Blue-jay is the delightful way to end a corn. A tiny cushion, cool as velvet, fits over the corn—relieving the pressure. The pain stops at once. Soon the corn goes. Blue-jay leaves nothing to guess-work. You do not have to decide how much or how little to put on. Each downy plaster is a complete standardized treatment, with just the right amount of the magic medication to end the corn.

The dainty woman does not KEEP Corns

Almost every woman spends hours every week in the care of her face—cold-creaming it, cleansing it, massaging it, to guard against the tiniest blemish. . . . But that doesn't prove her daintiness. It merely indicates pride and vanity. . . . The real proof of perfect daintiness is the care a woman takes of the things that are not seen. . . . A blemish on her foot is as objectionable to her as one on her face. The moment a corn appears, she applies a Blue-jay. At once the pain goes, in 48 hours the corn goes too.

Mrs. W. T. Minnes, "Hillcroft," was the hostess of a pleasant tea on Tuesday afternoon for Miss Mary Taylor and Miss Norah Minnes, two September brides. The table was lovely with pink snapdragon, small, feathery michealmas, daisies, in a pale shade of mauve and pink asters. Pink candles in silver sticks were an effective lighting. Coffee was poured by Mrs. J. K. Robertson, Mrs. Gordon Anderson, Montreal, made tea, and Mrs. W. G. Minnes cut the loaves. A bright fire blazed in the drawingroom, and some of the flowers from the "Hillcroft" gardens decorated the room.

WEDDINGS.

Silverthorn-Reid.
 A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, when Dr. Victoria Reid, well-known medical practitioner of 385 Broadview avenue, Toronto, became the bride of Dr. Gibson Silverthorn, 34 North Sherbourne street.

The ceremony was of a strictly private nature. Both are graduates in medicine from the University of Toronto and stand high in the esteem and respect of their medical colleagues.

Dr. Silverthorn is on the surgical staff of St. Michael's hospital. During the war Dr. Reid was for several months attached to a hospital in England.

Dr. Reid is a daughter of the late W. H. Reid, Kingston, and a sister of Mrs. S. S. Corbett, and Mrs. Alexander Newlands, Victoria street.

Some of the Exhibits At Kingston Fair

Women will find many things to interest them at the Kingston Industrial Exhibition which is in some ways better than usual. The needlework of all kinds is exceedingly attractive, most of it is new and fresh, evidently done since last year. The fine French embroidery reflects credit on the exhibitor and there are some very handsome diningroom linens, colored linen tablecloths, etc., and a fine display of embroidered towels. Several of the luncheon sets are beautiful pieces of work. Knitting and crochet work is here to be admired and the homely quilt is not forgotten but is much less in evidence than formerly. Rugs are always interesting, and some fine ones are found among the exhibits. Wax flowers are on a stand by themselves and the sweet peas and daffodils are particularly good.

Mr. George Lawes exhibits a special piece of work. It is a Union Jack and shield with "Kingston Industrial Exhibition" in Canadian postage stamps. The stamps are, many of them quite old and the ingenuity with which they are put together makes them doubly interesting.

The art exhibit was not in place on Tuesday evening, but promised well and several good pieces of china painting were ready to be judged. A walk through the building showed the visitors other interesting exhibits. The Northern Ontario Exhibit is in the centre this year and is artistically arranged and is always a fascinating place. Furs and furniture, silk stockings and frocks, flowers and vegetables have each an attraction of their own.

Rockwood Hospital Exhibit.
 Stopping before a bright and well-arranged section where big ferns were in fern baskets of basketry, and wicker lamp stands had lamp shades of colored silk, one was told that the many articles displayed here were from Rockwood Hospital and were the work of the occupational therapy classes arranged for the patients. The lady in charge, who teaches the mentally-afflicted, various kinds of work was justly proud of their interest and success. A beautiful bed spread, inset with crochet work, fully ten inches wide, another spread of applique, crochet yokes of cobweb fineness; a set of linen beautifully embroidered and hemstitched by a patient who had never learned to sew until she was ill; baskets of raffia neatly and firmly made, one by a woman patient who never opens her eyes, tables and fern stands in wicker work made by the men patients, and warm, beautifully knitted sweaters and socks, with never a false stitch, were the work of the Rockwood patients. These articles are, for the most part not for sale. They are used in the institution, the sweaters and the socks for warmth and the other articles in some part of the building.

The canned fruit, pickles, etc., and the home cooking is attractively arranged and above it are some good apples. Butter and other products of the farm kitchen are also in this section and are viewed with interest.

Liberal Women Meet.
 The Women's Liberal Association met on Tuesday afternoon to make arrangements of the opening of their rooms in the Ontario Chambers on the corner of King and Clarence streets. Miss Mary Andrews was appointed secretary for the association. Mrs. R. J. Diack, the president of the Kingston Liberal Women's Association, presided and much enthusiasm was shown. The women and men will meet next week when a candidate will be chosen.

Engagement Announced.
 Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Whattam, Picton, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Beulah Grace, to Jefferson A. McIntyre, Louisville, Ky., and New York City, son of Mrs. Emma E. McIntyre, Louisville, Ky. The marriage will take place the latter part of September.

Bon Ami
 Cleans nickel, brass and copper ware without scratching!

Principal uses of Bon Ami—for cleaning and polishing
 Aluminium Ware Windows
 Bathrooms, Tiling Mirrors
 Fine Kitchen Utensils Refrigerators
 White Woodwork White Shoes
 Brass, Copper and The Hands
 Nickel Ware Linoleum and Glass Baking Dishes Conspium

Cake or Powder whichever you prefer

Scratches—even tiny ones—catch the dirt and make the brass, nickel or copper ware harder to clean next time. Bon Ami absorbs all the grime and tarnish, and polishes to a glistening lustre without the slightest scratching.

Just sprinkle the fine powder or rub the Bon Ami Cake on a damp cloth. (Never use the cake direct.) Then apply the soft lather. When the lather dries, a few rubs with a clean, dry cloth will instantly bring back the mirror-like sheen.

Bon Ami cleans and polishes dozens of things about the house with the same wonderful ease. Note the list above. And Bon Ami never reddens or roughens your hands.
