The Telephones In Service. The Kingston telephone service is growing splendidly. There are at the present time some 4,632 telephones in service. Since the beginning of the year 301 instruments have been added to the list.

Tourist Traffic Heavy. The tourist traffic this season through Kingston is heavier than ever before, according to all reports. An old resident of Kingston stated that he never saw so many cars passing through here.

Races Were Good. People are still talking about Old Home Week and everywhere one hears remarks very complimentary about it. A horse racing fan stated that during the week, the races here were the best ever held in Kingston.

Heads Peered Through Grass. Members of the congregation of St. John's church, Pittsburg, were interested, on coming out of the service on Sunday morning, to see the heads of persons peering through the long grass on the far side of the road.

How Mean! The appearance of the kilts and the pipes during one of the parades last week of the Sons of Scotland was too much for some small boys who watched them from a near-by house. "Hey, Mister," one shouted, "you dropped a nickel."

Overdoing It. Some of the "younger" generation who are sporting the new-fangled "jazz" garters are "over-doing it" and the way some of them come down Princess street in the mornings is nothing short of brazen. There's such a thing as over-doing anything.

Major F. O'Callaghan. Major F. O'Callaghan, Toronto commissioner for the Boy Scout movement, who was in Kingston for Old Home week, returned to Toronto Tuesday afternoon. Major O'Callaghan was born in Kingston fifty-five years ago. Since leaving here in 1885 he served in the Boer War and also spent some time in the west.

The Place for "Rules." T. J. Rigney's ready repartee is well known. In the Brawley trial an effort was made to measure a silk sweater, which had been seized, to see if the size corresponded with that stolen. Someone claimed they could do it if they had a ruler. "This is the place for rules," said the crown attorney.

In Fine Condition. It is stated that the roads in most parts of Ontario are now in splendid condition and American tourists are very complimentary about them. The roads in New York state are not nearly as wide as the roads in Ontario, and many Americans are pleased to travel on our nice wide highways.

Resting. He's resting at his summer place; He's up at early dawn And fixing all the drives and walks. And then he mows the lawn. But while he's painting house or fence Or pruning shrubs and trees, He wonders how he came to name His purchase "Idle-Ease."

Walter Brown, Belleville, while motoring from Marlbank, on Sunday evening, saw a bear crossing the road in front of his motorcar about one hundred feet away at a place about five miles from Chisholm's Mills. He was moderate in size and walked leisurely over the gravel. He looked at the car approaching but did not accelerate his speed and slowly disappeared in the dense woods.

Tourist Camp Equipment. Tourists having many different ways of carrying their camp equipment, a great many having a trailer attached to the back of their car. Many tourists carry their boats with them on this trailer, but something new passed through the city Wednesday morning. This tourist had erected a stand on the top of his car and was carrying a canoe on it, the stand being so erected that it did not rest on the top of the car and do any damage.

Famous Musicians. Harry N. Lewis and Claude S. Lewis, sons of the late Henry M. Lewis, Watertown, N.Y., have arrived at the home of C. E. Swartout, Rosiere, N.Y., for a short sojourn. They expect to be joined by their sister, Mrs. Edith Penn, Hall, Washington, D.C.
