THE YELLOW STUB

GREAT NEW MYSTERY SERIAL

By Ernest Lynn

Henry Rand, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. The only clues are a woman's handkerchief and a yellow ticket stub from a theatre.

Jimmy Rand, Henry's son, and Detective Mooney trace the ticket to a Thomas Fogarty, who says he gave it to a woman named Olga Maynard. Police search for her.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with Mary Lovell, and gets a job in her office. Later he accidentally encounters Olga Maynard. He meets her at night and confronts her with the evidence against her.

She faints when he says she is suspected of murder. He is in the street holding her when he sees Mary Lovell and a man companion watching them.

The next day Jimmy learns Mary's companion was Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer. Mary refuses to speak to Jimmy and later in the day he is discharged. He gets a phone call from Police Lieutenant O'Day to come down to headquarters.

Chapter XIII. "What's up?" Jimmy asked O'Day. "Come down and see," O'Day hung up.

Jimmy went back to his telegram from Mooney. Olga Maynard, it said, had been seen in Grafton on the day of the murder—had interviewed two cabaret owners about a job. Mooney thought it best to place a charge of murder against her when she was found and held her in Grafton.

"Look here," growled O'Day when he arrived at the police station, "the next time you run across somebody, we're looking for you, let us know."

"What do you mean?" "We've found the Maynard woman. She says you were with her last night. Why didn't you tell us?"

"I was going to bring her down here tonight, Lieutenant. I give you my word, I wanted to talk to her alone and see what she was like. She didn't do it, Lieutenant."

"She didn't, eh? Well, I'm not so sure. Come on upstairs. We'll need you when we talk to her."

have to do better than that, sister. We're dealing in facts—not fairy stories. How do you account for this? Before you left for Grafton you were living in a cheap rooming house. You're out of a job and broke. You go to Grafton and come back to Chicago and move into a pretty nice apartment. Where did you get the money?"

"I didn't get any money. I got back here Thursday morning and started looking for work again. I took the first thing I could get—a clothing model's job. On the strength of that I rented an apartment. I don't like rooming houses."

"Do you think a jury would believe your story?" scoffed O'Day. "I don't know. Do you believe I committed a murder?"

"It looks like it. Whether you did or not, your cover's somebody up. You know who did it. You were in the room when the murder was committed. I believe you even got Henry Rand into that room—didn't you?"

"No!" cried Jimmy, leaping from his chair. "I don't believe that, Lieutenant. She might be covering somebody up, but—"

"Sit down, Rand," O'Day waved him aside. "Didn't you?" he continued, turning to Olga Maynard. "No, I didn't, I tell you," she said fiercely. "I never even heard of him."

"Listen, sister," said O'Day. "I've been trying to place you and it comes to me all of a sudden. Seems to me you were one of those who got a ride in the wagon the time we raided the Studio Club. How about it?"

She turned away from O'Day's steady look—bit her lip. "What of it?" she asked.

"Nothing—except it wasn't very nice company. Not for a lady." She flushed hotly. "All right, maybe it wasn't. But you can't hang me for that."

"We can come pretty near hanging you for something else. Come, now, tell us who was with you in Grafton. Who was this guy H. A. Jones who registered for the room?"

"I wasn't with anybody in Grafton."

"All right, what's the jury going to say when we show 'em you were in Grafton the day of the murder and your theatre ticket was found in the room?"

She smiled sarcastically. "They wouldn't convict me on circumstantial evidence, Lieutenant. Pretty thin evidence, that."

There's Flattery in Flavor

FLATTER your family and your guests with dishes that are savory. Made with Shirriff's True Vanilla your dishes become deliciously appetizing.

Puddings imprison a delicate flavor that tempts the palate. Cakes take on that really delightful aroma which only comes from purest vanilla. Dainty custards and other desserts hold a wonderful fragrance—the fragrance of Shirriff's True Vanilla.

Why? Because Shirriff's True Vanilla is vanilla in its purest form—straight from the tropical vanilla bean. Once in the dish the flavor stays in. No wonder—6 drops of Shirriff's True Vanilla equals 18 drops of artificial vanilla. No coal-tar chemicals here!

AT BISHOP'S MILLS.

Death of Mrs. McLees is mourned by a Large Circle of Friends.

Bishop's Mills, Feb. 9.—The death occurred on Monday, Feb. 1st, of Mrs. McLees, relict of the late James McLees, at her late residence, at the age of seventy years. Mrs. McLees was well-known and respected, especially for her services in the former Presbyterian church.

The funeral took place from the residence of her sister, Mrs. E. Jones, on Wednesday, Feb. 3rd, a large number of friends and acquaintances being present. Rev. Mr. Atkinson, of Montreal, officiated. The hymns and scripture readings, had been selected by the deceased. She leaves to mourn her loss, three brothers, James and William Morrison, of this village; Frank Morrison, of Victoria, B.C.; three sisters, Mrs. J. Johnston, Mrs. E. Jones, of this village, and Mrs. T. Elliott, Sault Ste Marie.
