CIRCLE-SIX PUT VICTORIAS AWAY

Teams Battled for Eight Innings Before Winning Run Was Pushed Over.

In what turned out to be easily the most thrilling junior game of the season, the Circle-Six defeated Victorias at the Cricket Field on Monday evening by the score of 1-0 after eight and a half innings of spectacular baseball by both teams in which only ten hits were smashed out, the Victorias getting six of them and the Circle-Six four. There was plenty of excitement for the fans including a Dempsey towards the close of the game, which, happily, ended in there being no casualties. A Victoria player and a Circle-Six player were put out of the game but when it was found that the Six would be unable to continue, as they had but nine players, both boys were allowed to stay in the game. The scrap started so quickly that it was hard to tell how it all started but suffice to say, it caused no little excitement. And just in passing, it might be mentioned that the teams can get along beautifully without that sort of thing, and it is to be hoped that the last has been seen of it.

The Circle-Six were minus their three star players, Reid, Buck and Morris Lovett, all heavy hitters and the fact that Circle-Six were able to gather in but four hits, shows their absence but at the same time shows Jamieson to be no mean pitcher. This boy worked better in Monday night's game and he pitched great ball. It was certainly not his fault that the game was lost and many are of the opinion that he deserved to win. With such pitching as he put up, it was certainly hard on the little pitcher to lose but it must be admitted that any breaks that were going, his team got them.

The Circle-Six again showed their better baseball in several places in the game last evening. In the first of the ninth inning they were in a mighty bad fix. With three on and only one out, they retired the side without a score and in two or three other instances they pulled themselves out of delicate situations. Victorias, on the other hand, threw away good chances by not being on their toes, especially in the first of the ninth inning when Boyd was held at third base instead of being sent on in. This would have tied the game up at least. The runner had plenty of time if he had been told to go in, for in the excitement of the error by the short-stop, there would have been little chance to get him.

Again Victorias threw away chances by failure to send in a pinch hitter in the ninth inning for batters who had been weak with the stick all through the game. Players who had failed to even connect with the ball in the game to any account, were allowed to go back in the ninth to bat, when there was a good chance to score with a little hit. A little head work from the bench might have won that game Monday evening for Victorias.

However, it was a game that will not soon be forgotten by those fans who saw it, and they were there in large numbers. Only twenty-seven batters faced young Jamieson in the eight innings that the Circle-Six were at bat and it can be imagined what kind of fielding and pitching was being put up by the Victorias. Hewitt Smith and Jamieson battled it out for the pitching honors and on the game, Smith came second best. Both pitchers had nine strikeouts but Smith was touched for two more hits than was Jamieson. Smith also walked three batters while Jamieson did not pass any down.

men up, Boyd and T. Gibson, hit safely. There was a decision in the case of one of these men that was questionable but the base umpire's decision carried. Albertson grounded to Powell and the latter fumbled putting three men on base with only one man out. Boyd should have been sent on in when Powell erred but he was held there and it seemed right then that the chances of the Victorias were about cooked. S. Gibson bressed and Pennock closed the book by flying to Hartley.

TRAP-SHOOTING HAS SHOWN GREAT GROWTH

Successes of Canadian Trap-Shooting Teams at Olympic Games the Cause.

During the past year or so, there have been distinct signs of a healthy growth in trap-shooting organizations throughout the country. In the mid-west the various zone shoots have been very successful while, in the east inter-club shoots have had a great increase in the number of contestants. The tournaments held during the Canadian National Exhibition, at Toronto, attracted shooters from distant parts of Canada, and greatly increased general interest in the sport.

FROM THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

Monday night's junior game was one that will not soon be forgotten and there is little doubt that the next time these two teams play there will be one big crowd on hand.

The scrap at third base was the only real mar on the performance on Monday evening. These players in the junior league are young and perhaps were excited, but they should remember that an exhibition such as in last evening's game does not look good. Now is the time for them to learn to play the game without that kind of thing and it is to be hoped that there will be nothing more like it again. It was not a serious scrap by any means, but such things are better left out of a game.

