

BURNS and SCALDS

The handle of the preserving kettle is too hot—the stove lid lifter has been too near the front of the stove—or a kettle tip and spills some of its contents—and before you know it you have a nasty burn or scald.

Absorbine-J

is very valuable in such accidents because it soothes the raw, tender flesh, allays the pain and promotes a rapid and comfortable re-building of the tissues, at the same time removing the danger of infection.

For all aches, pains, cuts, sores or strained muscles, ABSORBINE-J has found well merited favor.

Eye Comfort-- What It Means

It means the ability to do close work for reasonable lengths of time, and to see well in the distance without undue strain on the eyes. Freedom from eye strain means freedom from headaches and many other ills that come as a result of it. So that eye comfort means more than freedom from pain in the eyes. If you need eye attention, our service awaits you.

FRIENDS SEPARATE, KINSMEN STAND TOGETHER.

The International Sunday School Lesson for August 9th is: "Beginning the Second Missionary Tour." Acts 15:36; 16:5.

Both human nature and human interest permeate the Bible story. Because the Book deals with real places and real people and real truth, its message works out wondrously in real life. This present Lesson portrays an open disagreement resulting in a break between two Christian leaders; a standing together of kinsmen, even at the cost of severing close friends who had been famous partners; and a replacement of one young assistant, who had proved a slacker, by another who stood all tests. And the Lesson also shows the growth of organization and authority in the Apostolic Church.

A Young Man "Quitter."

Let us dispose of personalities first. John Mark, nephew of Barnabas, son of one of the leading women of the Jerusalem Church, and later the earliest biographer of Jesus, was the cause of contention. He had started out on the first Christian pioneering expedition with Paul and Barnabas, but had proved to be a "quitter" in the face of difficulties. When the trip got too hard, he sneaked back home.

Brave old Paul, who could not comprehend cowardice, felt himself through with John Mark. As a veteran traveller, he knew that a man's comrade on difficult journeys must first of all possess courage and endurance. No social graces or intellectual qualities can take the place of sheer fearlessness and fortitude in wayfaring that holds life and death adventures. So Mark automatically excluded himself from Paul's expeditions. For the great itinerant was of the Browning type:

"One who never turned his back but march breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right was worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better,
Sleep to waken."

When a second trip was planned, with the glamour of the glowing reception given by the Church to Paul and Barnabas still enveloping it, Mark wanted to be one of the heroes. His uncle, Barnabas, less stern and uncompromising than Paul, was for taking him along. But Paul flatly refused. The two great men argued themselves into a real controversy that soon reached the ultimatum stage. (In a way, it is rather comforting to find these notable saints as human as the rest of us are!) So the pioneering partnership of Paul and Barnabas, that had wrought wonders of evangelism and undergone soul cementing experiences in common, was dissolved, and Barnabas and Mark went one way, and Paul, with a Jerusalem leader named Silas as his new partner, went another—all because one young man had been a slacker.

At this point, Barnabas fades out of New Testament history. His family loyalty cost him dear. He might have been Paul's partner to the end, sharing all the glorious experiences of the subverts to the Gospel were not subject to Jewish rites, he nevertheless caused Timothy to be circumcised, in order to conciliate Jewish disciples. Thus did he make up for one of the many problems inevitably created by an interracial marriage. Paul was no man to let non-essentials interfere with his central mission. He practiced the Thirteenth chapter of Corinthians before he ever wrote it.

Travelers Who Travel Again.

Anybody who has ever done real traveling cannot be content until he has traveled again. This yearning for far places may be detected in every meeting of men who have been together in the East. And the man who has once been truly part of a great work cannot "settle down" to retirement or the trivial round. Last week I sat in conference with a man who has spent an exciting generation in Constantinople and who has now come home only to face with dismay a humdrum existence somewhere in America. After his heroic adventures in planting churches in Asia Minor, it was simply impossible for Paul to become a flattered and feted favorite preacher in Antioch.

In his heart he heard the refrain: "I must go, go, away from here. On the other side the world I'm overdue."

