

The Factory is The Place to Buy FURS

FINE FUR COATS

Our stock of Jacquettes and Coats of Persian Lamb, Hudson Seal, Raccoon, Alaska Seal and French Seal and all other fashionable Furs is the most extensive and desirable. Original models and copies of models produced in our own workrooms at prices that cannot be duplicated.

Investigate and be convinced that McKay's is headquarters for fine Furs.

(FROM TRAPPER TO WEARER).

McKay
Manufacturers
Importers
Fine Furs
John McKay Limited
KINGSTON, CANADA
149 TO 157 BROCK STREET, KINGSTON

READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS
They Lighten Work

These Two Toilet Articles for $1.50
Vinolia Old English Lavender Face Powder $1.00 size
Gold Plated Loose Powder Compact ... $1.00
WHILE SUPPLY LASTS—BOTH FOR $1.50

Branigan's Drug STORE LIMITED
268 Princess Street Phone 18

Careful, Correct

Thanksgiving is a time for happy reunions. Pictures of the holiday fun are entitled to careful, correct finishing.

That's the kind you get when we finish your film. And our superior service costs no more.

KODAK FILM IN THE YELLOW BOX

Mahood Drug Co. Ltd.

HONEY

Pure Clover (5s) 69c

Mixed Peel

Fancy Cut Mixed Peel, lb. 30c

Raisins

Choice New Seedless, 2 lbs. 20c

Barley

Get Your Supply Now, 5 lbs. 25c

Beans

Extra Choice Hand Picked, 4 lbs. 25c

Canned

Pears, Corn, Tomatoes, 2 for 25c
Special Prices Case or Dozen Lots.

Cullen's

CASH—CARRY

HATS—MEN'S FURNISHINGS—FURS

We show a wonderful assortment of

MEN'S GLOVES

and as usual our values are the best.

Men's Socks

Many new lines just placed in stock. See our showing from 29c. up

Underwear—Ties—Hats—Caps—Shirts—Sweater Coats, etc.

CAMPBELL BROS.

FINE ADDRESS GIVEN BY DEAN MATHESON

"University Education in Business," Was a Subject Well Handled.

Professor John Matheson, Dean of the Faculty of Arts of Queen's University, was the speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club held on Tuesday at the Frontenac hotel, the speaker taking as his subject, "University Education in Business." His address was very impressive and conducive to careful thought on the question and was much appreciated by the Kiwanians.

The speaker stated that the question of whether a young man proposing to enter business should be equipped with a university education or not drew two opposite views. The first was that it really unfitted a young man for business because he became dreamy and lived in the clouds, while the other view was that a university training tended to make him better qualified for business because of his sane judgment and training to view things as a whole. In individual cases, it was conceded that either view might be taken.

In answering the question as to whether or not an Arts' training was a help to the young man entering business, Dean Matheson stated that the value of a man in business was pretty well gauged by the wages he received. That was the way he believed, although he admitted that he might not be right in this respect. On that belief, a great deal of research had been carried on, especially in the United States and much information gathered up.

Dean Matheson gave illustrations to bear this out. Taking the case of a person leaving school at the end of his public school career, and one leaving school at the end of his high school career, he said that it had been found that the boy getting the public school education only started on an average of $4 a week, gradually being increased until at the age of twenty-five years it was figured he would be receiving $14 a week. That was an increase of $10 in eleven years.

Taking the case of the high school boy, it was given as an average that he would start work at $10 a week and at the age of twenty-five years would be receiving $30 a week so that the boy with the four years longer in school, would have equalled the amount of money earned by the boy who had been working four years longer and besides that he had the advantage of four years in high school. These facts, the speaker pointed out, had come from statistics compiled in the United States. If the question were asked if there was justification in making a comparison on these figures, there was little doubt but that the answer would be in the affirmative. The speaker warned, however, that these figures were merely taken on an average.

Taking the investigations made in one hundred concerns, Dean Matheson stated that in nine cases out of ten university graduates rose to positions involving good salaries and responsibilities in the business while in the case of those under a university education, it was found that only one in four had reached that stage. This argument, Dean Matheson contended, lent a good deal of force to the view that a university education was good in business.

The speaker took "Who's Who" as an example of university educated people who had made good. He pointed out that over three-quarters of the people mentioned in this book were university graduates. Taking up the view of the university on the whole matter, Dean Matheson said that there was no room for consideration on the part of students. An American magazine sent out a reporter to see the leaders of business concerns. The report, when submitted in its whole trend showed that young men who entered business or professional callings and failed to make good, did so because they were lazy. Dean Matheson stated that in the university, the teachers had occasion to investigate the industrial habits of several of the students, due to their showing in their work. This was done twice a year. In the last three years there were sent home seventy-five students. This did not cover all, however, as there were others who remained who were working at about only 40 per cent. of their capacity. The speaker declared that it stood to reason that a young man going through college at a 40 per cent. capacity would reasonably be expected to carry on in business at about the same rate. That four years of 40 per cent. capacity sent them well on the road to industrial perdition. Take the case of students who worked at 90 per cent. capacity and there was no fear for them. It would be surprising to hear of them as failures but not of those who had been going through at a 40 per cent. rate.

