GREAT INTEREST IN M'GILL GAME

Red and White Will Present a Hard Battling Determined Team Against Queen's.

Those rugby fans who have been so backward about picking up tickets for Saturday's Queen's-McGill game, thinking that perhaps the Red and White would not be able to offer stout enough opposition for the Tricolor to make an interesting game, will make the greatest mistake of the season if they pass up this game on that account. Those who saw the game in Montreal and watched the pucky fight of the McGill team and watched the two big breaks of the contest go right against the Montreal representation, know full well that the errors of last Saturday will be corrected before the time of the game here on Saturday and McGill will be better fortified to resist the attacks of the Queen's team and on their own part, will be able to set their attack with greater force than they did in Montreal.

The McGill team has been spending this week, going over the things they failed to do correctly in last week's game. Shaughnessy is a man to be reckoned with and when his team steps on the field at the Richardson Stadium, the fans will see a Red and White team of a different style in action. There will be even more fight to them than there was in Montreal and they should be able to get into Queen's and give them a battle that should thrill the thousands who will be present for the big game.

Queen's have been going through heavy scrimmage work this week in preparation for the game with McGill and Athletic Director Hughes has drummed it into the players that because they defeated McGill 14-0 in Montreal that they need not think that they have anything soft on Saturday to deal with. The score did not indicate the difference of the two teams on the day's play. This does not mean to say that Queen's did not deserve their points on their two plays that resulted in touches but generally speaking, on the play of the day, McGill were not a zero team.

Greater interest than was expected would be shown, is being manifested in Saturday's game and it is thought that a great crowd will see Shaughnessy's men, led by Captain Noelle Philpotts, swing into action. McGill has the reputation of always putting up a high calibre of rugby here and Saturday's game will produce even faster football from the Red and White. Shaughnessy expects his team to win here and make amends for the mistakes that were made by his team last Saturday.

J. S. McDonnell, secretary of the A.B. of C., reports that the ticket sale for the big game is rapidly picking up and to-day the demand for seats was quite brisk.

The Queen's rooters will hold forth in Grant Hall on Friday afternoon to get things ready in the cheering line for Saturday and a color scheme will also be presented during the game that should be real good. The Queen's band will be on hand and it is stated that the famous McGill band will also be here for the game. This band has established a great record for itself and is really a splendid organization.

FROM THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

Great things are being planned by the Queen's Hockey Club and several changes are expected in the hockey situation up around the university this winter.

The McGill team is coming here on Saturday to meet Queen's, with all the mistakes they made last Saturday corrected, and there is not much doubt that they will be able to give Queen's a much harder game than they did in Montreal.

It might be a little early to talk hockey, but the hockey fans in the city are already wondering what sort of an amalgamated team will represent Kingston in the O.H.A. this winter. It seems to be the general opinion of the fans that the amalgamation has been a great success and should be continued.

Up in Varsity they are figuring on handing Queen's a real good lacing on the last day of the month. The showing made by the U. of T. in Kingston has led the Varsity team and supporters to believe that they will slip it over the Tricolor next time. They may have another thought coming before the game is over.

It will be a great old battle in Toronto on Saturday when Argos and Tigers hook up. With Dr. Carl Quinn, Fred Veale, Kingston boys, Harry Hannon and Frank McKelvey, former Queen's players, with the Tigers, it would appear that local sympathy will largely be with Hamilton Tigers. Argos, though, have a big following here, too.

There is great consternation in the Soo over the likelihood of losing its hockey players. To take the Soo hockey team out of the North Country would be like taking the Great White Way out of New York.

IMPORTANT GAMES IN THE FOUR UNIONS

Argos, M.A.A.A., Hamilton and Queen's Are Picked as the Winners.

Toronto, Oct. 22.—Four senior football games will be played next Saturday, these being as follows: Interprovincial Union—Tigers at Argos, Ottawa at Montreal, Ontario Union—University of Toronto at Hamilton R.C. Intercollegiate Union—McGill at Queen's.

Judging by results to date, Montreal, Argos, Hamilton and Queen's should win. Visiting teams in the Big Four have not been able to turn in a victory to date, but Saturday may see a reversal of form. Ottawa are conceded a great chance to win in the Quebec metropolis, although the Winged Wheelers have improved vastly and fully expect to win. Tigers are confident that they can defeat the Oarsmen anywhere, and fortunately talking never won a championship yet. Argos do not claim that they will win, and for this the fans should be thankful. At any rate, both games should be closely contested.

