Royal Bank Completes Most Successful Year

Sir Herbert Holt, President, in Address to Shareholders, Deals With More Important Problems of the Country.
D. E. Neill, General Manager, Reviewing Statement, States Bank Has Never Before Been in Such a Strong Position.

The annual meeting of shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada held at the head office of the bank was marked by most interesting addresses by Sir Herbert Holt, the President, and D. E. Neill, the General Manager.
The bank had had one of the most successful years in its history and as a result total assets had reached the record figure of $738,478,775, an increase of $204,659,265, the greatest in any one year.
Sir Herbert Holt in his address dealt more particularly with the urgent problems which Canada still has to work out. He was convinced that the consolidation of Canada's great railway systems on a basis that would not penalize the past efficiency and economy on the part of the privately owned railway was the only practical means of quickly eliminating the present enormous loss.
Mr. Neill reviewed the growth and expansion of the bank, more particularly since the absorption of the Union Bank of Canada and the Bank of Central and South America.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.
Sir Herbert Holt, President, in his address said, in part:
"Turning to conditions in Canada, we can see in different quarters encouraging indications of improvement. The usual statistics which reflect the volume of business, indicate a tendency to expansion. The cumulative totals of Bank Deposits and car loadings are slightly above the corresponding figures of last year. Foreign trade continues to increase and for the first eleven months ended November 12th, 1925, reached a value of $1,920,048,938, being an increase of $227,701,250 over the corresponding period of last year. Considering that the general level of commodity prices has been comparatively stable, the higher value of foreign trade is particularly significant of improved conditions."
"Commercial failures, both in number and extent of liabilities, are lower than for some years. Building operations have been more active. The total value of contracts awarded in the first eleven months was $25,297,709, as compared with $247,958,500 last year. Mineral production records are extremely gratifying. Gold, lead, zinc, nickel, copper and many other minerals show increases in production. The value of the output of minerals in Canada for the year 1925 reached a total of $228,446,000 in comparison with $209,832,406 for last year and the previous record of $227,859,665 attained in 1920.

"News print production was about 11.4% higher than in 1924 and the combined output of the Canadian mills for the eleven months of last year was 1,282,121 tons, which was only 7,854 tons less than the total production of the United States mills in the same period. If our forests are properly conserved, this industry will become a steadily increasing asset to Canada."
"I cannot pass over the development of our national power industry without comment. In November, the central stations of Canada produced 25,526,000 kilowatt hours; this is equivalent to nearly twice the per capita power production in the United States. Inaccessibility of coal and other factors are making Canada one of the great electrical power producing countries of the world.
The full realization of what home utilization of this power means in the development of home manufacturing is producing a consensus of opinion conclusively opposed to power export."
"A distinct change for the better has come over the basic industry of agriculture and this is the most important element in the general situation. A splendid crop has been harvested in practically all parts of the country. The final estimates of the wheat crop are better than the preliminary figures and place the total yield at 422,327,000 bush, an increase of 160,230,900 bush over last year, which represent the second largest crop in our history. With prices at the present level it is estimated that the total value of Canadian wheat crops this year was about $500,000 more than in 1924.

"Not that trade and industrial prospects are uniformly good or the national outlook clear of anxiety. Canada has many serious problems to face, the present industrial situation is not satisfactory. Several of our most important industries are in a state of depression; immigration figures make unsatisfactory reading; our railway problem is still unsolved; the burden of taxation is unrelieved and our national finances are not moving in the right direction."
"Too Much Government."
"The country is overburdened with Government and there is urgent need

"UNGUARDED HOUR."
Stars Milton Sills in Romantic Role at Capitol.

What would happen if a flippant, thrill seeking young American girl should set her cap for a conservative, woman hating young foreign nobleman?
This situation forms the unique theme of "The Unguarded Hour," a First National picture, which opens at the Capitol Theatre to-day. Milton Sills is starred as the nobleman, and Doris Kenyon has the featured role of the young American girl.
An excellent supporting cast has been chosen for this picture. Jed Froudy, Claude King, Dolores Costello, Cornelius Keefe, Lorna Doreen, Vivian Ogden, and Charles Beyer all deserve more than passing praise for their work.

