Third Game of Junior Playoff to Be Played at Brockville Saturday.

Kingston Circle-Six evened the series with the Ottawa East junior team in the junior O.B.A.A. playoffs on Wednesday evening before the largest crowd that has seen a junior. game this season in the city, by defeating the visitors by the score of 13-6. The class of ball was far from championship calibre, and, to say the least, was quite disappointing to the majority of fans, who had turned out with the expectations of seeing whirlwind junior ball in a nip and tuck race all the way. The result was never in doubt after the third inning and the Circle-Six could be called winners long before the final inning.

Inexcusable errors by Ottawa East spoiled what might have been a good game and Rheaume in centre garden let go of two easy flies. One of his errors cost his team two runs against them for had he caught the ball, the side would have been retired. Freil, playing short for Ottawa East also contributed two to the error column, letting a couple of easy ground balls get away from Circle-Six on the other hand had four errors, Hewitt Smith being the cause of three. All his errors were the result of bad throws, one over second, one away from third and one at the home plate from behind. Howard Reid contributed the other one on a bad throw also.

Neither team played up to championship form and the Ottawa team did not have the least semblance of "pep" to their game and there was something wrong some place as reports from Ottawa state that the team played snappy ball in Ottawa but in their third meeting on Saturday at Brockville where they will play off to go on or quit, one or the other, there is bound to be some fast baseball served up and it is expected that there will be a big crowd on hand including many from Ottawa and Kingston.

Ottawa East used two pitchers against the Circle-Six in yesterday's game. Harris started on the mound but with none out in the sixth after three safe hits had been gathered off his delivery, one of which was a twobagger, he was withdrawn and Schroeber was sent in from right field to do the pitching work while Harris went to right field. The team tightened up a little bit but bac errors in the fifth and sixth innings especially robbed the game of much of the dash that had been expected

However, the teams were not playing their best ball. The Circle-Six after swinging wildly at everything that was sent near the plate in the opening chapters, settled away and did more profitable hitting. They sedired twelve safe blows from the Ottawa pitchers, one of which was a plural clout by Hartley. Smith, on the other hand, allowed only seven

Circle-Six threw the visitors into confusion when Buck started things going in the fourth inning and it seemed as though the works was broken up in the Ottawa East ranks. They did not have confidence in themselves and as a result, the Circle-Six had the big jump. Ottawa staged a rally in the ninth inning and secured three runs and threatened to score more but the locals tightened up and kept the wolfe from the Buffalo 11, Jersey City 1. (Seven near future is one between Harry Greb, the middleweight champ, and young Stribling of Atlanta, Ga., who has heavyweight championship aspirations. Pa Stribling, the boy's manager, has evaded the matchmaker's overtures so far, but it is too good a match from both an artistic and financial standpoint for him to duck very long, and it's only a question of time until they are tossed into the same ring. How equal they shape up physically can be seen in the above chart.

FROM THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

A big delegation is expected to go to Brockville on Saturday to see the third and deciding game between the Ottawa East team and the Circle-Six. It is thought that Saturday's battle will be an honest-to-goodness race from start to finish.

When the Hamilton Hockey Club officials refused, at the close of last season, to give the players who won the National League championship for them the demanded bonus, they heaped up trouble for themselves in greater quantity than they ever anticipated It is history now that the players refuse to compete in the play-offs or to play for the Hamilton Club again. Recently it was announced that the club was for sale, and now, according to the Montreal Star, the players are blocking what looked like a nearly closed deal with the New York interests by demanding half the purchase price before playing for the new owners. Those who criticized the Hamilton management for failing to pay the bonus last season see in this latest stand of the players the boomerang of the club's refusal.

The local seniors offered no excuses or alibis when they returned from Belleville last evening after having lost in Belleville in the afternoon by the score of 6-5. Local players stated that Belleville played good ball and won it on their play.

With the dates for the Central Ontario League play-offs announced, the local baseball fans are making their arrangements to make the trip to Peterboro on the 22nd of the month. There will be a strong representation of Kingston fans in Peterboro on that day.

The Ottawa team came here yesterday and went back to Ottawa in a beautiful big motor bus for the sum of $50. That may mean something to some people.

Many football critics were interested in the letter from a veteran football fan, printed in the Globs recently. The absence of backfield runs of other days is not difficult to explain Under the twelve-man system it would be disastrous in most cases to use three or four men on the rear guard although in most cases quarterbacks who are at all alive to the situations that arise will call for a punt and go through with the play when three men fall back for the catch and only a yard or two is needed. Another reason is that tacklers have improved. They go down the field more systematically than they used to in the old days. A rare pugilistic dish which is It would require too much space to explain all the angles to this situr promised the box fight fans in the ation, but in passing it might be pointed out that the great plunging ability of "Red" McKelvey made it possible for Queen's University to use him as a threat, and thus get away with the Leadley-Batstone end runs that thrilled Intercollegiate Union fans .- Toronto Globe.
