

Entertainment
Buster Keaton
 "GO WEST"

The Daily British Whig

Entertainment
Gloria Swanson
 "STAGE STRUCK"

YEAR 95: No. 5.

KINGSTON, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1926.

LAST EDITION

CANADA'S FIFTEENTH PARLIAMENT OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

HOUSE OF COMMONS MEETS MERELY TO ELECT SPEAKER

Formal Opening by Governor-General Will Take Place on Friday Afternoon--What Speech From Throne Will Likely Contain--Prolonged Debate Expected on Amendment.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—The House of Commons met at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the election of its speaker. All through the morning commissioners had been administering the oath to members who had each signed the illuminated book known technically as "the roll." And seated in their chamber, the members of the fifteenth Parliament of Canada awaited the resounding knock on the door and the bowing Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod who announced, in the old formal phrase "that His Honor the deputy of the Governor-General desires the immediate attendance of this honorable house in the chamber of the honorable senate."

But in the senate chamber the members did not remain long. They were informed by Speaker Bostock of the Senate that the Governor-General did not intend to declare the causes of his summoning the present parliament until the Speaker of the House of Commons shall have to make it a straight vote of non-confidence in the Government. The amendment will probably be based on the claim that the Government has lost the confidence of the people and has no constitutional authority to remain in office.

Probabilities are that Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, will himself move the amendment early next week.

Debate May Be Prolonged. The vote, however, may not come till after prolonged debate. With so many new members of the House, it is quite likely that the speaking list on both sides will be long. Should the Government be sustained, an adjournment of the House for a month or five weeks will probably be asked to enable cabinet reorganization to be effected and by-elections to be held.

It is not till Friday—following the election of a Speaker of the Commons—that the Governor-General will formally open Parliament with the Speech from the Throne. A document, it is stated, of many revisions, the Speech from the Throne was again before the cabinet yesterday afternoon for last-minute changes.

Its terms will not be made known till Friday but among its more important provisions will probably be indication of lower taxation as announced by Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, during the election campaign. Reduction in income and sales tax are reported to be in view although specific information under this head is not likely to be available till the budget is brought down.

The Speech, it is stated, will also indicate legislation to give effect to the Canada-West Indies treaty concluded last year. The plan of last session: a rural credit scheme; an immigration and colonization scheme following on the new agreement for reduced fares for British immigrants recently concluded between the British and Canadian governments; return of natural resources to Alberta.

There is also talk of a commission on Marine rights, of a pledge to complete the Hudson's Bay Railway, and consolidating the C. N. R. debt. Also, no doubt, the speech will speak of trade developments, particularly in exports, and of the bountiful wheat harvest.

Although the legislatures of some of the West India islands have approved the Canada-West Indies trade treaty, it has not yet been discussed in the Canadian Parliament, and still needs its ratification. During the campaign, the treaty met with considerable Conservative criticism. Its path through Parliament may be a stoppage one.

Expectations among members are that the session will be replete with surprises, with the ever-present likelihood of a snap division.

LIBERALS CLAIM MAJORITY.

Of Seven or Eight And Look For Two Sessions.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Government supporters claim that they will have a normal majority of at least seven or eight, and there is talk among them of a couple of sessions before another dissolution. They lay stress on the claim that there is no general desire for another election this year and argue that this will be an important factor in preventing the defeat of the Government.

The Conservatives on the other hand take the ground that the Government has no mandate, and are preparing for an attack. The Whips of all parties have strenuous and exciting days ahead.

POTATO PRICE DROPS.

As Chicago Is Well Supplied With Canadian Spuds.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Up-to-date 1,370 carloads of Canadian potatoes, duty paid, have rivalled domestic potatoes. It is officially stated here, and after outdoing all recent high price records, the humble spuds are taking a gradual curve downward again—a little nearer to the ordinary

CARDINAL MERCIER'S CONDITION UNCHANGED.

Brussels, Jan. 7.—It is learned that Cardinal Mercier last night expressed a desire to receive the Holy Sacraments, although his condition had not become aggravated, remaining stationary. Accordingly, the sacraments were administered in the strictest privacy.

The importation of wheat into the United States from India, Japan, China, Australia, the Union of South Africa, Italy and Spain, is prohibited.

The Opening of Parliament

The upper picture is that of Premier King; the middle one that of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party, and the lower one Mr. Robert Forke, leader of the Progressives. The main tower of the Parliament Buildings is seen.

MOOR VESSELS TRADE WITH MONTREAL PORT

Montreal, Jan. 7.—The annual report of the port warden shows that a new record was established in 1925, in the number of vessels trading to the port of Montreal. The figures for overseas vessels in 1924 were exceeded by 73 in last season.

