A shingle will get at the seat of a lot of a boy's troubles

Things even up. When day breaks, fewer laws are broken

Time it is cool enough to sleep it is almost time to get up

Time cures everything except the necessity of having to shave

The public is neutral in a coal strike. It causes both sides

If there was a moon every night there would be no bachelors

It is easy to laugh at your own expense until the bills come in

Well, if Darwin is right, the survivors at Dayton are the fittest

You get what is coming to you. The roll called up yonder is a pay roll

Abandoned farm houses are withered, but they are called tea rooms now

An orator is a man who waxes enthusiastic about your duty to get busy

Discretion by any other name wouldn't change the temperature of the feet

The conservative driver is comparatively safe if he has a good rear bumper

The smaller the town, the more adjectives are used in the write-up of a party

Old friends are best, of course; but you get a little tired of their same old stories

Among the nations that seem to have no rights in China are Switzerland and China

As a rule, convictions are what you get by associating with people who have them

Science won't make great headway while religion is taught early and evolution late

A wise man is merely one who keeps his friends from discovering how foolish he is

Blowing your own horn a little is all right. But never try to blow it to beat the band

CANADA DOES WELL

The Canadian dollar at a premium in New York is a thing of cheering significance. In November of last year the same situation arose, because of purely financial operations which had the effect of creating a favorable balance for us in the international clearing house.

DR. ELIOT ON COLLEGES

It will be universally conceded that the long experience of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President Emeritus of Harvard University, qualifies him to speak authoritatively about the relationship of a college training to success in life.

POWER EXPORT QUESTION

Now that electricity is being more largely used by the farmers of Ontario the question of power export becomes more important to them than was formerly the case.

THE ALCOHOL ARGUMENT

Scientists cannot agree about alcohol. No sooner does a learned professor at Yale tell the world that it is a nutrient and therefore useful, than another professor, of the same university, comes out with a report that is condemnatory.

THE INVISIBLE FACTORS

One must look below the surface before taking trade figures as the final proof of national prosperity. For fully a century Great Britain has imported more than she exported; yet under precisely those conditions, which seemed so adverse, she grew opulent and strong.

THE NEW NURSE

Some folks have complained, and perhaps not without reason, that some of our graduate nurses are so well trained in the hospital, that they are helpless when they get out into the home of the sick patient.

That Body of Yours

Dr. Henry H. Rusby, Dean of the College of Pharmacy of Columbia University, is the latest contributor to this perennial controversy. "The belief is almost universal," he writes, "that alcohol acts as a stimulant, whereas the reverse is true."

BIBLE THOUGHT

SERVE THE LORD with gladness: come before his presence with singing. For the Lord is good: his mercy is everlasting: and his truth endureth to all generations.—Psalm 100:2, 3.

Quantity is increased but usually at the expense of quality

In short, Dr. Rusby has nothing good to say about alcohol. Yet authorities, as has just been said, are far apart on the subject. Not long ago a professor of Johns Hopkins University announced that his investigation of 4,000 cases had warranted the judgment that alcohol, used in moderation, lengthened life; and immediately thereafter the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company issued a carefully prepared statement, based on the records of several large insurance organizations, which was directly to the contrary.

Standardized Teaching

Le Monde Ouvrier (Montreal): In accordance with the law of nature, our children, having better opportunities than their parents, should be their superiors; but the contrary is the fact. The reason is that a child above the average to-day is sacrificed for the loafer, the backward and the indolent.

Markets for Farmers

Le Soleil (Quebec): Hitherto our farming population, scattered over an immense territory, was in many ways too far distant from the great centres of population to be guaranteed stable and remunerative markets; but the multiplication of industries will inevitably result in the growth of new urban centres in which the farmers will find advantageous markets at their very doors.

The British Flag

L'Evenement (Quebec): The province of Quebec has no quarrel with the actual status of the country. Its particular rights and privileges are better assured by the Union Jack than they would be by a Canadian constitution. In more than one instance we have been refused justice by the Canadian authorities, and recourse to an Imperial tribunal has redressed our wrongs.

English and French

Le Droit (Ottawa): One can never make a good English-Canadian out of a French-Canadian, or a good French-Canadian out of an English-Canadian. The phenomenon described in physics as endosmosis and exosmosis is not a fitting experiment with peoples called to inhabit the same country.

NATURE LORE

When we wish to see real interesting things in the wild life, we must go away into wild country. It is for this very reason that I go so far to make observations. The wild folks seem either too stupid to pay any attention to me or they just know I am harmless. Maybe they consider me also wild. Maybe?

Canada's Story Day by Day

This is the date on which, in the year 1834, Commander George Black—who was afterwards knighted and attained to the rank of an English admiral—arrived at the mouth of what was then known as the "Great Fish River," but which now, in his honor, is called the Black River. Twice he had been with Franklin in the Arctic regions, and on this occasion he was in charge of an expedition sent out with the double object of rescuing another party of explorers and of prosecuting geographical discovery in the northern portions of British America.

Summer Drinks

Kis-Ora Lemon Squash, Kis-Ora Orange Squash, Kis-Ora Lime Juice, French Fruit Syrup, Grape Juice

COAL

MERIT WILL WEAR WELL. All the advertising in the world, in vain as advertising seems to be, will not in the case of a vital product get over, permanently, the article of least merit.

A Sallow Skin

is a sign that your liver is out of order, a condition that should receive immediate attention, as it quickly affects the general health and throws the stomach and bowels into disorder.
