THE FUN SHOP

NEWSPAPER FUN

By Maxson Foxhall Judell

Driven To It!
"The little wife," while she's away Finds it a source of joy each day That "Hubby" who at home, poor dear, Scorns prunes, will pay to eat 'em here!

The Guard.
Mrs. Mack: "How do you control husband while you are away."
Mrs. Stone: "I leave the baby with him."

MRS. BALDPATE.
By Wallace M. Bayliss.
The man who writes, in lilted verse or prose, Is oft obliged to tell some things he knows That he'd prefer to keep unsaid were he

Not forced to keep in mind posterity. Long years ago a timid little man, Named George A. Baldpate, married life began.

With one he thought an angel without wings. She was without a lot of other things! She had no confidence in him at all. And if he stayed out late, right in the hall

She met him and made this poor timid guy Tell what, and where, and who, and which, and why! This cross-examination, sometimes rough, Made him adept at thinking up good stuff:

But this subjection by the female sex Gave him a most inferior complex. He feels such shame at his hen-picked estate

He always tries to make out he is great. Result: No matter what a person said He'd tell a bigger tale, and get ahead!

You've seen it happen to Doc. Traprock who, At mention of Baldpate, turns black and blue! This is the moral of our tale so dire— Hen-pecking will make any man a liar!

To The Limit.
Avery: "Is your car fully equipped?"
Ray: "Well, it undoubtedly has all the accessories."
—Wilton Kentzner.

Betty Be Good!
"Betty's rich uncle cut her off with practically nothing, I understand."
"A bobbed heiress, eh?"
—L.P.

Usual Case.
PESEY: "How do you keep your cook?"
Emily: "Disatisfied."
—John Matter.

New Operation?
Mrs. Deadbeat: "Henry, the furniture dealer was here and took away our chairs that aren't paid for, and the man was here after the piano. You owe the doctor, too, you know."
Deadbeat: "Good Heavens! Do you suppose he wants to put my tonsils back?"
—V.L.L.

Correct.
Arvid: "We, as Americans, are getting soft. The past generation could rise to anything."
Wells: "Yes, and the present generation will fall for anything."
—Rudie L.

HON. WILLIAM HARTY, Ex-M.P. One of Kingston's oldest and most distinguished citizens.

Huge Flaming Cross Blazes Over Bay of Quinte
Belleville, Aug. 1.—A thirty-foot cross, arms extending twenty feet, was burned on Zwicks Island in the Bay of Quinte. The sight was plainly visible from the Provincial Highway. City police went to the scene, but found no one around. Those who had built the cross had gone to considerable trouble to make it one that would burn. It was saturated in oil, as its base showed. It was attached to a small hickory tree.

A Pullman Bus.
One of the latest type pullman sedan type bus has just made its appearance in the city. The body is mounted on a Big Six Studebaker chassis with a wheelbase of 188" and equipped with balloon tires 34x 7.50, which ensures the most comfortable riding qualities. The seats are all crosswise of the body with a door at each seat so that passengers can get in and out without difficulty. They are upholstered in the finest quality solid leather with deep cushions and very high backs and lots of leg room between each seat. Accommodation is afforded for 15 passengers. The interior trim is solid leather and is completely equipped with dome lights, ventilators and buzzer system. The local Studebaker dealers, The Central Garage, Limited, have sold the bus to Mr. E. Walker, who intends to operate same on the run between Kingston and Belleville, making two round trips a day, commencing very shortly.

Died Very Suddenly.
Gananoque, Aug. 1.—The death occurred suddenly early yesterday morning at Sugar Island of Percy F. Hogan, Montclair, N.J., a charter member of the A. C. A., and probably the most popular man who ever came to camp here. Mr. Hogan, who was a member of the Brooklyn Canoe Club, was a steel broker and senior member of the firm of Hogan and Son, 373 Pearl street, New York City. Surviving are a wife, son and daughter, none of whom were here at the time of Mr. Hogan's death.

Clerked With Sir Gilbert Parker.
J. E. Crane, Toronto, visiting at Campbellford, says he clerked with Sir Gilbert Parker in stores in the village. They were both young men then. They were confirmed on the same day by the late Bishop Sweetman of Toronto.

Captain Ellis Has New Boat.
Captain J. Claude Ellis, Alexandria Bay, is running a new boat on the river called Captain Kidd. Mr. Ellis is establishing a route for the pleasure boat what he calls the historical trip among the islands.

GEORGE C. FRALECK Who is still an active clerk at the age of eighty.
