21st Battalion Men, Attention! The Editor of the British Whig: Sir - I am trying to get in touch with some of the members of the old 21st Battalion. I have written repeatedly to various ones, including Col. H. E. Pease, but I cannot seem to get a letter to them. I have been writing in care of the Armories, thinking perhaps they had formed some manner of a club, and so receive mail. However, I am writing to you for aid in this difficulty if your kindness will permit.

I enlisted in Kingston Nov. 3rd, 1914, and returned with the regiment, so am well known to those left of the originals that returned.

My object is, if possible, to obtain a reproduction of a group of N.C.O.'s and C.O. taken at military camp, Surrey, England, after the boys came from France, and I am prepared to stand any reasonable expense involved. If you can help me in this I shall be extremely obliged to you.

Sincerely yours, -W. CLARKE, 1716 State Street, Milwaukee, Wis. Regimental No. 59163 (Sergt.).

Boy Losses Right Arm. St. Catharines, Dec. 14. -Robert Cadney, 16-year-old son of Norman Cadney of Homer, had his right arm amputated at the General Hospital, last night as the result of an accident on his father's farm at Homer where he was shooting rabbits yesterday morning. He stumbled and caught the trigger of a shot gun in some underbrush, the charge entering his right arm at close range.

The one-horse shay came to an end all at once. Many modern vehicles achieve the same spectacular finale. Clusters of white or colored violets are used very effectively on the new spring hats.
