is now in progress, the preliminary rounds being run off.

A DELIGHTFUL CONCERT.

Kiwanians Took Part in Event at Enterprise.

A very delightful concert was given at Enterprise Saturday evening, by "Jack" Elder and a party of local amateurs, under the auspices of the United Church. In spite of the heavy rain, the concert hall was filled to its capacity and $110 was realized. This party has given six concerts in that district in the past three weeks, and the churches, under whose auspices they appeared, have benefited to the extent of about $500. The following took part: Stuart Salebury, Kingston boy soprano; Pipe major Stewart and soprano Phillips; Mr. G. Radcliffe, violin solo; Mr. Robert Howarth, songs; Mr. "Jack" Elder, Scotch songs; Miss E. Mellow, pianist. A humorous sketch was given by "Jack" Elder and M. Howarth, which kept the audience in fits of Nearly All Prisoners in the County Jail Put on Weight.

Regarding the Toronto Star's criticism of jail fare, the case is cited of a man at the Kingston jail gaining forty pounds during the six months that he spent there. Another man gained twenty-five pounds, in three months. It is said that nearly all prisoners put on weight in the local institution, though practically

The Local Paper.
"A good local paper makes a good local community," says the Spokane Spokesman-Review. "The well-edited paper is a distinct advantage to its community and serves a need that will always exist. It prints the current news of the community and, with a capable editor, it becomes a real factor in the upbuilding of the community. It can and does accomplish much for the common weal. It reflects the character of the community itself. It aids materially in the direction and assistance of all community development, both industrial and educational. It could not survive one year if no need existed or it failed to fill the wants."

Never Late in Eleven Years.
Miss Valie Griffith of Burlington, N.C., graduated from her local high school with the enviable record of never having been late or absent from school in eleven years. This period is approximately 2,000 school days, and the record is believed to be nation-wide.

James Pollard, a railway engine driver, of Peterboro, Eng., was found dead in bed with an artery in his arm severed and a razor beside him. The old custom in St. Ives, Eng., of raffing Bibles, instituted by Dr. Robert Wilde in 1475, took place recently in the presence of the vicar. A new sleeping-car diploma has been built in England which carries 16 passengers with baggage.
