NEWS AND GOSSIP AT THE CITY HALL

Better System of Tree Trimming and Snow Removal To Be Considered.

That Kingston will have to inaugurate a better system of tree trimming, is the opinion expressed by several members of the City Council.

At the present time, there is no real system for this kind of work, trees being trimmed here and there, as the requests are received for the trees to be given attention.

The matter will be taken up by the Board of Works, and it is hoped to have a system worked out whereby the entire city will be covered.

Lack of proper tree trimming is blamed for the very poor lighting facilities on many of the streets during the summer.

The question of a proper system of snow removal is another matter that is to receive the attention of the Board of Works. Several members of the city council are of the opinion that it is time that Kingston had a system of snow plowing along the main arteries at least, so that people going to their work in the morning will not be compelled to go through deep snow. The suggestion has been made that if plows were used to push the snow off the walks, citizens could then very easily level off the walks, and in this way the walks would be given proper attention.

There is every reason to believe that the cost of putting down permanent pavements next year will be reduced. As a starter, the Board of Works have made a saving of fifteen per cent. in the cost of the sand that will be required, the contract for the sand having been awarded a few days ago.

With the elections off and the final meeting of the city council for the year 1925, called for Monday evening, the "city fathers" will be able to set aside their cares for the remainder of the year and enjoy the holiday festivities. The general opinion is that it is indeed a good move to have the elections held before Christmas. In the old days, when elections were held on New Year's Day, it would mean that the candidates for municipal honors would have to spend the holiday season canvassing for votes.

The election is over, but Mayor Thomas B. Angrove is still receiving letters of congratulations on his reelection. The letters are coming from all directions, as the friends of Kingston's mayor are legion.

With the final meeting of the city council for 1925 on Monday evening, the big question will be the selection of chairmen for the various committees. The chairmen and the various committees will be selected at the inaugural meeting of the new council.

BATH CHURCH IS RESTORED FOR WORSHIP

mer beauty. But with God everything is possible. A great deal of credit is due to your rector."

The bishop congratulated the congregation on the quick rebuilding of the church. The work had been done in a little over six months. This was a record in Canada, as well as in any country that he knew of for the rebuilding of a church. The present building was the fruit of those who had labored years ago. His Lordship referred to the first pastor of the St. John's church, Rev. John Langhorn, who had carried on the work without any outside help.

The bishop regretted that his officialdom was soon coming to a close, and he was very glad to have the pleasure before it ended of consecrating one of the oldest churches in Canada. "One of the greatest things in religion is the love of reverence of God's house," continued the bishop. The church ought to be the centre of the community life. It ought to be a place from which the community at large draws its inspiration. All churches stand today on the one great belief of the presence of a Divine God on earth. Some people live only from day to day and only think of their work or occupation. It is safe to say that the great majority do not believe in living in this manner. The church has no reason to exist, except for our belief that there is a Divine God on this earth. It is very easy to forget God in the ordinary course of our lives. We ought to be mindful that the rebuilding of this church is the work of God. It is your gift to God and also that it is your church, Christianity is outlined to you in the word "willfulness." In days gone by, the work of building temples to heathen Gods was done by slave labor but the building of Christian churches had always been done by the free will of the people.

"I hope that you will endeavor to make it one of the most beautiful churches in the diocese. You cannot give any better sign of thanksgiving or mourning than the gift of some nature to the church for its beautification."

The bishop had noticed that the habit of church attendance had greatly diminished. There were several causes for this, he said, one of the main ones being the advent of the motor car. He urged the congregation to take into their consideration their souls.

Turning again to the happy side of the consecration the bishop said: "We ought to be happy today. Today is a day of great rejoicing and this happiness in the completion of this fine structure can be greatly increased by personal gifts for making it still more beautiful." His Lordship urged the congregation to reconstruct and dedicate their lives with the consecration of the church. In concluding his sermon, Bishop Ridwell said: "Let us hope that the work will thrive in this church for centuries to come."

Death of Mrs. G. MacDonald.
Death came peacefully on Wednesday to Mary MacDonald, aged eighty-one, wife of George MacDonald, at Pembroke, following a two weeks' illness. Born in Stafford in 1837, she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, pioneer settlers of that township. On Dec. 14th, 1868, she was married in Wilberforce to George MacDonald, after which they moved to Westmeath where they lived for twenty years. Moving to Pembroke in 1888 they took up residence on McKay street. Seven years ago they celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding—on December 14th, 1918.

A Joyful Christmas.

A log is crackling merrily in the fireplace. The joyful laughter of children playing with the good things Santa Claus has brought fills the room. The grown folks with much ado are delving deep into socks and stockings and the luscious odor of turkey and pudding is escaping from the kitchen.

It is Christmas morning back home. All the children and grandchildren are gathered together for a happy Yuletide. Will you be absent from this joyous gathering—will there be one empty place at the table? Of course not. Let the home folks know that you will be there to add to and enjoy the good cheer. THE LOCARNO PACT SIGNING—Here is a photograph of a scene that will go down in history. It portrays the culmination of one of the greatest moves for peace in the history of modern Europe. It shows the signing of the Locarno agreement in the gold room of the foreign office at London. This picture records the actual signing by Premier Baldwin on behalf of Great Britain. Grouped around him are plenipotentiaries of Germany, Belgium, France, Italy, Poland and Czechoslovakia, about to sign the piece of paper that pledges their nations to mutual trust and peace.