Mr. W. A. Twigg is to be commended for his action in providing new score numbers for the score board at the Cricket Field. Mr. Twigg has always shown a great interest in the game at the Cricket Field and his act in providing the fans with the score is much appreciated.

The Circle-Six pulled themselves out of some tight fixes in last evening's game and showed their ability in the pinches.

Young Jamieson showed that he is no mean pitcher and with proper handling would develop into a real mound star.

The game was held up at the start last evening while an argument waged over the home game. The Circle-Six had the home game and after some more protesting by "Chuck" Coyne, the game was proceeded with, with the Circle-Six in the field.

If Kingston defeats Belleville here to-morrow evening and Oshawa takes a fall out of Peterboro, Kingston will be sitting pretty at the top of the heap. If the locals step into first place they will need to hold it, as the schedule is drawing near to a close and every game counts.

The Kingston Yacht Club dinghy sailors certainly made a fine showing in the races this season and they may well be proud of their record. They now hold the Currie Cup for the inter-city races.

The Printers and the Plumbers are scheduled to clash at the Cricket Field this evening and it should prove a real snappy game. The Printers are determined to stop the Plumbers in their run for the championship, while on the other hand the Plumbers are determined to keep up their good record and take a fall out of the composing-room boys.

Kingston Intermediates meet Brockville in a St. Lawrence League fixture at Brockville to-morrow evening and they are all set to make a win out of it. The Intermediates have not been going very strong so far and they intend getting a new start in to-morrow's game by taking Brockville into camp.

The Shamrocks made a fine impression with the junior fans at Tuesday evening's game. A little more experience would have helped them considerably and many are of the opinion that they would have defeated the Vics but for the lack of experience. Milne caught a fine game, but had the bad habit of playing the bases with two men out.

ment, to the enthusiasm aroused by the performances of the Canadian Olympic team. The scores made by the various members of this organization attracted much attention from the trap-shooting fraternity throughout the world.

S. G. Vance, captain of the team, shot a total of 795 clay birds in competitions in Britain and broke 781, or 98.3 per cent. J. Montgomery shot at 815 and broke 803 per cent. while G. Beattie, of Hamilton, shot at 815 and broke 795 or 97 per cent. The other members of the team made scores very slightly below these.

In the Olympic shoot the Canadian team took second place with a score only three points behind the winning team. In the International Championship Shoot, held in England, a team composed of W. Barnes, R. S. Montgomery, G. Beattie, J. H. Black and S. G. Vance won the British Challenge Shield, with a perfect score. This score has never been equalled since these competitions were first started in 1895.

It will be seen by these records that for skill, Canadian trap-shooters stand high. With an increase in the numbers of followers of the sport there is no doubt that Canada will win still other laurels.

"PEPPER" MARTIN DEAD.

Took Part in Fight But Two Weeks Ago—He Died of Pneumonia. New York, July 21.—Vincent "Pepper" Martin of Brooklyn, several times contender for the world featherweight and junior lightweight championship, died of pneumonia, Sunday, in a Long Island City Hospital after an illness of only a few days.

Only two weeks ago Martin was outpointed by the junior lightweight champion, Mike Ballerino, in a 15-round contest at the Queensboro Stadium. The attack from which he died overtook him last Thursday.

In 1922, some five years after he entered boxing, Martin encountered Babe Herman of San Francisco at Madison Square Garden and knocked out the Californian in the first

"IN BY MID-NITE" RULE FOR PLAYERS HAS ITS WAY OUT

Not in years has there been so decisive an upset in ring circles as the knockout of Jimmy Slattery by Dave Shade.

Slattery was generally considered the class of the country at his weight. Experts rated him able to trim any of the middleweights and light-heavies. He was touted as the coming heavyweight champion.

Then to make-ferm look foolish, Dave Shade, a contender for the welter title, knocked him out in three rounds.

Slattery had never met a weaving, bobbing fighter like Shade. He had no defense for this style of fighting and fell a quick victim.

