School-time Is Dress-up time

When the first school bell rings, I want to be ready with a new Suit of Clothes, and I mean to see that this new Suit will be the best Suit I've ever owned. It must be the last word in style-it must be good material and nice pattern—that combines classroom boks with recess yard durability—it must be tailored in a way that will keep it looking spic and span-and for Dad's and Mother's sake it mustn't cost too much-and that's the kind of a Suit I want and I am going to get it at