In closing his address, the speaker pointed out that the result of having large classes did not give such good results for it over-sped the backward students and held back the top students. That condition, he said, did not help any.

The vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Kiwanian Alan Melkiojohn who made reference to the fact that the distance between the "Town and the Gown" had been materially lessened. He expressed the appreciation of the members present for the fine address that had been given them.

After the opening of the meeting, Kiwanian John Austin occupied the chair and levied fines thick and fast. President Moore read several communications, one from the Y.M.C.A. and one from the Husans Society.

They were both referred to the executive. A letter was also received from the G.W.V.A. inviting the Kiwanis club to take part in the Armistice Day service tonight.

KINGSTON'S TALENT SCORES A TRIUMPH

In Presentation of "Bimbo" for Rotary Club—Final Performance To-night.

Kingston talent has scored another triumph, in the presentation of the musical play, "Bimbo," at the Grand Theatre, under the auspices of the Kingston Rotary Club. On Tuesday night another good-sized audience witnessed the production, and round after round of applause testified to the warm appreciation, and Mr. Weldon B. Wade, under whose direction the play was rehearsed, and the members of the Rotary Club, have every reason to be proud of the entertainment provided. Tuesday night the various members of the cast went through their parts with high honors, while the musical numbers were given with vim and snap that would do credit to a big road show. Special mention is due the work of the Toddie dancers and the Dwarfs on Tuesday night. Miss Dolores Van Patten captivated the audience with her dancing and was warmly applauded, and her number as The Moth, with the little folk as the Flanes, formed one of the most pleasant features of the show. "Bimbo" presents plenty of action from start to finish, and the programme is one that rounds out a most enjoyable entertainment. Mr. G. F. Ketzlaze, pianist, entertained during the intermission, and gave a wonderful performance on the keys. The work of the chorus groups is deserving of praise, especially in view of the fact that the production was rehearsed in two weeks' time, a strong point in showing what local talent can do. The work of the orchestra, with Miss Olive Simpson, at the piano, also calls for warm praise.

It may not be generally known, but Kingston figures in the play, throughout, while some of the nearby places are also referred to. The dress display of frocks from Jackson Melvior Ltd., forms a very pleasing part of the production. The Models are charming, and the audience showed its appreciation with hearty applause. "Bimbo" will be presented for the last time tonight, and is deserving of a capacity house, as the proceeds are used by the Rotary Club for charitable work.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

Clearances on Tuesday—John A. Holoway, west at 6 p.m.; Thunder Bay, east at 11 a.m.; William C. Warren, east at 9.30 p.m.; Easton, west at 10.50 p.m.

Clearances on Wednesday—Norman P. Clement, east at 1.45 a.m.; Nesbitt Grammar, east at 3.15 a.m.; D. B. Hanna, east at 3.40 a.m.; Shirley G. Taylor, east at 4.45 a.m.; Frank B. Baird, west at 8.40 a.m. The steamer Brockville arrived from Picton and is unloading canned goods at the C.S.L. dock.

Passed Away at Newburgh. Mrs. T. Wilson, an old resident of Newburgh, passed away on Nov. 2nd, aged sixty-nine years. The deceased is survived by three sons and two daughters, Clarence, Winnipeg; Joseph, Sault Ste. Marie; Archie, Chicago; Mrs. Fred Wales, Switzerville, and Miss Jessie Wilson, Kindersley, Sask. Mrs. Wilson was predeceased by her husband and son and daughter.

Mrs. Zimri Blodgett, Peterboro, died last Friday. Her grandchild, Miss Sarah Hounsell, lives in Kingston.

Secure a Copy of Our New Fur Catalogue

It tells you why it pays to buy your furs at "Kingston's Famous Fur Store," and shows a few of the many models we make in Ladies' Fur Coats with the prices.

You Can Buy Here in Safety

We have strictly one price and people tell us often that they never feel safe in a store with a variety of prices on the same garment.

GEORGE MILLS & CO.
MAKERS OF FINE FURS

MOORE'S TOYLAND

We are all ready now for Christmas Shoppers.

The largest assortment of Toys are now on display.

BUY NOW—DON'T WAIT—DROP IN AND LOOK AROUND—THE TOYS ARE WONDERFUL. MAKE SOME KIDDIE HAPPY.

MOORE'S TOYLAND
206-8 WELLINGTON STREET

1,000 balls Silver Strand Knitting Wool, best colors—regular price 35c. Thursday, 15c.

