The first entertainment of the chain that is to take the place of the annual sale held by the Church Women's Aid of St. George's cathedral took the form of a luncheon given on Thursday at "The Warden's Residence," Portsmouth, when Mrs. J. C. Ponsford was the hostess. The luncheon table in the big dining-room where a fire burned cheerily, was centred with a bowl of scarlet and white cosmos carrying out St. George's colors and several vases holding a single rose from the greenhouse were a further adornment. After the luncheon, a short business meeting was held, when the arrangements for the chain were explained. Each of the guests present will entertain eight people who will contribute fifty cents a piece to the funds and each of the eight at these parties will entertain four members of the cathedral parish who in turn will give fifty cents a piece and promise to entertain two more. Those present were Mrs. E. J. B. Pense, Mrs. G. A. Robinson, Mrs. W. J. B. White, Mrs. W. E. Kidd, Mrs. Charles Constantine, Mrs. E. A. Rees, Mrs. Henry Wilkinson, Mrs. John Carson, Mrs. R. E. Burns, Mrs. Horace Lawson, Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. W. A. Sawyer, Mrs. W. A. Rogers, Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, Miss Edith Ritchie and Miss Goin.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church, Cataract, met at the rectory on Thursday afternoon and were addressed on the subject of the W.A. Forward Movement by Mrs. H. P. Lowe, Kingston, secretary of literature on the diocesan board, and Miss Lewis, the treasurer of the diocesan board, on "The Pledges." Canon Austin Smith introduced the speakers to the large audience, amongst whom were several ladies of the W.M.S. of the United Church, who are interested in missions. Mrs. Austin Smith provided tea at the close of the meeting, when it was poured by Mrs. A. S. Evans, Kingston, and Miss Clark, Cataract, assisted by Mrs. Ribbons and Mrs. Harold Simpson. Miss Elsie Riley took up the offering. Canon Smith motioned the visitors back to Kingston.

On Thursday afternoon a number of people motored to Glenburnie and were the guests of Miss Harriet Vair, who entertained at the tea hour in the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Vair. Bright fires burned in the open fireplaces and were indeed a welcome sight. Roses were in the long drawingroom, where the hostesses received, and in the diningroom the effectively arranged tea table was centred with pink and white carnations. Here Mrs. W. M. Nickie poured tea, Mrs. W. Harold Harrington coffee, and Mrs. Rupert Day cut the ice. The tea was a large one and was most enjoyable.

The Misses Ishbel and Lydia Whelan, Ottawa, entertained at a boudoir shower in honor of Miss Marjorie Henderson, whose marriage takes place this month. Rose and blue decorations were used throughout. The gifts were presented in a black travelling hat box lined with rose and blue. While the presentation was being made, Miss Marion Ingersoll played the Wedding March. A silver basket of pink roses adorned the tea table which was brightened with blue candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Low, Hamilton, formerly of Kingston, entertained at four tables of bridge last evening in honor of Miss Isobel Moncur and Reginald Sheppard, whose wedding takes place shortly.

That some people have seen poor little kittens vainly trying to get warm by hiding in the damp grass at the roadside. If these little cats have owners, why do they leave them out on the cold nights? If they do not want them, why do they not get in touch with the Kingston Humane Society and have them painlessly done away with? Carelessness and selfishness are at the root of most of the cruelty one sees. One wonders if some of these people realize that to be careless and indifferent usually means that those in whom these characteristics are found are stupid as well.

That a Cleveland, Ohio, paper attributes the many motor accidents that happen while men are driving their cars down town in the morning to the depressed frame of mind in which they leave home after a breakfast of soggy toast and cold coffee served by a wife in anything but a good temper. This it is said was the finding of the Cleveland Safety Council at the National Safety Congress. Isn't this just like the men to try and put the blame on the women? They may have "Safety Councils" and be up-to-date, but the spirit of Adam is there just the same.

That this is the season of the year when an open fire particularly appeals to one. And yet how few homes have this luxury. And after all it is a comfort that costs but little, especially in the country, where there is always enough waste wood to supply the fire. A blazing fire is the centre of a room, it is as good as a cheerful companion if you are alone and it does more than its share towards the entertainment of your guests. To enter a room on a dull afternoon when the cold wind has seemed to blow through your clothing and to find a bright fire, a welcome and a cup of tea, is worth a great deal to most of us.

That a Kingston lady bought two boxes of ripe red raspberries on the market on Thursday, Oct. 8th. And yet we seem to have had a cold, sunless autumn!

WEDDINGS

Budgeon-White. A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. White, River street, Parry Sound, when their eldest daughter, Leona May, was married to Mr. Benjamin H. Budgeon, B.Sc., a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Budgeon, Toronto. The Rev. William Miller, of the Baptist Church, officiated.

Miss Adeline White played the wedding march and Miss Dorothea McDonald and Mr. Charles White assisted the young couple. The bride was attired in a beautiful French gown of rose georgette with diamond trimming, and carried an arm bouquet of sunset roses. The bridesmaid wore an almond green crepe frock trimmed with mink.