DUCHESS PREPARES TO FIGHT DIVORCE

Former Actress Says She Will Fight Duke's Suit to Last Ditch.

London, Jan. 7.—The Duchess of Leinster, formerly Miss May Ethridge, musical comedy actress, told The Evening News correspondent at Bournemouth yesterday that she would fight the Duke's divorce suit to "the last ditch."

"The lady in America who is hoping for my title will never get it," she declared.

The Duchess is living in reduced circumstances in a humble cottage in the poorer section of Swanage, Dorsetshire.

ONTARIO WEATHER MILD.

Haze and Fog in North and East is Showing.

Englehart, Jan. 7.—The weather throughout Northern Ontario has been extremely mild during the past week. Yesterday a mild breeze was blowing from the south with a light rain. Out in the open places a haze and fog bring the horizon of observation to less than a mile, a condition perhaps without a precedent in weather records of this part of the country.

Automobiles are in general use over all the roads. In the ploughed fields along the countryside the jagged edges of the upturned earth are projecting through the light blanket of snow.

This condition prevails at all points along the T. & N.O. Railway, and is also characteristic of conditions in North-Western Quebec. From various directions come predictions that this will be the earliest winter on record in Northern Ontario.

One reason is that cones on the evergreens are conspicuous by their absence, and that wasps in the bush have built their nests on branches within only a foot or so of the earth.

A German Dictatorship.

Berlin, Jan. 7.—The imminent danger of a military dictatorship in Germany unless a government based on the so-called big coalition can be constituted in the Reichstag has been pointed out in emphatic terms to the Socialist parliamentary leaders by representatives of the Democratic and Catholic Centre parties.

In Manitoba, revenue from the provincial tax on gasoline and automobile licenses, may be earmarked exclusively for construction and maintenance of roads.

LIKENS WOMEN TO COSMETIZED CLOWNS

New York, Jan. 7.—American women are developing into a race of cosmetized clowns, Mrs. Ruth J. Maurer, head of a national chain of beauty shops, told the national convention of beauty shop owners yesterday.

"Nine out of ten women," she said, "bungle and abuse cosmetic art."

PRICE OF CIVILIZATION.

Sir Arbuthnot Lane, Says World Is Eating Too Much.

London, Jan. 7.—The cave man, with only his limited food resources, chose a more sensible and healthful diet than his civilized descendant does, Sir W. Arbuthnot Lane, of England's most eminent surgeons, said in an address to members of the Incorporated Association of Preparatory Schools. The famous surgeon, just back from a six weeks' visit to the United States, contended that with tempting food displayed in the shops, the homes and almost everywhere, the world is eating entirely too much.

"We seem to be paying a terrible price for civilization," said Sir Arbuthnot, explaining that modern men try to consume three or four times as much food as the savage had for his active life. This "overloading" is the principal cause of cancer and appendicitis, he declared.

BOARD OF EDUCATION ELECTS L. T. BEST

As Its Chairman at Inaugural Meeting—Mayor Angrove Asks for Economy.

Trustee L. T. Best, druggist, was elected chairman of the Board of Education for 1926, at the inaugural meeting held on Wednesday night.

Mr. Best has served seven years on the board, has been a member of the various committees, and last year was chairman of the property committee.

Mayor Angrove was present, and the members elected in the recent election, and those appointed by the City Council, were sworn in by His Worship, who also addressed the members of the board. In his address he congratulated the newly-elected chairman. He asked that "economy" be the keynote of the board this year, so that the council could make a further reduction in the tax rate.

He had favored the building of the new school in Rideau ward. He felt that it was a necessity, but he reminded the trustees that the upkeep of the school would entail a big sum each year of $7,500 and this was quite an item. There would also be extra expenditure in operating Louisa school as proposed.

He felt sure that the council would receive the co-operation of the board. It was the intention of the council to open up some of the streets in the vicinity of the new school.

"Be as economical as you can," said the mayor. "Lower taxes mean a satisfied public." This has been established in Kingston.

Trustee J. G. Elliott thanked the Mayor for his address on behalf of the board, and assured him and his colleagues in the council, of the warm support of the board in the endeavor to keep down the tax rate.

Chairman Best returned his thanks to the members, for the honor conferred on him. "I deeply appreciate the honor," he said.

The newly-elected chairman also extended a warm welcome to the new members, W. D. Johnston, Charles Anglin and Dr. H. Stewart. He spoke of the work of the various committees, and paid a tribute to the retiring chairman, Mrs. Newlands.

The Committees Appointed. Trustee Campbell submitted the following report of the committees appointed to strike the standing committees, which was adopted, the first name on each committee to be the chairman:

Management.—Trustees Bishop, Newlands, Mills, Moore and Wightman.