Of course there were bigger and better motives inciting Paul to this second missionary journey. He had a deep and fatherly concern for his churches. He was eager to see the work carried on to fullest growth. Some men are good beginners, but poor finishers; successful evangelists but failures as pastors. Not so Paul. His was the shepherd heart.

What was more, the Christian Church was growing as an institution. Functions of authority had been assumed by the first Church Council at Jerusalem. There were decrees to be passed on to the new congregations and interpreted. The itinerant preacher must ever be followed by the organized Church. Paul possessed a rare combination of gifts as both pioneer and administrator, as prophet and as shepherd.

As a result of this second tour, of which we shall have exciting incidents to study in subsequent weeks, the new churches were "strengthened in the faith, and increased in number daily."

THE LATE GEORGE BARR.

Had Long Lived at Pleasant Valley—Old Orangeman.

Pleasant Valley, Aug. 6.—Death visited this vicinity last week and removed an old and much esteemed resident in the person of George Barr. Deceased had been in failing health for the past two years and was stricken with paralysis, growing gradually weaker, the end coming peacefully on Friday.

The late Mr. Barr was born at what is now Burridge, on October 27th, 1839, the son of George Barr and Sarah Quinn Barr. He had been a member of the Orange Order for the past sixty-nine years, being one of the oldest Orangemen in the dominion. Mr. Barr was a staunch Conservative, taking an interest in political events of the day.

The funeral was conducted from his late residence, Sunday, at 2 p.m., a great concourse of people assembling to pay their last tribute of respect to one who was ever ready to lend a helping hand to those in trouble. Rev. Thomas Leach conducted the service at the home. Members of L.O.L. No. 451 attended in a body and conducted their service at the grave side. The bearers were six Orange brethren. The funeral arrangements were in charge of H. J. Knight and interment in Harrowsmith cemetery. There are left a widow, seven daughters and one son; one son and one daughter predeceased him. One brother also survives.

BEST MEDICINE SHE EVER USED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised by a Nova Scotia Lady.

Among the well known and esteemed residents of Hemford, N.S., is Mrs. Amanda Woodworth. Some four years ago Mrs. Woodworth had the misfortune to lose her husband, and as a result of caring for him during his illness, and attending to farm duties, she became terribly run-down. Mrs. Woodworth says she felt as though her blood had turned to water. The least exertion would leave her tired and breathless. She was often attacked by spells of weakness that left her almost speechless, and frequently suffered from severe headaches. The medicines she took did not help her, and she almost despaired of gaining her health. In this condition she one day read in a newspaper of a case very similar to her own, in which health was restored through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This made her decide to give these pills a trial. After using a few boxes she found the pills were helping her, and she continued their use until her old-time health and vitality were restored. Now Mrs. Woodworth looks after a small farm of fifteen acres, besides doing all her household work, and says she never felt better or more energetic in her life. She gives credit for her present splendid health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she says are the best medicine she ever used, and strongly recommends the pills to all run-down people.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Grain Ripening Fast.

Outlet, Aug. 6.—Farmers have finished haying and some have started binding. The grain is ripening fast. Several from here went to Brockville on Monday and attended the K.C. picnic there. Misses Vera and Madeline Vanderburg returned on Monday from a three weeks' visit with friends at Arden and Strilins.

The United Church is holding a social on Friday evening on the church grounds. Mrs. M. Fodey and Nelson Fodey spent Sunday in Mallorytown. A baby boy, has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Burns, also one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Heaslip.

Several from the vicinity went to Kingston on Wednesday to enjoy the races. A few of the boys are preparing to go on the harvesters' excursion to the west. A large number of tourists are visiting the lake daily. S. S. Cheestam, Gananoque, spent Wednesday testing at the cheese factory.

LAUGH IT OFF.

If you're worried in a fight. Laugh it off!
If you're cheated of your right. Laugh it off.
If you're making trifles of trifles. Don't shoot butterflies with rifles—Laugh it off!

If your work gets into kinks. Laugh it off!
If you're near all sorts of brinks. Laugh it off.
If it's sanity you're after. There's no recipe like laughter. Laugh it off!
