Mrs. W. J. Logue, Johnson street, opened her home on Tuesday evening for a bridge in aid of the funds of the C.W.L., which was both pleasant and successful. Thirteen tables were in play and the winner of the ladies' prize was Miss Agnes Morton. The men's prize was won by Mr. C. J. Lavole. During the evening music was enjoyed by the guests, Mrs. Bugge playing delightfully and accompanying Mrs. J. L. Jerome, who sang with her usual sweetness and expression. The entrance fee was taken by Mrs. T. S. O'Connor and the guests were received by Mrs. Logue and Miss Agnes Doolan. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. M. Ainslie, Mrs. F. Briceland, Mrs. W. G. Bailey, Mrs. M. Bohan, Mrs. A. Carey, Mrs. C. J. Corrigan, Mrs. F. A. Pilley and Mrs. W. D. Sughrue.

One of the social events of the year in Quebec is set for Thursday afternoon at the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, when Miss Phyllis Burstall, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burstall, of this city, becomes the bride of Captain the Hon. F. W. Erskine, former A.D.C. to His Excellency the Governor-General, now resident in Montreal, and son of the Earl and Countess of Mar and Kellie, of England, who will be present at the ceremony.

The ceremony is set for 2.30 o'clock and His Lordship Bishop Williams, of Quebec, who is a great friend of the bride's family, will tie the nuptial knot.

One thousand invitations have been sent out for the wedding, and admission to the historic old church will be only by invitation.

WEDDINGS.

Salisbury-Parsons.

A pretty wedding took place on Tuesday morning at the First Baptist church, when Miss Naomi Constance, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Salisbury, 157 Pine street, and Mr. George Parsons, Montreal, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. D. Laing.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," played by S. A. Salisbury, uncle of the bride, and was unattended.

She looked charming in an ensemble suit of navy blue, and taupe, with a fox fur, and pearly velvet hat. She wore the groom's gift, a beautiful pearl necklace, and corsage bouquet of roses, lilies-of-the-valley, and maiden hair fern.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. N. Stanton, Jr., aunt of the bride, sang, "O Promise Me."

The church was prettily decorated by the girl friends of the bride. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The house was decorated with a profusion of pink and white asters. The bride's table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake. The bride is very popular in the city and surrounding district as the numerous beautiful gifts testified.

The groom is well known in Kingston, being a graduate of Queen's Science, '23, and at present holds a position with the Bell Telephone Co. at the Montreal office. The groom's gift to the organist was a Duofold pen and pencil; to the soloist, he gave a gold bar pin.

Among those present were the father and mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Parsons, Arnprior.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons left on the afternoon train for Toronto, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, and later will visit Ottawa and Arnprior.

They will take up their residence in Montreal. Their many Kingston friends will wish them many years of happiness and prosperity.

AUNT HET

"Take prescriptions" to Gibson's. Why shouldn't there be a low-brow literature? If an infant can't eat meat, must it starve?

The Editor Hears

That flowers that are to be taken into the house should not be left out until the frost touches them. It is really best to take them in early and set them out on the mild days. This will, in a measure, prevent their leaves dropping off and give them the fresh air as long as possible.

That flowers made of jewels are the vogue in London at present. Lady Louisa Mountbatten has an orchid fashioned from hundreds of tiny amethysts, beautifully graded in various "waters." "Wonderful!" everybody exclaimed, though God's own flower looks just as nice and not so expensive.

That motorists passing along the country roads have many beauties brought before them at this time of year. The deep woods are still green but here and there Jack Frost has lightly touched a maple and the sumach on the hillside holds forth a blood red finger for all the world to see what the cold north wind has done to her. But still at the roadside the Michaelmas daisies are making a brave showing and the late goldenrod adds gold to their purple in the autumn color scheme. In the fence corner a hawthorn shows scarlet fruit and passing a piece of low ground near some woods the lover of nature's beauties exclaims at the bright red berries of the Canadian holly. The corn is still in stocks and against the brown of a buckwheat field the crimson stalks of buckwheat glow in the small stalks ready to be carried into the barn. The pastures are green from the recent rains and the afternoon shadows fall upon them from the trees by the roadside. The country is not only lovely in spring and summer, the cycle of the seasons come with gifts of beauty for those who have eyes to see.

That the C.P.R. station at Glenvale has this summer been admired by many travellers. Bright geraniums are in front and at one side a great granite rock has been made into a garden. It sounds strange but it is true. From the top cosmos are still blooming and at the base sinias in glowing colors are now at their best. Vines are in some mysterious manner induced to grow over the pink granite and the whole effect is delightful.

She doctored a headache—but a Corn was to blame

A corn isn't just a local pain. The tiny nerves beneath it are on the "main trunk line," linked with all the nerve centers of the system. . . . Doctors know that a tiny lump of callus on the toe—no bigger than a match-head—may make one feel nearly all over. Indigestion, a headache, depressed spirits generally, are often corn-reflexes. . . . And Blue-jay makes a corn so needless! A cushiony pad—as cool as velvet—fits over the corn, stopping the pain in five seconds. You wear this two days in blissful comfort. When you take it off, the corn retires too, gently uprooted by the little brown disc of magick medication within the pad. . . . So dainty, so neat, so quick and sure. Science's final answer to the pain and nuisance of corns. For health's sake, end these corns tonight.

Cleaning windows loses its drudgery when you use Bon Ami

Just apply a thin lather of Bon Ami with a damp cloth. Wait until the white film dries. Then whisk it off with a dry cloth. Not a streak, smear or fingerprint remains! The window is so clear you have to poke it to make sure it's still there! A window a minute is an average record with Bon Ami.

And this housewife's "good friend" is just as wonderful a cleaner for a host of other things. And no matter how much you use Bon Ami, it never roughens your hands.