ATTIRED IN SUIT OF EMPLOYER'S CLOTHING

Young Man Is Missing From Farm—Other Articles Also Missing.
A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Frank Chase, an address, who stole a quantity of goods belonging to Mr. John McAllister, Pittsburgh, on Saturday.
The young man was engaged to work for Mr. McAllister, who has a large farm in the township of Pittsburgh, on Friday. He was a very fine appearing chap, and members of the family thought he would be a good man to have around the farm. Chase said that he came from Toronto and was in search of employment. Mr. McAllister agreed to give him employment for a period of one year.
On Saturday, while Mr. and Mrs. McAllister were in Kingston, the young man left for parts unknown, and when the members of the family made an investigation, they found that a brand new suit of clothes belonging to Mr. McAllister, which had never been worn, two gold watches, fountain pen and many other articles were missing.
It is thought that Chase may have jumped a freight train for Montreal. It is claimed that he was so nervous that after stealing the articles he donned the suit of clothes and shaved himself with Mr. McAllister's razor. He called on a nearby neighbor and from that time until now no word has been heard of him.
The accused is about twenty-two years old and it is understood that he came from Toronto. Another report states that he was living in Detroit and that he was deported for not having proper papers.
It is also stated that Chase locked the door of the house and took the key away with him and that when Mr. McAllister came home he had to get into the house via one of the windows.
Provincial Constable MacLachlan is working on the case.

GIFT PRESENTED TO SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKER

Miss Wilder Was Honored by Princess Street Church Sunday School.
The Sunday School of Princess Street Church gave full rein to its enthusiasm on Sunday, when all its departments assembled in the church auditorium, to honor one who had for a number of years, been its beloved and gifted guide as superintendent. Miss Emma Wilder. Most of the reason of the gathering, only the one for whom the occasion was called was to be uninformed. As Miss Wilder had been well and also in poor health for a time, the gathering was to welcome her back, and mark the school's appreciation of her splendid services.
Mr. E. E. Parkhouse, assisted by Mr. George Pound, called Miss Wilder to the platform and asked Mrs. Brebner, one of the oldest workers of the school, to come forward and make an address and also read one, which she most fittingly performed. Rev. L. M. England was also called to speak, being the pastor of the church when the choice of Miss Wilder as superintendent was first made, and of her initial success and growing favor in the work. The little Norma Redmond, of the primary department, stepped up and placed in Miss Wilder's hand the gift of the school, a beautiful wrist-watch, which the teachers and scholars showed their warm appreciation in vigorous applause and the Chatauqua wave.
The address presented to Miss Wilder warmly welcomed her home, expressed pleasure at her return to good health and to her duties. Special mention was made of her loyalty to duty, her ability and devotion.
Miss Wilder's reply, in restrained emotion, was a beautiful and loyal contribution to the support of the workers of the school all these years, who had "toiled together" to make the school the present success. She thanked all who had thus contributed to the gift and occasion and felt that she had secured in the work in spiritual enrichment the largest contribution of all.
Proof that pedestrians are poor is that none has endowed his pet emergency ward.
But isn't it just as sporting to become a professional player as a professional coach?
Sunday is used by some as a day of self admiration.

PRO. GAME ENDS IN A BIG RIOT

Five Arrested in Montreal Saturday Night When Maroons Beat Canadians.
Montreal, Jan. 18.—Montreal Maroons shut out the Canadians 1 to 0 before a record crowd of 12,450 wildly excited spectators, who jammed the Forum to its utmost limit Saturday night, capturing the most exciting and nerve wracking battle waged between the two local pro hockey rivals since the inception of the intra-borough clashes in the N. H. L. one year and a half ago.
Nelson Stewart, tricky Maroon centre, scored the winning goal nine minutes after the start of the final period. The tally sent the crowd of Montreal supporters into the wildest scenes of joy. But this uproar was as nothing to the disgraceful outburst which occurred two minutes before the end of the contest when bottles, coins, watches and any other hard missiles were thrown to the ice by a crowd of hooligans in the rosters' section. Attempts by the ushers and plainclothes men to eject the offenders caught throwing the bottles led to a series of fights, as sympathizers interfered on behalf of the culprits—and the entire rosters' section became a seething riot. It took five minutes to quell the disturbance and clear the ice of the debris. Five alleged offenders were arrested by the police. The bottle-throwing started when Moroz was carried off the ice, completely knocked out by a heavy body-check from Reg. Noble at the Montreal defence.

