MARITAL SELECTIVITY

Why Do Men Wed Their Social and Mental Inferiors?

By Cynthia Grey.

Our friend, De Wolf Hopper, has been married a few weeks, a long time for him. But even so, the comments continue to come from some of his erstwhile wives as to why the girls just will fall in love with De Wolf.

Perhaps the numerosity of the X wives makes the comments. It takes so long to go around.

Anyway, I see by the papers that one of the X Madame Hoppers explains De Wolf's fatal fascination thus:

"It's his intelligence! His great mind! His stupendous mind! You just listen, all fascinated!"

"Why, I was only a girl in the 20's and he was 67, and I never thought once of his old shriveled-up legs! His mind was so fascinating!"

And there you have it! The eternal, abiding, everlasting difference 'twixt the male and female viewpoint on this thing called matrimony!

Imagine, if you can, any man saying seriously:

"I never even noticed her old, shriveled-up legs. Her mind was oh, so fascinating! It just held me spell-bound! Really, old top, I can't tell you whether the Jane has black or blue eyes and whether she's a perfect 16 or a perfect 56!"

I watched a friend in action the other evening. We had been talking about the probable or improbable accuracy of a certain chapter in Well's "Outlines of History."

"Old stuff, of course. But one does get so left behind in this day of complex living!"

The doorbell rang and a gentleman came to call. With the entrance of the male of the species the very last vestige of intelligence was wiped from my friend's face. In its place came the well-known "you're so strong" expression!

One could almost hear her lip—"It's jus' wonderful the way you great big busy men keep up with everything!"

When he had gone I looked my amazement.

"Just concealing my latent intelligence, old thing," she told me, proceeding to lay her cards on the table.

"I like him. I want his company. He has a brain. Do you think for a moment he'd bother with me if he wasn't darn sure that he was my mental superior?"

Yesterday a professor in my home town university married a freshman with baby-blue eyes and a rosebud mouth—also adenoids and a lip!

The manager of a national advertising agency married a typist!

A prominent doctor married a patient who couldn't spell or talk correctly.

A certain Ph. D. I know married the stenographer who typed his doctor's thesis!

No, I'm not being snobbish! I'm not saying that a freshman, a typist, a stenographer, or a patient who can't spell, aren't the salt of the earth!

But— I happen to know that the Dean of Women in this same college loved this professor—

That the chief copy writer in the agency loved the agency manager—

That the head of the nursing school loved the doctor—

That a woman author loved the Ph. D.

And each and all of them might have been goldfish or 20,000 leagues under the sea so far as their amorous targets were concerned!

An observing spectator of this thing called "love" oft-asks these questions:

Do men insist on mental, vocational, professional, and even economic inferiors, if they marry at all?

Does mere unreasoning biological instinct function more strongly in man than woman when it comes to marital selection?

shriveled minds? Just a little dog biscuit for thought!

BURIAL AT STRATFORD.

Of the Little Daughter of Dr. Dennis Jordan.

The funeral of Mary Jordan, the 9-year-old twin daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dennis Jordan of Toronto, was held at Stratford on Wednesday. Scores of Stratford friends met the train to offer sympathy to the family, and proceeded to the local cemetery, where interment took place.

Professor W. G. Jordan of Queen's University, Kingston, grandfather of the deceased, conducted the service.

Among those from a distance to attend the funeral were: J. B. Hunter of Ottawa, Deputy Minister of Public Works, accompanied by Mrs. Hunter; W. S. Calvert, ex-M.P. for West Middlesex; George S. Stewart, Sidney Sutherland, Mr. Livingstone, all of Toronto; Judge Ross of St. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Watson Yonge of London, together with Miss Auld of Toronto, and Mrs. Jordan of Kingston, and Dr. and Mrs. Dennis Jordan the bereaved parents.

Death of James Foley.

Monday evening, after a short illness, James Foley passed away at his home, Hard Island, at the advanced age of eighty-four years. He followed farming. He was very well known throughout the community. Surviving are two sons and three daughters, namely, Vance Foley, Plum Hollow; Bryce Foley, at home; Mrs. David Young, Athens; Mrs. W. Topping and Mrs. George Gardner, both of Brockville. He also leaves two brothers and two sisters. They are, Messrs. Frank Foley, Athens; Charles Foley, Lake Bloude; Mrs. James Castle, in Michigan; and Mrs. J. Lawson, Los Angeles, Cal. In religion the deceased was a Methodist, a member of the United Church.

Inverary Notes.

Inverary, Jan. 5.—Rev. Dr. Adamson has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness as to be able to take the service at his regular appointments on Sunday. Mrs. McNaughton, Sydenham, will be present at the monthly meeting of the Women's Institute, on Jan. 12th, and will deliver an address on Federation.

William Lappan has returned to Kingston after spending a few days at Elwood, Thompson's. Mrs. Tina Chrisley is spending a few days at Richard Arthur's. A number of the young people spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Allan Sands on New Year's Eve. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Webb at the home of her father E. F. Dennee, a daughter.

THE GIRL SCOUTS

And the Campfire Girls are two national organizations working side by side in the cause of healthy, happy, intelligent womanhood. They are training the minds of eager girls for greater service, and their bodies to be healthy and strong. Wise mothers of these girls in their early teens urge them frankly to depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when they are assailed by woman's pains or ailments, as for three generations it has proved to be the most dependable medicine for women.