Hamilton R. C. should win the game against the collegians. The latter have failed to show strength, and while the Ambitious City Oarsmen have also disappointed their followers, they should repeat their victory over the locals. The students, realizing that they have not covered themselves with glory, are practicing hard in an effort to redeem themselves. They have two games to play against Balm Beach, but the champions believe that their strongest opponents are the Camp Borden Airmen.

Queen's should win. Queen's should gallop away from McGill at the Richardson Stadium, but there is one thing in favor of the Red and White that the fans are not overlooking. They are courageous fighters under any conditions, and Coach Shaughnessy has the players completely under his control. Men who seldom guess wrongly in the gridiron sport predict that McGill will make it much closer than they did on the home grounds. Queen's are not looking for an easy victory. They know that McGill will battle to the bitter end.

LAST HEAVY DRILL FOR M'GILL TO-DAY

Team Will Come to Kingston on Special Sleeper Friday.

First string rugby went to the side lines more or less at McGill yesterday afternoon when the juniors and intermediates had the run of the stadium until almost dark for their games with Loyola College. The seniors got in an hour's signal drill, after the seconds and thirds had left the field, which gave them a chance to practice machine-like play, but left them little opportunity to do heavy work in preparation for the Queen's game Saturday. This afternoon, Coach Shaughnessy will send his team through their last final strenuous practice, and on Friday evening they will board a special sleeper for Kingston on which they will rest overnight to be fresh for the tussle against the tricolor.

While the younger players held away and more or less froze the senior out yesterday, Coach Shaughnessy did not lose much by the arrangements, as the intermediate McGill-Loyola game brought to light two promising players, who will likely be shifted up into senior company this week-end.

Graham Gorrie, always recognized as a fair punter in the two years that he has previously been drilling at the stadium, yesterday displayed a form which warrants the belief that he will be used at least as relief punter for the first string. Gorrie not only kicked high spirals for 50 yards, but also showed ability to tackle and his general secondary defence work was all that could be desired.

Again on the wing line, young Tucker, a hard-plugging tackler, went down under kicks and dived through the line to break up Loyola plays at a rate which fairly forced his prowess to the attention of the McGill leader. With Gordie Hughes in hospital and only Philpott, Jack Little and Boyd Miller for outside work Shaughnessy was pressed for an extra man for the ends and in Tucker has apparently found a right end to relieve Philpott for breathing spells or in case of injury.

TO INVESTIGATE THE ROUGH PLAY SATURDAY

Will Not Stand for Tactics That Tend to Cause Injury.

Argos have been notified that charges of rough play against Eddie Emerson of Ottawa will be investigated immediately by the Big Four Governors. Referee Billy Mallett has been requested to send in a report, and witnesses will be sought. The Double Blue officials claim that they did not see the alleged assault, but they believe that some action should be taken to stop rough play. They have no particular quarrel with Emerson or with any other player, but they cannot ignore the fact that one of their cleanest athletes was seriously injured in the game at Ottawa.

The Big Four Governors have been sticklers in this respect. They will not countenance rough play, and in the past they have shown an iron hand in disciplining offenders.

UNCERTAIN NOW.

Saturday's Hockey Meeting Will Decide Their Fate.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 22.—The hockey situation in the Sault went up in the air, and from all appearances the prospect of a team here this winter develops into a race between the Soo management to get into a good American circuit and the New York amateurs to grab off the Greyhounds before this can be accomplished.

If the players can be held off until Saturday's meeting at Minneapolis, the Sault will probably retain them. They held a meeting to discuss their attitude on the question, and in view of the fact that they have received an attractive offer to go to New York their final decision depends to a large extent on the prospect of a good international league.

The hockey club officials, on the other hand, unless they have some assurance that there will be a team available here, will not venture to join the new circuit. A definite announcement is expected in a few days.

LEAVE THEM ALONE.

Canadian Federation Joins With American

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 22.—The Canadian Boxing Federation has been affiliated with the National Boxing Association of the United States. Favorable action on the application of the Canadian Federation for permission to join with the national organization was approved by the United States Boxing Association at its annual meeting here.

The boxing commission of Mexico has also been taken into the national association.

Following the approval of the Canadian and Mexican bills, the meeting turned its attention to naming of American and world boxing champions.

Plans for bringing about a national registration of boxing and for including the New York State Athletic Commission in the association, also are before the annual meeting for action.

Mr. Ahern states he has the assurance of the president of the New York Hockey Club, Colonel Hammond, to the effect that that club does not desire to do anything to create dissatisfaction or interfere with the success of the Ottawa organization.

To use Mr. Ahern's own expression: "Ottawa players have been steady and loyal through all recent disturbances, and I am more interested in keeping a good team for Ottawa than in the money end of hockey."