Canadian Banks In Better Position To Serve Public

—C. E. NEILL, GENERAL MANAGER, ROYAL BANK.
One of the most complete and authoritative statements ever submitted regarding the Canadian banking system and the present banking situation was made by C. E. Neill, General Manager of The Royal Bank of Canada, at the annual meeting.

Addressing the shareholders, Mr. Neill said:
"Through amalgamation, the number of banks in Canada has been slowly reduced until the present situation is analogous to the condition existing in Great Britain, where the great bulk of the banking assets of the country is in the hands of five large banks. Fears have been expressed that the concentration of banking power in the hands of a comparatively few institutions may lead to bad results, such as slackening of competition or neglect of local interests. The feeling in regard to competition seems to have had its inception in the fear of what may happen in the future, rather than as a result of developments to date, for no one can say that the competition between banks is less severe than it has been in the past. We believe that the contrary is the case, and that a large proportion of the savings affected through amalgamations have been passed on to the public in the form of increased service and relatively lower charges."
"The merits of branch banking as compared with a system of unit banks are a subject of debate in the United States to-day, and opponents of branch banking have stressed the advantage to local interests of having their banking business in the hands of local institutions, which are claimed to be more intimately in touch with conditions at the points concerned. For Canada, however, the arguments in favor of branch banking are, in my opinion, immeasurably stronger than anything which can be said on the other side. In the development of new districts in this country the necessary funds have been supplied from older districts, and at much lower average rates than those current in the United States at the same relative stage of development. The banking history of the United States, moreover, contains a long list of banks which have failed, either through lack of proper perspective during boom periods, or because in districts where everything depends on the success of one crop or one industry, the local banks had all their eggs in one basket. I have no hesitation in saying that had Western Canada been served by unit banks the situation in 1921-22 would have been nothing short of calamitous."

"The ideal system is one which can combine a close understanding of local conditions with expert general supervision. For the proper conduct of a banking business something more than local knowledge is required, and in using the words 'expert general supervision' I have in mind the guidance which can be supplied only by executive officers of wide business experience, whose position enables them to keep their finger on the pulse of the world's business. We are endeavoring to meet the situation by the appointment of outstanding business men in different sections of Canada as directors, and by a large measure of decentralization and local autonomy to the executive officers in control of each district."
"A great financial institution such as The Royal Bank of Canada, covering the whole country, must have intimate, persistent and active interest in every part of Canada. We have responsibilities not only to our shareholders, but to a degree which I hope we fully realize, to the public of Canada; in fact, there is no conflict of interest, because it is only to the extent that we contribute to the sound economic development of the country that we shall deserve or receive the confidence of the public. Self-interest will prompt us to secure a diversity of risk through the encouragement of the industries indigenous to the various parts of our country, and to keep always before us the fact that we can achieve the greatest measure of success only if our actions and policies promote and foster the best interests of every part of Canada."

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—A. F. Macallum, Commissioner of Works of this city, and formerly of Hamilton, was nearly asphyxiated in his home here over the week-end due to a leaking gas jet.
He had been suffering from bronchitis and had been ordered home from his work. Dr. T. A. Lomer, city medical officer of health, dropped in to see Mr. Macallum, and found Commissioner of Works overcome by gas fumes. Restorative measures were successfully applied.

Y.M.C.A. Thrift Week.

Sunday was "Share with Others Day" in the National Thrift Week programme, as promoted by the local thrift committee from the Y.M.C.A. Several local clergymen mentioned the importance of giving thought to thrift at their services and pointed out the difference between thrift and miserliness.
To-day, the second day of "Thrift Week," will be known as Thrift Day, and will be devoted to calling the attention of both young and old to the "vital necessity for consistent saving," which according to those in charge of promoting the thrift programme is the most difficult of the three principles of success—work, earn and save.
