A Home With An Exceptionally Convenient Plan

It would be difficult to find a more convenient arranged plan for its size, than the one shown here, For a small house, the sizes of the living-room, dining-room and living-porch are as large as those found in much more expensive houses. The elimination of all hall space on the first floor has much to do with this. The arrangement of the stairs is exceptionally good, they are entirely out of the way and yet most convenient. The long landing which is two steps up from the living-room and kitchen adds to the spaciousness of the living-room.

The kitchen space is very well planned, the diningining alcove quite removed from the sink and range, which is desirable. There are two good cupboards on either side of the sink. The ice box is located in The three bedrooms on the second floor are all of a good size and each has a large closet. There is Nothing has such concentrated also a separate closet for linen from the hall. The bathroom is tiled and all fixtures are of the latest type. There is a shower over the built-in bath

This house also has a large attic space where another bedroom and bath could be fitted up. Wide siding is used on all exterior walls, and would look best painted white. The roofs are covered with slate in variegated shades of green. The blinds and shutters should be painted a bright green. All cornices, window frames, sash door, etc.,

There is a celiar under the entire house, except the living porch, and the laundry and heating plant The complete working plant and specifications of this house may be obtained for a nominal sum from chest. Almost instant relief awaits the Building Editor. Refer to House A-147. Cost about $7,400.