Property.—Trustees Baldwin, Anglin, Godwin, Lemmon and Milo.

Health.—Trustees Revelle, Cooke, Day, Elliott and Stewart.

Finance.—Trustees Best, Bishop, Baldwin, Revelle and Metcalfe.

Commercial.—Trustees Metcalfe, Baldwin, Separate School Representative, and Johnston; Messrs. F. R. Anglin, T. D. Minnes and J. F. Rowland.

Industrial.—Trustees Lemmon, Bishop, Milo, Separate School Representative; Messrs. J. M. Campbell, C. C. Folger, C. A. MacPherson, and H. C. Welch.

A TRADE MARK IS SUGGESTED FOR CANADA'S DAIRY PRODUCTS

The Deputy Minister of Agriculture Introduces Question at Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Convention--Dr. J. W. Edwards Classes Dairying the Greatest Single Industry.

Mr. W. B. Roadhouse, deputy-minister of Agriculture for Ontario, was the chief speaker at the Wednesday evening session of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Convention, in the unavoidable absence of Hon. J. S. Martin. Mr. Roadhouse touched on the dairy industry from several angles, and among other suggestions he asked the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association to consider whether or not the time was favorable to adopt a national trade mark, which should be placed on all dairy products going to the export market.

Mr. Roadhouse said that he noticed from the programme, that this was the forty-ninth annual convention of the association, which he took as an evidence of permanency, and its permanency was an indication of its usefulness. He spoke of the brighter outlook of the dairy industry, and how the Canadian products were gaining ground in the export markets.

"The industry is maintaining its hold on the British market," he said, but in this connection the speaker pointed out that competition was never keener, and that it was likely to become more keen. He mentioned New Zealand and the Argentine particularly, as competitors of Canada, and he said that the United States even believed that there was the possibility of the invasion of their market by New Zealand.

Mr. Roadhouse pointed out that in New Zealand, every effort was being strained to maintain and increase the place she had won, particularly in the market of Great Britain. Australia was also a serious competitor, he said. To offset this serious competition, he advocated the rigid maintenance of the standard of quality in Canada, and he said that the department which he represented was keenly interested in this phase.

Co-operative marketing was also suggested by the speaker, and he mentioned that one of the largest co-operative marketing concerns in Ontario had just concluded a most successful year.

At this juncture, he introduced the question of a national trade mark, to take the place of certain grades of dairy products. He believed that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

Great Single Industry. Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P., declared that the dairy industry had never received fair consideration from any government in Canada. He classed it as the greatest single industry in Canada, and as such he believed that it was due more consideration than had heretofore been given it.

By reason of the fact that a great deal of surplus butter is manufactured in Canada each year, the speaker advocated a higher tariff, and said that if he had the power, he would put the tariff so high that the foreign butters would be a sea of grease before they could get over it.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

Dr. Edwards referred to the prize won by cheesemakers and butter-makers of Frontenac county, in competition with the world, and he said that he believed that these wins had the effect of creating a demand for Canadian dairy products in the export market, and increasing the market price of them.

Among other suggestions made for the improvement of the dairy industry, the member for Frontenac-Aldington said that he thought an appeal board to re-grade cheese, where the maker believed that he had not been treated fairly, would be a splendid thing. At present, the maker has no redress from the arbitrary grading at the exporting points.

Dr. Edwards was strong in his denunciation of oleomargarine.

A Civic Welcome. In the unavoidable absence of Mayor Angrove, Ald. R. E. Kent extended to the convention, the very hearty welcome of the corporation of the city of Kingston. The establishing of the dairy school had done much to improve the dairy industry in the vicinity of Kingston, said Ald. Kent.

He referred to the Hemlock Park Stock Farm, which is in the vicinity of Kingston, as one of the finest on the continent, and he advised the delegates if they had time, to visit this institution, as well as the many points of historical interest in Kingston.

Sid. Fox's Serenaders, Miss Yates, Miss Rogers and Miss Cooke all added to the musical part of the programme.

Need of Cleanliness. George H. Barr, newly-appointed director of dairying, stressed cleanliness in the manufacture of dairy products above everything else, in his address before the Dairymen's Convention on Wednesday afternoon.

The perfect attention given the speakers and the many questions asked, indicated the keen interest taken by the delegates in the matters which were being discussed.

The most important change in dairying for a long time, was suggested by the speaker, when he declared that he thought that cheesemakers and buttermakers should be given first, second and third class certificates. Just as is done in the case of school teachers, the standard for a first-class man, as outlined by the director of dairying, was that he should make 93 or 94 per cent. first grade cheese; that he should be able to test milk, and that he have a dairy school diploma or its equivalent.

