What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

"PRETTY LADIES," NOVEL PICTURE AT CAPITOL

In his "Pretty Ladies," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, Bell has knocked another cinema home run.

He has added plenty of color and human interest to a tale of Follies life before the footlights and behind the scenery and has introduced a number of novelty scenes in technical color that are without rivalry in the history of motion pictures.

"Pretty Ladies" is the story of a Follies queen who had success as an actress, plenty of money and all the applause and audience appreciation one could have. But she didn't have a man?

Zasü Pitts is the featured player and Tom Moore is her lover—and later her husband. Lilyan Tashman is the blonde "heavy" and Bernard Randall the theatrical producer who for once isn't depicted as a villain.

The charming Ann Pennington, star of the Follies, is shown in her dancing act and such screen stars as Conrad Nagel and Norma Shearer make brief appearances in one of the largest and most important all-star casts ever seen on the screen.

And last, but far from least, is the famous chorus made up of Hollywood's fairest femininity chosen for excellence of face and figure.

COUNCIL DID NOT DO ANYTHING ILLEGAL

The Case of Mr. McIvor Before the Kingston Township Council.

A meeting of the Kingston Township Council was held on Monday night, and when interviewed by the Whig on Tuesday, Reeve C. J. Graham stated that he and the members of the council had been exonerated by Mr. Smythe, the highway engineer, of having done anything illegal in connection with the case of Mr. McIvor. The reeve stated that Mr. Smythe's report to the council was to the effect that the council had done nothing of an illegal nature.

The council also appointed the deputy returning officers for the nominations to be held on November 30th.

LATE HAMILTON CASSELS, K.C.

Prominent Toronto Lawyer Passed Away on Monday.

Dr. Hamilton Casseels, K.C., of the firm of Casseels, Brock & Kelly, of Toronto, died on Monday at his home in Toronto.

Dr. Casseels was elected to the board of trustees of Queen's University in 1911, and was given chairmanship in 1912. He was made the honorary degree of doctor of laws in 1914. Owing to ill-health he was forced to resign the chairmanship of the board of trustees in 1921.

He was in failing health for a number of years, and it was with deep regret that many of his Kingston friends heard of his death.

The late Mr. Casseels took a very prominent part in reform work among prisoners. Back in the nineties, he had associated himself with the Prisoners' Aid Association, and the Prison Reform Association. He was one of the original members appointed informally by the late Hon. W. J. Hanna, in 1910, to serve on the parole board. When proper legislation created this board as an official body, he was continued on the board, and had been chairman for the last six years.

The Site Favored.

Alexandria Bay, N.Y., taxpayers voted at an unofficial school election in favor of the purchase of the Jarvis property, Church street, for the proposed site of Alexandria Bay's new school. One hundred and twenty-six votes were cast in favor of the Jarvis property. The action came as a climax to the recent action of the State Board of Education in withdrawing non-resident tuition in an effort to force action by the villagers on the board's recommendation of some time ago to erect a new modern building.

R.M.C. PROTESTED THE SECOND GAME

Claim That a Safety Touch Was Scored in Second Half, Leaving Score 9-8 Instead of 8-6.

R.M.C. has protested the intermediate game of Monday, claiming that the score of the game at the end of the regular playing time should have been 9-8 for R.M.C. instead of 8-6. It is claimed by R.M.C. that a safety touch was scored in the second half of the game against the Tricolor, it being claimed that Alec. Ada was forced back over his own line by the Red and White.

R.M.C. officials visited Queen's A. B. of C. office on Tuesday morning and informed the Queen's authorities that they would protest the game. The protest will be taken up by the Intercollegiate Rules Commission.

The protest came as a distinct surprise as nothing was said of the matter by R.M.C. on Monday and the team played the overtime period without protest. It is claimed by R.M.C. that Referee Joe O'Brien said that R.M.C. scored a safety in the second half for two points instead of one.

VARSITY AND MCGILL FOR SECOND PLACE

Keen Rivalry Between the Two Colleges—Good Game Expected.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—With Queen's holding Intercollegiate rugby title for the fourth straight year, interest in the series now centres in the two games remaining in the schedule between McGill and University of Toronto for second place, the first of which will be played at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium here Saturday. While, naturally, much of the interest goes out of the series with the clinching of the title by the tri-color, yet there is always keen speculation over a McGill-Varsity clash. These two traditional gridiron rivals can be counted on to put everything into a game regardless of whether the result will have a direct bearing on the title or not.

Varsity's game against Queen's showed that a squad is better off playing right along every Saturday in the season than having long rests. Three idle weeks did not do the blue and white any good. Games each week would have given the coaches a chance to find the weak spots and correct them, but with only scrimmages this was practically impossible, with dire results to Varsity. Many have criticized those alleged to have made up the intercollegiate schedule this season, for the arrangement which gave Queen's four straight games, and Varsity one game and then a three-weeks lay-off. Actually, the Intercollegiate schedule is a rotary one, the first game each year being switched to the last game in the next season, the other contests being in their same order, but advanced one week. Every few years this leads to a situation such as arose this season, but on the whole the Intercollegiate officers are satisfied that the rotary system is the fairest to all concerned, taken over any long period of time.

DEFEND S.P.A. CUP.

Peterboro, Ont., Nov. 3.—The call has gone out for a meeting of the players of the Peterboro senior O.H.A. team to arrange for gymnasium work as a preliminary to the actual ice work in training for the coming season. The team will make a few trips to Toronto to practice in the Arena before taking the ice for the first game, which will probably be in defence of the S.P.A. cup.