On the same evening that Shade knocked out Slattery, welterweight champion, Mickey Walker was taking an artistic lacing from middleweight champion, Harry Greb.

For over a year Shade has tried in every way possible to get a match with Walker but to no avail.

It doesn't look as if his knockout of Slattery will help his case with Mount Etna, the greatest volcano in Europe, is 10,738 feet high.

THAT IN THE HOTEL BY MIDNIGHT RULE UTTERLY RUINS A BALL PLAYER'S SOCIAL ACTIVITY

ILL MAKE THIS BED LOOK LIKE I'VE BEEN IN IT LAST NIGHT

HURRY UP, JAKE! WE'VE GOT FIVE MORE BEDS TO MUSS UP YET!

BUT—THE BALL PLAYERS HELP EACH OTHER OUT OCCASIONALLY—

By AL DEMAREE

The fans who think a ball player's life on the road is one continuous round of pleasure and that his time is all his own, except when he is parting at the ball park, have another guess coming.

Nearly every major league club has a rule that a player must be in his room by midnight. And some of the clubs make 11.30 as the hour, with a stiff fine, to keep it enforced.

To circumvent these restrictions on their personal liberty, some ball players have many methods of helping out their comrades. One of their stunts is to muss up the beds of any of the athletes who had late dates and were unable to get back to the hotel and would sooner stay away all night than take a chance of being seen and reported coming in at a late hour.

And it is quite an art to muss up a bed and make it appear that the player has slept in it all night.

Pennant Dope. Who will win the American League pennant? Two managers, Stanley Harris and Connie Mack, have very definite opinions on that question.

"Philadelphia is the club we must beat if we are to repeat," says Manager Harris of the world champs.

"When we beat them four out of five in our last series we helped our case considerably."

"The club that wins the American League pennant must beat Washington," says Connie Mack. "That is the only club I fear."

All of which makes it seem the American League race is a two-club affair.

Only a bad start is keeping the Detroit Tygers from being a serious menace. Cobb's club has finally struck its stride.

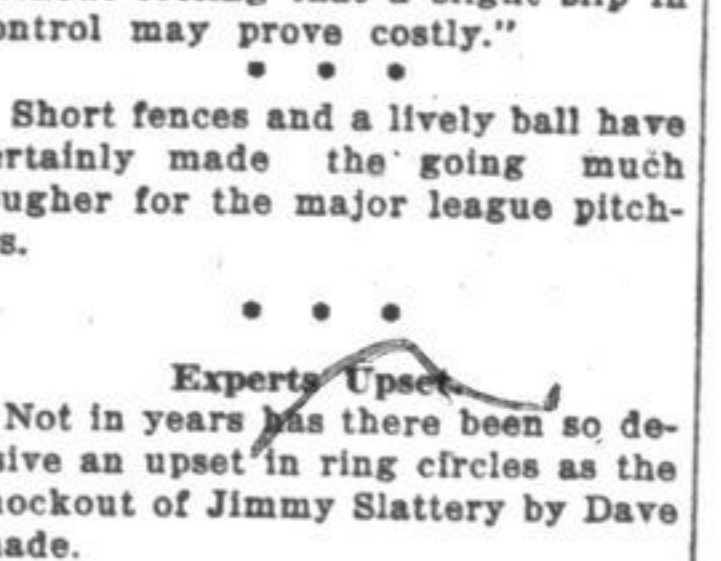

Serious Handicap. "Short fences are a 25 per cent. handicap to a big league pitcher," says Joe Bush of the St. Louis Browns.

The golfer who either uses or now adopts the open stance should not place his feet too far apart. Exert a tendency to stand up straighter, more natural-like. Bend only as much as you have to, not greatly because of a feeling the pronounced stoop is going to add power to your swing. When the feet are too far apart a straining takes place on the back swing because the upper body pulls too hard against the legs as the club bears the top. This straining is sure to cause too much tightening and the resultant rigidity besides restricting the back swing's freedom. At the same time do not have the feet too close together or the sense of balance will be lost.
