

MRS. STILLMAN WANTS TO AID HER HUSBAND

In Social and Financial Rehabilitation—To See English Psychologist.

New York, Feb. 8.—Mrs. J. A. Stillman, the American says, has promised to do everything in her power to aid her husband to rehabilitate himself in the world of finance and society.

"Jimmy is growing old," the American quotes Mrs. Stillman as saying recently to a friend. "He is no longer James A. Stillman, the great banker, the great institution. He has become human. I like him as I haven't liked him for years. I've an idea he really wants to rebuild his life. Perhaps I ought to put on the dress again and travel double."

Mr. and Mrs. Stillman sailed on the Olympic, the American says as Mr. Smith and Miss Fuller, with separate staterooms.

They go aboard, the story continues, to consult Dr. R. F. Baynes, a young English psychologist, whose psychoanalysis of Mrs. Stillman when she was broken in spirit at the time her husband brought suit for divorce, helped her in her own words, to find herself again.

Six weeks ago, Mr. Stillman pressed an emerald ring into his wife's hand and said: "I love you and want you. I have always loved you. Will you come back to me?" They talked their affairs over and met again, Mrs. Stillman, the story says, said:

"James A. if you will go abroad with me and meet Dr. Baynes and give him a chance to pull you apart and put you together again, I'll go with you. You are fine underneath. Let Dr. Baynes make you the man you really want to be."

Stillman replied: "I will go abroad and put myself in the hands of Dr. Baynes. If he can reconstruct my outlook, do for me what he did for you, I shall bless you both all my life."

Dr. Baynes is in Africa on a hunting trip, and will return to England at the end of this month.

Sudden illness revealed that Dr. M. V. Mayfield, who had practised in Mena, Ark., for over a quarter of a century, was a woman instead of a man. Dr. Mayfield had made her rounds constantly and no one had suspected the secret. When a little girl in England, her parents needed a boy to protect certain property rights, and she was brought up as a son. She kept up the deception as she grew older, going to medical school and moving to America as a man. She is seventy-six, and it is feared her present illness will be fatal.

CANDLEMAS CEREMONIES.

Special Services Held in St. Mary's Cathedral.

The ceremonies of the Catholic church with regard to Candlemas Day were observed in St. Mary's Cathedral on Sunday morning, the day being observed yesterday instead of Tuesday. At the high mass at 10.30 o'clock, His Grace Archbishop M. J. Spratt officiated at the ceremony of the blessing of the candles for church and home use. He was assisted by Rev. Father Hyland and Rev. Father Coyle. The procession with lighted candles was held around the cathedral at the high mass. Young vigor to old folks

"My nerves were unstrung and I used to tremble all over. Lay awake at night, rose exhausted each morning. Tanlac restored health and appetite. I am 71, but now eat and work as well as 20 years ago." Harry Johnson, 53 Elm St., Windsor, Ont.

One of Tanlac's greatest blessings is the new life and vigor it brings to old folks. Every day men and women up in the seventies and eighties thank us for Tanlac's wondrous benefits. Tanlac is a natural tonic, made from roots, barks and rare herbs. Harmless to man or child. It cleans the blood, stirs up the liver and puts digestive organs in working order. AUTO RUDELY BREAKS BABY'S SLEEP

It was a rather rude awakening for George M. Peck, Jr., aged three, of San Diego, when his father's automobile plunged into the Peck home. The car's drive shaft broke as Mr. and Mrs. Peck reached the top of a hill nearby. The machine, after tearing out a corner of the house, stopped astraddle of the baby's bed. But George Jr. was unharmed.

TO THE NEW FIRM OF

D. A. SHAW, Limited

We extend our heartiest good wishes for future prosperity.

For twenty-one years the firm of Newman & Shaw were our neighbors and friendly competitors.

As competitors we inevitably found them fair and honorable, never lowering their prestige as merchants in resorting to the by-ways of sharp practices.

Further, we always found their word in all matters to be as good as their bond; which is a record to be justly proud of!

So it is with this kindly feeling that we wish every success to the firm of D. A. Shaw, Limited, and a long and happy life to the retiring member of the late firm—Mr. Joseph Newman.
