LACK OF PROPER FOOD IS AN AID TO DISEASE GERMS

BY DR. HUGH S. CUMMING lurgeon General, United States Publi-Health Service

In very early times it was observed that tuberculosis was more apt to occur at certain ages and under certain conditions of living. Hippocrates, the fa- TWO GOLD RINGS-And brooch found tires. ther of medicine, noted that it was most frequent between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five. It is common knowledge now among physicians that any cause which weakens the individual lessens his resistance and predisposes to tuberculosis. A powerful physique is not necessarily a safeguard. There is a growing conviction that infection in tuberculosis usually occurs in childhood. The younger the child and the more intimate the contact and the more prolonged the exposure the greater is the danger. It is estimated that about 10 per cent of all deaths among children under fifteen years of age are due to tuberculosis in some form. The relation of early infection to tuberculosis in later life is important. It is believed that most people are infeeted before the age of sixteen. Between the ages of twenty and forty
