Whil they came through with a two-gos lead on the play last night, it is no very hard to believe that they coul have made it more had they wante to step in and work but noboo seemed so inclined.

After the first splurge of t game, Brockville took the lead of th situation and though they did n score more goals, they certain played harder and pretty hocke while the local boys seemed eithe to be taking things as a matter of course or they were not feeling lik playing. There was something amiss but that does not call for any alarm. There is little doubt that if they had been called upon to extend themselves any that they would have been able to do it.

21 Division street, as a result of a collision with "Dunc" Boucher a the Harty Arena in the game on Monday night when the two lided. Many fans recall that Boucher and Smith came together near the centre during the game but after a temporary lapse, Smith resumed play and kept up his good work that he turned in that game.

Nothing very much was observed after the game, the usual effects of such a rap were of course noticed but no one thought much about it. Last night Joe's condition was the cause of some alarm and it was learned that he was suffering from concussion. He will therefore be unable to play in the game against Belleville on Friday night and the loss to the Kingston team of Mundell is made worse by the announcement of Joe Smith's illness.

Local fans regret exceedingly Smith's illness, not only because he will be out of the game Friday but Intermediates All Ready for because it was such an unfortunate accident. The exhibition game for the city championship staged by the Kingston intermediates and Queen's seniors has proved to be a costly venture for the Kingston team. ## SPORTING NOTES AND COMMENT

Local fans will leave the city to-morrow for Belleville, via auto and train, to see the locals make their bid to remain in the running of the local intermediate O.H.A. group. It will seem like old times to see a crowd accompanying a local team on their journey. It has been a great many years since Kingston has had a big following in their outside games, but it is likely that all records will be broken to-morrow.

The followers of snow-shoeing are having a very bad year, as the snow has not remained long enough for them to enjoy much of the sport. The ski enthusiastics are also sadly out of luck so far.

The boxing and wrestling fans will be treated to some classy bouts at the inter-faculty assault-at-arms at Grant Hall Friday night. Queen's bave great hopes of making a stronger bid for honors in the Intercollegiate this season than they have in previous years.

K.C.I. are practising very hard these days and are determined to make an even greater showing against Queen's juniors when they clash again. The Tricolor are also working in some fast practices, and are putting everything into their work, as they realize the Collegiate boys are not by any means "easy meat."
