Children to Blame.
Complaints have been made about children on North Albert street throwing snow back on to the walk after it has been cleaned off. "I see by the newspapers that the police are out after citizens who neglect to clear the snow off their walk," said a resident of that street to The Whig. "In the section in which I live there has been a great deal of trouble as a result of the children throwing and kicking the snow back on to the walk after it has been cleared off. They seem to take a great delight in doing this, and it is causing a great deal of trouble."

Macdonald School Club.
The members and friends of the Macdonald Home and School Club met Tuesday evening in the assembly hall. An illustrated talk was given by Chief Armstrong, Kingston Fire Department, which was most instructive in regard to fire.
