

JUSTICE MASTEN CONTINUES THE INJUNCTION AS ISSUED OVER CHURCH IN PITTSBURGH

The St. John's Unionists Apply to Supreme Court in Toronto—United Church Officials' Opinion—The Position of Crown Attorney Rigney in the Case of Mr. Fee Against Mr. Lancaster.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—Mr. Justice Masten at Osgoode Hall this afternoon continued until next Thursday the injunction which restrains Rev. W. M. Fee and the Continuing Presbyterians from holding or attempting to hold, or interfering with services at St. John's Church Pittsburgh, near Kingston. The hearing was advanced one day unexpectedly, and next Thursday it will proceed before Mr. Justice Logie.

Question To Decide. Toronto, Aug. 13.—The Star says: "The whole question is whether, when a congregation votes to remain independent, the minister can be put out at the call of either presbytery, when his congregation clearly want him to remain in the way the United Church offices sum up the trouble now occurring at St. John's church at Pittsburgh, near Kingston. "The question the courts will have to decide," says the United Church offices, "is whether a congregation has the right to remain independent, and, if it has, clearly whether the Presbyterian presbytery or the United Church presbytery has anything to do with it. "There are the two cases of Jarvis and Simcoe where churches voted to remain independent and are having no trouble. It really looks as if the majority of the congregation at St. John's church at Pittsburgh

IRELAND TO IMPORT NON-UNION LABOR

Dublin, Aug. 13.—The employers in the coal trade have decided to import non-union labor and seek military protection for unloading colliers. It is hoped thus to end five weeks' deadlock which has existed in the industry through the controversy between the union headed by James Larkin and another body of workers who broke away from this union and formed their own organization.

Saves New York Lady From Drowning When She Was Bathing At Stella

Brave Act of James Sutherland, Jr., Recuperating From Attack of Pneumonia—Plunge Into Water in His Clothing.

A drowning fatality at Stella on Wednesday afternoon was narrowly averted by the presence of mind and bravery of James T. Sutherland, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Sutherland of this city, who is spending the summer at Stella, recuperating from a severe attack of pneumonia which confined him to bed nearly all last winter. The young man lost no time in getting Mrs. Hall to shore, where she was soon brought around again, and on Thursday she was reported as having recovered. The whole island is all praise for young Jim Sutherland for his bravery in rescuing Mrs. Hall, especially so under the conditions. The young man was very modest about the affair and could not see where he did anything out of the ordinary. He refused to talk about his experience.

NEXT MOVE OWNERS' SAYS MINERS' LEADER

The U.S. Union Wants Grievances in Bituminous Industry Aired Also.

Atlantic City, N.J., Aug. 13.—With but 19 days before the date set for a strike of 158,000 anthracite miners, the latter's leaders will make no further effort to avert suspension, unless the operators show a disposition to meet the workers' wage demands, John L. Lewis said yesterday. The United Mine Workers' of America, expected that if there is any government intervention their grievances in the soft coal industry would be considered as well.

URGENT JOINT MANAGEMENT

Washington, Aug. 13.—Joint management and division of profits by mine executives and workers, was suggested yesterday by the social action department of the national Catholic welfare conference, as a compromise proposal to avoid a cessation of work in the anthracite industry. A statement by the organization said that under co-operative management the miners could relinquish their demand for a 10 per cent. wage increase, and executives could grant the check-off, while the question of arbitration and political intervention also would be obviated.

MORE SEVERE TESTS ASKED BY TEACHERS

In Order to Remedy Overcrowding of the Profession. TO HOLD AN ENQUIRY INTO EXAMINATION PAPER PIECEWORK SYSTEM WHICH IS TERMED UNDIGNIFIED.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—An investigation will be made into the methods of marking examination papers throughout Canada, and the salary paid for this work. This was resolved at the convention of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, continuing today. Investigation will be carried out by means of a questionnaire. In his report of the Ontario Federation, Dr. E. A. Hardy, of Toronto, stated that the teaching profession in this province is overcrowded. The Department of Education has been asked to institute more severe tests of teachers by the Ontario Secondary Teachers' Association, and to establish more severe standards, in order to remedy this over-abundance. The protest against the piecework system of marking examination papers, as in force in Saskatchewan, was made by Dr. E. A. Hardy, president of the Toronto Teachers' Council, and the Ontario Secondary Schools Association. He feared this system would spread to other provinces, in an attempt at economy, and teachers thought it might lead to careless marking by teachers hustling with papers to earn more money. This piecework method of paying teachers for marking the papers, which Dr. Hardy characterized among other things as undignified, had commenced in Western Canada, it was explained by G. J. Elliott of Winnipeg, secretary of the federation. On the grounds of economy it had spread from Manitoba to Saskatchewan. The discussion and consequent resolution to investigate the question arose from the report of the Saskatchewan provincial organization, presented by Max Bellard. Reporting for Ontario, Dr. Hardy announced that the Ontario teachers' membership had increased by 231 to 1948 members. He said there had been little trouble over salaries in this province this year. Dr. Hardy said, however, that the Ontario organization's troubles had been in safeguarding the dignity or status of the profession with school boards which dismissed teachers without proper notice.

Local information has it that Mr. Baldwin will come this fall, and the date of his visit will be known within a few weeks.

INSURANCE MEN WARN PRIVATE OWNERS WHO CHARGE FARES

Toronto, Aug. 13.—Commenting on the fact that some motorists regularly making week-end trips have been in the habit of taking on one or two passengers "to fill up the car," and charging a moderate fee for the same, underwriters here are pointing out that such a practice voids indemnity insurance and renders owners of passenger cars "liable for their own damages in case of accident."

RAJAL HARI SINGH ATTRACTS ATTENTION

The Famous Mr. "A" Amuses Himself With Polo and Dancing. Gulmarg, Kashmir, Aug. 13.—Rajah Sir Hari Singh, heir to the throne of Jammu and Kashmir, and more famous outside India as the mysterious "Mr. A," victim of the $300,000 blackmail case which stirred England last fall, has taken up his summer residence here, 30 miles west of Srinagar. His visit is attracting special interest among the large European summer colony here because of the poor health of his father, the Maharajah of Jammu and Kashmir, which makes it possible that Sir Hari Singh will succeed to the throne shortly. The Rajah is amusing himself with polo and dancing. Since his wife is in strict "purdah," the occasion in which Indian women of high caste live, he has had a private dance room built adjoining his dining room at the hotel, so he and his wife can dance unseen by guests in the main ball room. The Rajah is still limping from an accident suffered while tobogganing last year. He spent the first part of this year big game shooting in Central India.

POLAND TO STOP EXPULSIONS

Berlin, Aug. 13.—The government declares that, contrary to the official memorandum of Poland, the majority of the Germans in Poland who voted for German nationality, namely, 17,000 out of 20,000 have left Poland, whereas 11,000 out of 15,000 Poles who chose Polish nationality still remain in Germany. It is again proposed by the government that each country refrain from expelling the citizens of the other country who are due to leave on November 1st, 1925, and July 1st, 1926. It declares that responsibility for any forcible measures which may be taken will fall on Poland.
