AUTHORIZED TRANSFER DEED OF PROPERTY

Dye and Chemical Company Has Fulfilled All Conditions in Agreement With City.

On the recommendation of the Industries Committee, the City Council, at a special session held on Tuesday night, authorized the transfer of the deed of the property to the Dye and Chemical Company of Canada, Ltd., the company having fulfilled all the conditions as required in the agreement between the city and the company.

After some discussion, the council voted down the recommendation of the Health Committee, asking that the property committee set aside a portion of the old Murdoch farm, along with the old stone building, for a new incinerator plant. It was the general opinion of the council that the time had not yet arrived for the erection of a new plant.

On the recommendation of the finance committee, the sum of $468 was voted to the P.W.O.R. fund, for the series of concerts given in the city parks during the summer.

Council Received Report.

The council received the following letter, signed by City Engineer Dick, City Treasurer Bartels and City Auditor Muir, in regard to the Dye and Chemical Company of Canada, Ltd.:

"Under By-law No. 41, passed December 13th, 1923, confirming an agreement between the corporation and Dr. F. W. Atack, the company which he was to form, was to spend within two years, at least, $50,000, in erecting factories, docks, sewers and railway siding or sidings suitable for the purpose of the business on land to be conveyed by the corporation. The company is now called the Dye and Chemical Company of Canada, Ltd. The company is to install plant and equipment suitable for the purposes of the business and to spend $25,000 within one year and extended time and the balance within two years and extended time. Under Report No. 60, adopted by council on October 13th, 1924, the company was granted an extension of one month for construction work in 1924.

"Attached herewith statement verified by statutory declaration of the President that $50,000 has been spent in accordance with the agreement. On August 21st last the undersigned examined the books of the company and found that up to June 30th, 1925 the following had been spent: On buildings, $56,599.05; on plant, $38,437.08. Since June 30th, there has been paid on account of building, $7,506.17, which will make the total $102,542.30. The above amounts do not include organization and financing expenses, office furniture, laboratory equipment and tools, these being kept under separate headings. This will show that the company has fulfilled this part of their agreement.

In addition to examining the company's books, we verified the amount paid to the local contractor by examining their record of receipts. There has been paid to the contractor $53,300.22 and we were assured by this firm that at least $50,000 of this amount was on their contract for buildings.

"While at the plant we made an inspection of the buildings and plant and everything appeared to be in good order and in operation. We were shown the different products of the plant.

"The company is also required under the agreement to have a stock subscription list of a par value of not less than $150,000 of which not less than $100,000 has been paid thereon, and to verify same by a statutory declaration of the president or secretary, accompanied by a certificate of a chartered accountant. There is also attached, under date of September 4th, the necessary declaration and certificate stating that stock of the company of the par value of $150,000 has been subscribed and that more than $100,000 has been paid thereon. It was not necessary, under the agreement, to examine this part of the record, but the privilege was given us and we found that up to August 21st, last $105,000 has been paid up.

"The above will show that the company has complied with the requirements of clauses seven and eight of the agreement."

Following the reading of the above letter, City Clerk Dr. W. W. Sands also read the various declarations pertaining to the statements involved, after which Ald. Craig moved, seconded by Ald. Shea, that the deed of the land be conveyed to the company, and the motion was carried by a unanimous vote.

Dr. Atack's Remarks.

Following the passing of the motion, Dr. F. W. Atack, president of the company addressed the council. He stated that on Friday last the first home meeting had been held of the directors. This was the first time the directors had gathered at the Kingston office. He spoke of the activities of the company, stating that the best possible men had been selected as chemists, salesmen and engineers with excellent workmen. The plant had been put on a working basis. Naturally, it was not making large profits as yet. This would go without saying, as it would take three or four months before they could cut even. The products being shipped out included colors not competed with in the dominion, and not imported, and at the same time complying with the laws of the dominion. The food colors provided an interesting product, while carbolic acid was being turned out in the first plant in this country. Several other interesting things were coming up, two of which would require the speaker to visit England in a week's time. "You will find that the company is quite alive and also find that we are here to stay," said Dr. Atack.

Dr. Atack also referred to the fact that the company had the sum of $150,000 subscribed, and that it would be of interest to note that there were more than ten millionaires interested, showing that the company had back of it a large number of the wealthy people in Canada.

Dr. Atack stated that he was the largest stockholder at the present time. Stock was paid for in cash at par. Every stockholder was treated in the same manner.