The following players are lined up: Dwyer, Legros, Parker, McLeod, Ranger, Collins, Bailey, Rose and Burgess, of last year's team, and Cox and Bogardis, newcomers who have made a name for themselves with other teams.

UP AT ST. THOMAS.

St. Thomas, Ont., Nov. 3.—The practice of the local Collegiate Institute seniors was augmented last evening by the presence of four Queen's University players. The seniors are working hard to hold the four-point lead that they secured over Sarnia here Saturday in the "Wossie" semi-finals. Some new ideas may be gained from the Kingston gridiron crew Quarterback Fred Baldwin, Halfback "Pewee" Chantler and Lineman Don McCrimmon. The champions are spending a few days at their homes here, and "Bud" Thomas at present is a guest with Fred Baldwin.

OFFICIAL WORD THAT QUEEN'S WILL PLAY IN DOMINION FINALS

As intimated in the Whig of Monday, the Queen's senior rugby team, present Dominion champions and recent winners of the fourth straight Intercollegiate title, will again seek Dominion championship honors.

The official announcement of this was made following a meeting of the Athletic Board of Control on Tuesday morning. The players were of the one mind and wanted to enter the Dominion finals again and the Board decided to comply with their wishes and allow them to go on. Queen's will play the first game in the Dominion semi-finals at Toronto on November 21st, very likely against Balm Beach, who are well away now for the O.R.F.U. title.

City Solicitor Says Majority of Council Necessary to Offer By-law.

City Clerk W. W. Sands had an interview with City Solicitor T. J. Rigney on Tuesday morning regarding the tangle the City Council got into on Monday night, over the proposed by-law, asking for a fixed assessment for the Monarch Battery Company. The council was under the impression that it would require a three-fourths vote of the council to put the "enabling by-law" to the people, but the city solicitor stated, that this by-law only required a majority vote of the council. This has been secured, so the by-law can now go to the electors at the coming municipal elections.

AFTERMATH OF FIRE.

Claim for Damages Heard in the Division Court.

Judge Madden presided at the session of the Division Court on Tuesday morning. There were thirty-six cases on the docket, but for the most part they were not of public interest. In the case of the Canada Liquid Air Co., Toronto, vs. J. B. Angrove, judgment was given for $33.80. In the fire which destroyed Mr. Angrove's bicycle repair shop last spring, oxygen cylinder and an acetylene cylinder belonging to the Canada Liquid Air Co., were damaged. The company claimed $130 damages, with the above result.

THE ALBERT L. CLOUGH.

What Fouled Plugs Indicate

Too Much Oil Or Too Much Gasoline In The Cylinders

WHEN A PLUG IS REMOVED from a well warmed engine and its end is found covered with a wet, brown deposit, it is evidence that the fouling is due to an excess of engine oil that has passed the piston and entered the combustion space.

Causes Of Oil Plugs

The principal causes of oil fouling are imperfectly fitted or ill adapted piston-rings, which fail to wipe back enough oil, an excess of oil splashed upon the cylinder walls by the lubrication system or to the use of an oil which becomes too thin by heat or which has become so by dilution. Cylinders that have worn so much out of true that they cannot be effectively packed by piston rings are a common cause of this "oil plugging."

The Sooted Plug

On the other hand, if the end of a plug is covered with a dry, black deposit, it may be assumed that this is due to the use of a mixture so greatly overrich that some of the carbon fails to burn and is deposited as lampblack.

Why The Mixture Is Overrich

Too much gasoline in proportion to air supplied by the carburetor will cause sooting of all plugs, but certain plugs may become sooted while others run clean or even spark in an overlean mixture, if the intake manifold is so badly designed as to supply excess of fuel to particular cylinders, if there is a lack of heat to promote vaporization in the manifold or if there is air leakage into certain cylinders and not into others.

HESITATES WHEN GIVEN GAS

starts very hard, after it is warm from being run.

Answer: It is probably because the carburetor becomes so hot to cause the evaporation of gasoline in the float chamber, when the same gasoline remains in it for some time, as it does when the engine is shut down. Too intense a heat supply to the carburetor, considering the weather and the use of gasoline containing considerable amounts of very volatile components favor this pre- evaporation, if the carburetor is mounted directly on the block and the water runs hot, if the contents of the vacuum tank become highly heated or if the gasoline flow pipe is especially exposed to high temperatures, the tendency toward pre- evaporation is very marked. Perhaps you can reduce the heat supply to the intake system or switch to some different brand of gasoline and obtain benefit. Possibly too you may not have so much trouble in cold weather.

REMOVING A CAMSHAFT

G. W. F. asks: Can the Ford camshaft be removed without dismantling the engine and, if so, how?

Answer: Yes. Take off the radiator and the timing-gear case cover. Raise all valves and secure them in the raised position. Then remove the set screws, which pass through the engine base and hold the front and other cam-shaft bearings in place, when the camshaft can be drawn out through the front of the engine.

STARTS HARD WHEN HOT

J. J. H. asks: Why is it that my engine starts so easily in the morning, when it is cold and

LABOR PARTY GAINS IN THE ELECTIONS

Held in England and Wales—Socialist Menace Is Held in Check.

London, Nov. 3.—Returns from the municipal elections in England and Wales yesterday show that the Laborites have regained many of the seats which they lost three years ago, but that the Socialist menace which the Conservatives feared has been held in check. Incomplete returns this morning indicate that Labor has a net gain of 34 seats in London. The Laborites lost four seats at Bournemouth to the Municipal Reformers, who have 25 representatives on the council against Labor's 29. Returns from thirty of the largest provincial cities and towns indicate that Labor Socialists made a net gain of 47, while the Conservatives suffered a net loss of 21, the Liberals of 22 and the Independents of four.