After a dainty wedding breakfast, the happy couple left to spend a week of their honeymoon at the island home of an old friend in Georgian Bay, after which they will visit Toronto before taking up their residence in Schumacher, Ont., where the groom is on the staff of engineers at the McIntyre mine.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Budgeon and son Allan, Toronto, were among the out-of-town guests present.

Cochrane-Eadie. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, Grosvenor avenue, Montreal, on Wednesday evening, of Helen Winnifred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Eadie, to Dr. William John Cochrane, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane, Victoria, B.C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Clark, D.D. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a draped gown of ivory tulle with a court train of ivory satin, lined with shell pink and embroidered in silver. Her tulle veil was adorned with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet. The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Alice Eadie, and the best man, Dr. Edward Tremble. Mr. James B. Cochrane, Kingston, an uncle of the groom, was among the guests. Dr. and Mrs. Cochrane will spend their honeymoon in New York, and afterwards leave for their home in Newfoundland.

Garey-Pringle. The United Church, Arden, Ont., beautiful with autumn foliage, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, Oct. 8th, when Helen Trew Crozier, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wesley Pringle, was united in marriage to Walter Carney Garey, B.A., L.L.B., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Garey, of Elmira Heights, N. Y. Rev. H. E. Frair, pastor of the church, officiated. Mrs. Barr, the church organist, played softly while the guests were taking their places, and as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, rang out joyfully.

The young bride looked a picture of girlish loveliness in her simply draped wedding gown of white French silk crepe, her tulle veil was arranged in early English bonnet effect, with wreath and clusters of orange blossoms. She carried an armful of sweetheart roses, and wore the gift of the groom, a platinum pin set with diamonds, and sapphires. Miss Dell Pringle, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a gown of cream brocaded crepe over pink satin, with large picture hat in rose, and carried sunset roses. Little Miss Hildgarde Halliwell, daughter of Dr. Halliwell, made a dainty little flower girl, all in white, her dress covered with clusters of blue forget-me-nots. She wore a wreath of the same, and carried a basket filled with flowers, and tied with white satin ribbon from which hung showers of forget-me-nots. The best man was Mr. Fred Pringle, Montreal, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Dr. Paul Halliwell and Mr. J. A. Pringle, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Frair sang with much sweetness, "All Joy Be Thine," and as the bridal party came from the vestry, Mendelssohn's wedding march rang out from the organ, with its message of hope for a happy future.

The guests proceeded to the home of the bride, where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Garey, and Mr. and Mrs. Pringle, the latter wearing a gown of black satin trimmed with chantilly lace, a black velvet hat and corsage bouquet of red roses. After ed, dressed as some of Mother Goose's children, while the older ones represented some country. The costumes were exceedingly good. Little Doreen Snider and Jean Good-fellow, aged four and five respectively made a decided hit when they brought up the rear in a sunflower drill and comments were made as to how well the little tots did when they went through without a mistake. Perhaps the youngest one to enter the sports was little Jean Homes who appeared on the platform as Queen of Hearts. Although she is but two and a half years of age she also entered the original turnout competition and showed a real home-made kiddie car.

After the business part of the evening was terminated, refreshments were served by the committee in charge and the meeting was adjourned. Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. G. R. Homes, Wagarville, where plans will be developed regarding making the winter months both interesting and profitable.

The bride slipped away to change to her travelling costume, and the guests proceeded to the station, where they welcomed the bridal couple with showers of rice and confetti. It seemed as if the whole village and vicinity assembled to speed the popular young bride and the man of her choice on their honeymoon, which will be spent in Montreal, Quebec, New York and Atlantic City, before settling in Elmira, N.Y.

The bride travelled in a smartly tailored suit of navy charmeuse, white georgette blouse, navy and white hat, and wore a beautiful white fur scarf, a gift from her sister, Mrs. Matheson, in China, as was also the white fur cloak worn by the bride going to and from the church.

Miss Marion Peterson, Toronto, caught the bouquet which the bride threw as she entered the train. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid, was a French gold mesh bag; to the organist and soloist, white gold pearls; to the little flower girl, a pearl ring, and to the best man, a pair of gold cuff links. The ushers also received suitable gifts. The bride received many beautiful presents, among them a cheque from the bride's parents.

PARHAM. The September meeting of Parham Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Homes with a goodly number of members in attendance. After the roll call by the secretary, a short musical programme was put on by the Misses Elsie and Lucile Bertram, Miss Mildred Homes and Miss Florence Homes. Following this a financial statement was made out upon receiving the reports of the various committees in connection with Parham Fair. The members were delighted to find the Institute came out with a balance of twenty-five dollars after paying out generous prizes for the kiddie sports.

Everyone was unanimous in voicing that the Institute had once again been the means of making our fair bigger and better than ever. The women were ably assisted by the sports committee of the fair and a spacious platform was built directly in front of the grandstand. On this the children presented their drills, gave their instrumental and vocal selections, their addresses and their costume parade. The little tots were made happy when they paraded,
