BEAUTY

Gleamy, Thick, Wavy Hair in a Moment

Girls! Try this! When combing and brushing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can dress your hair immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy, an abundance of gleamy, wavy hair, sparkling with life, incomparably soft, fresh, youthful.

Besides beautifying the hair, a 25-cent bottle of refreshing, fragrant "Danderine" from any drug or toilet counter will do wonders, particularly if the hair is dry, thin, brittle, faded or streaked with gray from constant curling and waving which bars the color, lustre and very life from any woman's hair. "Danderine" acts on the hair like fresh showers of rain and sunshine set on vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, stopping falling hair and helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

HUMANE SOCIETY'S SPLENDID SERVICE

It Protects Suffering Dumb Animals — All Citizens Asked to Give Their Aid.

Very little is known by the average citizen about the work of the Kingston Humane Society and how it functions in the interests of the dumb animals of the city and surrounding country, for as many cases are handled in the country as there are in the city. The Kingston Humane Society is affiliated with the Ontario Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, which has the legal right to prosecute all offenders of the law of the Society.

Mr. J. R. C. Dobbs, president of the local association, in commenting on the work in Kingston, said that it was greatly handicapped in several ways by the lack of funds and by the lack of the support of the magistrates, who do not impose sufficiently large enough fines. He was not in favor of imposing heavy fines in all cases but he thought that in some cases it was the only way to impress the offender. He also thought that education was a much better way of coping with those who, through ignorance, were offenders.

The animals that by far suffer most at the hands of mankind were the horses which are the most intelligent of animals. The treatment that some horses receive at the hands of their drivers is deplorable. The work of the Kingston Society in the interests of the horse is very interesting. A case was reported from the country where the horses were kept in the depth of winter in a miserable ramshackle of a stable with a roof that was not a roof at all. When the society's inspector visited the scene, he found that a horse which was very much in need of nutrition, had a veritable snow drift on its back and was almost dead from exposure. The animal was immediately disposed of by the inspector and the owner was prosecuted. Another sad case that recently came to the notice of the society was that existing on a farm in the vicinity of Kingston. An old horse which had been used during the fall plowing was turned loose in a field which was covered with snow and where the animal was presumably left to starve. The suffering animal was unable to paw up the snow to get at the frozen grass because of the condition of its feet, which were badly deformed because of over work. When the inspector arrived, he found that the animal's mouth was badly cut and bleeding from its attempts to bite through the hard snow to reach the grass.

These are only a few of the more graphic cases handled by the society, where work is carried on mainly by the love of a few men and women of the city for dumb animals. The charter of the Humane Society allows the officers to go anywhere they might suspect that maltreatment of animals. The work of the society in the city has mainly to do with cats, dogs and other pets, which, as in the case of cats sometimes run wild and are a nuisance in their neighborhood. It is the duty of every citizen to bring all such animals to the veterinary inspector, Dr. William Nicholls, 134 Clarence street, where the animals will be disposed of in the lethal chamber.

The following is a summary of the society for one month: Animals destroyed, 7 dogs, 35 cats, and 4 horses. Four horses were relieved of all work because of bad condition and the drivers of twenty-five horses were forced to stop horses that they were driving without them. Seven owners of horses were ordered to repair and clean their stables. A number of horses, which were suffering from broken blinders, were relieved from this nuisance. All cases of maltreatment of dumb animals should be reported immediately to J. R. C. Dobbs at 44 Clarence street, or to Mr. R. E. Ward, 19 Rideau street (telephone 2260).

Fewer Babies. The birth rate in London has declined at the rate of 4800 a year for the last four years, a report of the medical officer of health shows. The birth rate has shown a consistent decline for the last 56 years, the report states, but it has fallen off alarmingly since the war. If the present rate continues the next census will show only about 100,000 children less than five years old.
