COVER NECK AND ANKLE FOR POPE

Rome, Oct. 21.—A new form of ticket for papal audiences, issued by the pontifical master of the chamber, indicates that the Vatican favors the Victorian mode of dress for women.

The illustration is reminiscent of the days when the dresses reached from the ground to the ears, and the black and white drawing expresses the Pope's wish that sleeves should reach below the wrist; that the skirt, which has a slight train, should almost brush the ground and that the upper part of the figure, including the neck, should be adequately covered.

An explanation under the drawing says that the design is not an official model of the dress to be worn by women at papal audiences, but is only a suggestion as to the length of the skirt and sleeves and the height of the collar. The illustration is printed, it is explained, to obviate the necessity of turning away pilgrims and tourists from the papal audiences.

A MISSIONARY MEETING.

Held at Verona—Dr. Geddes to Move to Toronto.

Verona, Oct. 20.—The missionary meeting in the Methodist church was well attended. A very interesting talk was given by Mrs. McFadden, returned missionary from India, and special music rendered by the choir.

Wesley girls have arrived at the homes of Rev. F. Loft and O. E. Kerr. Martha Snider's house is nearing completion.

C. W. Leadlay has disposed of his business and property to Mr. Dehord, of Toronto, and expects to move to Vienna in the near future where he has purchased a farm. Mr. Merrill's many friends are pleased to have him back once more.

Charles Davy has purchased Dr. Geddes' home. Dr. Geddes expects to move to Toronto. S. Revell and family have returned from Niagara Falls, N.Y., where they spent the summer. A. M. Reynolds, Niagara Falls, is visiting his home. Fred Storms has returned to his home at Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. McMartin has returned from visiting his mother, who is very ill.

Pupils' Addresses.

Kemptville, Oct. 20.—The pupils of Miss Kathleen O'Hara, teacher of S.S. No. 13, Drummond, were the winners of a large number of prizes for addresses at the Drummond Centre School Fair this season. Stella McGarry won second prize, Eric Thompson, third prize; Francis Armour, fourth prize, and Sadie Widemauer, sixth prize. All the addresses were very fine and much credit is due to the successful pupils and their instructor.

"Bud" Fisher to Wed. New York, Oct. 21.—"Bud" Fisher, newspaper cartoonist and comic strip creator, is to marry Countess Aedita de Beaumont, of France, who was Aedita Stuart, who won the Paris beauty prize in 1922.

A poor way to be remembered is to leave behind a lot of unpaid bills.

WEDDINGS.

Darling-Powell. The wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, Oct. 14th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Powell, Englehart, of their second daughter, Alma J., to Mr. Ernest C. Darling, son of Mrs. K. and the late Mr. Charles Darling of Kingston. Rev. J. B. Kaine tied the nuptial knot.

The bride, who entered the room on the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by her sister, Mrs. G. W. Anyan, wore a charming gown of Poloma-colored crepe satin beaded with silver beads. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lily-of-the-valley. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served by Mr. and Mrs. Darling left immediately after for points north. For travelling the bride wore a black velvet and rosewood colored crepe dress and grey marvella coat with fox trimming. On their return they will reside in Englehart.

The Editor Hears

That the coming election is the topic of the hour. From Vancouver, B.C., comes the news of a man of one hundred and five years of age who was convinced that he would be the oldest voter to poll a vote. But he has had that honor taken from him by a man from Calumet Island, Quebec, who says he is one hundred and eight years old and thinks he has lived long enough in the country to have a right to say how it should be governed.

That a London, Eng., note says: "It has become the fashion for husbands and wives, particularly those who spend a good deal of their time in the country, to have clothes which match. The Duke and Duchess of York on several occasions recently have appeared in tailored blue suits the cloth apparently having been cut from the same roll."

That already preparations are being made for "Poppy Day." This annual remembrance of those who sleep "where poppies blow, on Flanders' Fields," is one that meets with general approval and few there are who will not wear a poppy on Armistice Day. This year we will feel that the world is nearer that peace the brightest and best of the youth of the empire gave their lives to win. The news that the Rhine pact, designed to bring an era of peace along the land that we knew for such long, long years as the war zone, or "the western front," has been signed by Germany, France and Belgium, has been heard with joy by those who have been waiting wearily for signs of a world's peace.

That fifty Scotch and English women, who will take positions in homes, have arrived in Toronto under the protection of the Salvation Army. They were with a party of two hundred immigrants who arrived in Toronto on Sunday and who will live in the neighborhood of that city.

That Bishop Summer of Oregon, speaking at a convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church being held in New Orleans this week, says he has great faith in the youth of today. He says they have stronger convictions than those of a previous generation. He blames the parents, and says the discord and bad example of the homes of the boys and girls are responsible for some failures, but on the whole, in spite of the fact that there are more temptations assailing the youth of to-day, he believes the boys and girls will win out. "I am an optimist," said the bishop, "I am utterly sick of the present attack on youth."

That the tense faces of the hundreds of women, who were in the vast throng that filled the Grand Opera House to the roof, showed that they were taking the franchise seriously. The intricacies of some of the policies dwelt upon in election speeches are a bit difficult to understand for the average woman, to whom a vote is a recent possession. But the tariff question is a clear one and affects every housewife. The cost of living is high enough as it is, and few women will wish to have it higher. That it cannot fail to increase under a higher protection was ably shown by the speakers at last night's meetings.

Most of the British transatlantic liners are captained by ex-officers of the Royal Navy. There isn't any kind of "moral obligation" you can work on a banker when the rate's due.

What the Women Are Wearing

If the early fall collections of Paris do not indicate any revolutionary changes in the fashion world, they at least evidence the progressive and rational evolution of the mode. The widened silhouette has become general and the skirt, while remaining short and wide, often minimizes the effect by means of the irregular hemline. Below are sketchy outlines of some of the early showings.

The front and side flares, used separately or together, are the arresting features of the new Douillet silhouette as exploited in his autumn collection. Concentrated shirring is the characteristic method of obtaining this effect. A curving waistline which reaches its top apex at the front acknowledges the return of that important landmark, and belts are a typical means of emphasizing it. Sleeves remain long and occasionally add a decorative touch near the cuffs, while the turnover collar competes with the high neckline of last season. Suits are numerous and incorporate both the long and short jacket types.

The full silhouette is adopted without compromise by Lenief, who achieves the distention by means of the circular cut and side flares. A definitely higher waistline, which just falls short of its normal haven is accented by means of belts and belted effects. The Princess silhouette is a notable feature of the more formal gowns, and brilliant hues are particularly characteristic of the mode du soir. Sleeves are generally long and collars high, although the turnover collar is not neglected.

Cyber has accepted the full silhouette with reservations, occasionally reverting to the straightline of earlier vintage. Even when the flare is employed, it is hardly emphasized. The waistline is more marked than last season, but it remains as low. Rather simple dresses share honors with the tailored suit in this collection, and a significant feature is the use of the belt on both types of costume to emphasize the waistline.

The back flare leads all the rest in the Rolande autumn collection although many other full-lined variations are noted. A formal note pervades the entire showing and elaborate models rule for afternoons as well as evening. Black is a distinctive color note for formal afternoons and occasions du soir. Rolande solves the problem of skirt length by offering the irregular hemline in long points which distract attention from the length or brevity of the skirt.

The truthfulness of what a man says doesn't always depend upon the amount of noise he makes in saying it. In the work of reformation there are those who forget debt paying.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and get the best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.