NEW ARRIVALS Winter Coatings

New arrivals in all pure wool Winter Coatings, including Velours, Bolivia, Polo Cloth, Blanket Cloth, Charmelaine and Heather mixtures. All the newest shades, including Rust, Hen-na, Taupe, Reindeer, Fawn, Airedale, Greys, Browns, Blues and Black. Specially priced $1.00 yd. up

Auto Rugs, $5.00

For the cool days a nice, heavy, warm Rug will be greatly appreciated. You will find it will add greatly to the pleasure to be derived from the trip to have one or more of these luxurious, warm Rugs along. With hemmed or fringed ends in light or dark colors. These Rugs are real value at $5.00 each. They are all pure wool and good, large size.

Newman & Shaw
THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE

Clearing Sale of Fall Millinery Parisian Shop

322 BROCK STREET

HEARD ON THE STREET

Local Briefs Gathered by Reporters—What the Merchants Are Offering.

Mr. Swaine, piano tuner. Orders received at 100 Clergy street west, phone 564.

Mrs. Thomas Hunt, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., was struck by an automobile in Utica, N.Y., and seriously injured.

Dewitt Collins, Watertown, N.Y., died on Saturday aged seventy-three years. For twelve years he was an engineer on the Kingston and Pembroke railway.

On Nov. 2nd the marriage took place in Kingston of Fay Marsh, Mansville, N.Y., and Sarah M. Cooley, Cortland, N.Y. Rev. Douglas Laing officiated.

Principal R. Bruce Taylor, of Queen's University, addressed the Canadian Education Association in Ottawa Tuesday evening on "Some Problems in Education."

"Armistice Day Memorial Service," Wednesday, Nov. 11th, at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall. Citizens are invited to join with us in solemn memory of our fallen comrades. G. W.V.A.

The Presbyterians of Cape Vincent, N.Y., in farewelling Rev. Arthur T. Coats, gave him a good watch, suitably engraved. He goes to the Presbyterian church at Adams, N.Y.

AT Y'S MEN'S CLUB.

An Interesting Programme at Meeting Held on Tuesday.

At the weekly meeting of the Y's Men's Club held in the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night, a varied and interesting programme was provided in the form of impromptu speeches by various members. Mr. E. Lockett was in charge of the programme and speeches on such subjects as "Senate Reform," "The Political Situation in Canada," "The Industrial Future of Kingston," "The 1926 Rugby Season," were ably handled by members of the club. Next Tuesday Mr. E. Otter, of Toronto, Y.M.C.A. national secretary, will be present at the meeting and will discuss Y.M.C.A. work with the members. Special features are being arranged for this meeting.

KINGSTON HUNTERS MAROONED ON ISLAND

Their Boat Drifted Away—Captain of Steamer Dardanelle Notified Lockmaster.

Marooned on an island, with the wind blowing nearly a gale and with nothing to eat, was the experience of three well-known local men and two boys, who were shooting ducks on the Rideau River over Thanksgiving Day. The party rowed to an island, and left their boat on the shore, while they went to their "hide." In their absence, a high wind came up, and the boat drifted away. When they returned and discovered their plight they were at a loss to know how they would get off the island. After some time, the steamer Dardanelle passed down and by frantic waving of arms and much shouting, the castaways succeeded in attracting the captain's attention. When the steamer arrived at the next locks, the captain informed the lockmaster of the hunters' plight, and it was not long till they were safe and sound. But after all the excitement, they failed to shoot a duck.

A CONCERT AND SUPPER

Was Fine Event in Wolfe Island Church.

Wolfe Island, Nov. 9.—The United church held a very successful concert in the Masonic Hall on Tuesday evening. The Lent-a-Hand Circle, who put on the programme, are very much to be congratulated for the excellent entertainment provided for a large audience. Dr. Spankie, who acted as chairman, was called upon to read an address and make a presentation of a purse of gold to Rev. Mr. Russell, who soon intends leaving for a short visit to the British Isles.

After the concert the ladies served a sumptuous chicken supper and all were loud in their praises of the excellent service and bill of fare.

Mrs. Louis Yott is dangerously ill at present. Born to Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Murphy, a son. Born to Mr. and Mrs. James O'Reilly, a son. Mr. Monney, of the Continuation school, spent Thanksgiving in Pickering, Ont.

The first schree and dance of the season was held in the Parish Hall, on Wednesday evening. John McGlynn is receiving congratulations over winning the prize at the plowing contest in Sunbury.

While hunting rabbits near Queenston Heights, Gordon Kennedy, 35, of Port Colborne, accidentally shot himself. He is now at Niagara Falls Hospital.

BUS TO FLORIDA WALKER'S NEW SEDAN BUS

Will Leave the Last Week of November on Sight-Seeing Trip to Florida, Stopping at Points of Interest.

Fare—One Way ..$80.00
Return ..$100.00

For information
Phone 2470J or Write
R. S. WALKER,
174 St. Bagot St., Kingston, Ont.

Insurance Talks

Putting the 'Serve' in Service.

We come running when you want advice; when you want information; and fastest of all when you have a loss and want a speedy settlement.

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE

E. W. Mullin

Cor. Johnson and Division Sts.
Phone 528, 529-w and 529-J.

European scientists do not support the prediction of Herbert J. Browne, meteorologist at Washington that the year 1926 would be without a summer.