"And we have made every possible effort to spend our money here," added Dr. Atack. "You were good to me when I first came to your city, and Dr. Sands suggested an excellent site. In return for all this, we want to see as much money as is possible, spent in Kingston. Out of the $150,000, something over $100,000 has been actually spent in Kingston. It might reach $120,000. Contractors were secured here and they did good work."

Mayor Angrove presided at the meeting, and also present were Aids, Boyd, Chown, Craig, Driscoll, Dunphy, Holder, Joyce, Kidd, Kent, Laturney, McCartney, Nash, Peters, Reid and Shea.

"TEN COMMANDMENTS" AT CAPITOL THEATRE

The Story of This Remarkable Film to Be Shown Here.

Egypt. The day of the glory of the Pharaohs. Such majesty and power and corrosive magnificence as exist only in those periods of history when one small class lives upon and is heedless of the blood and tears of tens of thousands of people held in subjection.

The Children of Israel in bondage. Bereft of hope they toil in the desert, building walls and temples and pyramids. Faithful to their God despite the vindictive oppression of a ruler and a people who worship graven images, they finally see hope when Moses is raised up to plead for their liberation from slavery.

But in the night the angels of the Most High visit the plague upon Egypt, and when, the next morning, Pharaoh holds his first-born dead in his arms, and hears the wailing of the mothers and fathers of his Jews, he orders the liberation of Israel forth from the gates of the city of their captivity. By the thousands they stream forth—men and women and children. Most of them are afoot, but here and there one rides an ass or a camel, and some of the aged and infirm are in litters. With them they take their goods and chattels, their cattle and their sheep and their goats.

Then Pharaoh suffers a change of heart, and orders his war chariots to start in pursuit of the Jews. The Children of Israel are at the Red Sea and those who are wavering in their faith revile Moses, the leader. Death or captivity seem inevitable, but Moses prays, and then the Lord sends a pillar of fire to stop the charge of the Egyptians and at the same time divides the waters of the sea so that His Chosen People pass in safety and dry-shod to the other shore.

The war chariots start in pursuit but the waters close over their heads. The exaltation of the prophet soon passes, for he finds that during his absence his people have set up a golden calf and worshipped it. Even his sister, Miriam, has been guilty of abominations. Then Moses, the lawgiver, descends from the mountains and crashes his tablets of stone into the scene of idolatrous worship and licentious revelry. The golden calf is destroyed and turned to dust.

A primly dressed mother sits at a table in a modern room. She is reading from the Bible to her two sons. One son, Dan, is bored and cynical. The other son, John, is tolerant and more than half impressed; at any rate, he is deferential to his mother.

"That's bunk," says Dan. He intimates that the Ten Commandments may have been all right for the dead ones, but that the world has changed. The deeply religious mother, a Scotch-American woman who believes in the letter and fails to catch the spirit of religion, is affronted. She turns her son out of her home because he says he does not believe in God. Dan apologises to his mother, but refuses to apologise to God because he does not believe in God.

The mother is relentless. She is warned by her good son that she is using the cross for a scourge, but will not relent. Later she does let Dan return, but the next Sunday she starts to leave home, Bible under her arm, because this sceptical son and his sweetheart are dancing on the Lord's Day.

The upshot of it is that Dan and Mary, both unbelievers, leave the house. They will defy the commandments together, they say and Dan's parting taunt to John is to the effect that he, Dan, will break the laws of Moses and wax rich and have the world at his feet, whereas the stay-at-home boy, if he lives up to the Ten Commandments will finish just where he began—as a carpenter.

In the second part the film takes up the lives of these four people three years later. Climaxes of thrilling power are reached and in the end the Eternal Law is vindicated. "The Ten Commandments" will be the attraction at the Capitol for three days starting Thursday, Sept. 17th.

PRAISE FOR BRITTON.

Balmy Beach Star Has the Goods and Should Make the Grade.

The Toronto Globe Says: "It has been known locally for some time that 'Bubs' Britton was planning to enter Queen's University. He assured the Argonauts that in case he decided not to join the Trio-color he would line up with the Oarsmen. Argonauts were, therefore, counting heavily on his services. Britton, is not a sensational player of the Leadley-Conacher school. He is more conservative and more steady. He can drop kick with the best of them, is a good tackler, an extraordinary line plunger, and a sure catch.

"Queen's never had such an array of fine talent as they have this season. There appears to be no reason why they should not retain their Canadian title. There is certainly no lack of the best material. Britain may succeed in securing a regular berth, but he will have to beat out 'Gib' McKelvey, Carl Voss or 'Pee-wee' Chantler, and these players are all stars. However, if he makes the grade, he will take his place in the sun at the Eastern institution. Britton has the goods."