"Ninety per cent. of the producers are sending in milk that will make up into grade one cheese," declared the speaker, and he said that one of his greatest problems was to evolve a plan to cope with the other ten per cent. He believed that the setting of standards for the cheese makers would be a step on the way, for any cheesemaker who accepted bad milk could have his certificate revoked, and any cheesemaker who accepted milk which he knew another maker had refused, would suffer the same consequences.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

He said that if each grade had a distinctively national trade mark, and that a certain quality was guaranteed by that trade mark, that it would have a greater selling power in the export market than the grading by numbers.

A TRAPPER FACED DEATH FOR HIS PAL

Tended Him in Illness, Then Dug Grave and Buried Him.

Fort William, Jan. 7.—Out of the epidemic of smallpox at the little railway hamlet of Aitkohan, west of here, has emerged a heroic figure, and villagers are today singing the praises of Al Smith, trapper, who for ten days and night faced death tending his buddy in a lonely shack until his pal finally succumbed to the dread disease.

In the role of nurse, undertaker, gravedigger and even parson, Smith watched over his dying pal until death ended his suffering. His act is acclaimed the bravest in the history of the village and public recognition will be paid.

QUEEN'S MEN TO MEET BRITISH DEBATERS

Messrs. Alexander Edmison, John Landsbury and E. Russell Smith Are Chosen.

The team to represent Queen's University in the debate with team of Great Britain in Grant Hall on February 5th, has been announced, and is constituted as follows: Messrs. Alexander Edmison, John Landsbury and E. Russell Smith.

The subject to be debated is "Resolved that the British Government is justified in fortifying and developing the naval base at Singapore."

This question, of which the Queen's debaters will uphold the affirmative, is a very wide one, embracing as it does the British foreign policy in the East.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

The Queen's University team is composed of men who have all had previous inter-collegiate debating experience and they have been heard at work for some time gathering material on the subject under discussion. It is felt in debating circles at the University that the opportunity to discuss international questions with young men from Great Britain will greatly stimulate debating here, and that it will be very valuable experience for those privileged to take part and to listen. The British team is composed of representatives from Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh.

AGED LADY MURDERED IN HER LONELY HOME

As She Was About to Put Batch of Biscuits in the Oven.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Murdered by an unknown assailant as she was about to put a batch of biscuits in the oven, Miss May Kilfoyle, aged seventy years, was found lying in her lonely farm home near Manotick, fifteen miles from here. She died on her way to hospital without regaining consciousness.

Napoleon Pelletier of Manotick, alleged to have been in Miss Kilfoyle's employment, was arrested in Ottawa last night, suspected of the crime.

Say He Has Confessed. Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Police report that Napoleon Pelletier 21-year-old farm helper and lumberjack has confessed that he killed Miss Kilfoyle.

Canadian Magazine Sold. Toronto, Jan. 7.—The Canadian Magazine Publishing Company, Limited, has been sold to Hugh C. McLean, Limited. The managing editor of the Canadian Magazine was Mr. Newton MacTavish.

Weather Probabilities. Friday fair, with stationary or higher temperatures.

NOTABLE DAIRYMEN AT THE CONVENTION

John R. Dargavel Identified With Dairy Interests of Eastern Ontario 50 Years.

There are a number of notables in attendance at the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's convention but none more outstanding than John R. Dargavel, honorary president of the association and for fifty years identified with the dairy interests of Eastern Ontario. Mr. Dargavel was for ten years representative of Leeds county in the legislature.

Others well known in dairy circles are George Smart, of the D. Derbyshire Co., of Brockville, one of the pioneer dairy industries; J. F. Hill, M.P.P. for East Hastings and very prominent in Eastern Ontario dairy circles; Lt.-Col. Andrew Gray, M.P.P. for Leeds; and E. J. Smith of the White Facking Co., of Brockville, one of the largest dairy businesses in Eastern Ontario.

Mr. T. A. Thompson, of Almonte, the very capable secretary of the association, stated that he did not think a more representative group of dairy producers, manufacturers and representatives of dairy supply houses had ever gathered in Eastern Ontario before. He estimated the attendance at the Wednesday afternoon session at almost three hundred.

Whig's Classified Page

Are you taking advantage of the Whig's Classified Page? This is a page that should be given the same careful attention as the other pages.

Are you in need of a cook? Are you in need of general help? If so let the Whig's Classified Page work for you.

Are you seeking employment? Refer to the Whig's Classified Page. There are several positions open.

Another thirty-inch rise of River Seine will bring disaster to Paris.