"Three Faces East" at the Capitol Theatre.

Proving itself a distinctly worthwhile photoplay, "Three Faces East," featuring Jetta Goundal, Robert Ames, Henry Wathall and Clive Brook, will be received by big audiences at the Capitol theatre today. For sustained interest, swift moving action and thrills, this picture stands in a class alone.

The story deals with the adventures of several members of the British and German Secret Service during the war. It is finely developed along dramatic lines and there is a surprise finish which it would be unfair to the reader to reveal. The scenes, along the fighting line, in the hospital, in London and Berlin are not only impressive because of their massiveness and fidelity, but they hold the attention of spectators with highly thrilling results. Here is a picture that one can see again and again with increasing interest. It was superbly directed by Rupert Julian under Cecil B. DeMille's supervision.

From start to finish there isn't a dull moment in the action, and with its beautiful photography and thrills, "Three Faces East" is a mystery drama of superlative quality.

AT THE GRAND.

Seats Now On Sale For "Three Little Maids."

"Three Little Maids" has everything a producer could ask for. Its musical score is one of the most thoroughly beautiful ever written for the legitimate stage—melodies which, once heard are never forgotten. Its comedy is unique and plentiful. The play lends itself to spectacular dance numbers, scenic effects and costuming. As for the cast which Capt. Plunkett secured—part in London and part in New York, when the theatrical profession learned that the noted Canadian, G. P. Huntley, was to tour Canada and that his vehicle would be "Three Little Maids," it meant that the Dumbells' producer was in a position to take his pick of the best. He did. The chorus deserves a special mention. It is one of the most beautiful ever sent on tour. Critics come as close to rhapsodies when they discuss this feature of the musical hit, as any critic ever can. They have reason to. Ensembles, solo numbers, costumes and staging are as good as they are unusual. "Three Little Maids" is a big production from every point of view and a musical comedy with every feature of it exceptional but not a solitary one over-emphasized. It comes to the Grand Theatre for a two day stay beginning Friday with a matinee on Saturday. Get your seats early.

THE CUSTOMS ENQUIRY PROCEEDS AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—The removal of the port of Montreal from the jurisdiction of the chief customs inspector for Canada and the appointment of a special inspector in that port was discussed at today's sitting of the House of Commons committee investigating the conduct of the department of customs and excise.

Cross examined by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Deputy Minister of Customs, R. E. Farrow said that early in 1922 he had informed Chief Inspector Bush by that the Minister of Customs had decided that he was not to inspect the port of Montreal. Later, Hon. G. H. Bolton, Minister of Customs, asked Mr. Farrow if "when the present Minister came into office, Mr. Bush had not been instructed that he was to inspect the port of Montreal." Mr. Farrow replied "Yes."

The appointment of R. P. Clerk to the inspectorship of Montreal was then the subject of a searching examination by Mr. Stevens. He wanted to know if Mr. Farrow thought Mr. Clerk was the right man for such an important job. Mr. Farrow would not reply, except to say that Mr. Clerk was the best man available at the time and he had been recommended by the department to the Civil Service commission, who finally made the appointment.

Mr. Farrow did not admit that he had heard that J. E. Bisillon, later made special inspector in that district and recently dismissed, had offered Mr. Clerk a bribe of $100 a week if he got the post. The only conversation concerning the bribe that Mr. Farrow could remember had to do with something else. Smuggling across international border greatly increased when prohibition went into effect.

QUEEN'S ENDOWMENT PLANS ANNOUNCED

How Districts Are Divided and the Subscriptions That Are Expected.

Professor D. A. McArthur, general campaign chairman, of the Queen's Endowment Campaign, is to leave on March 2nd, to visit and set up an organization in all the western districts starting at Sault Ste. Marie and continuing to North Bay, Fort Arthur, Fort William, Wainwright, Moose Jaw, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria returning to Campaign Headquarters about April 15th. At the same time the Principal, R. Bruce Taylor, in company with the campaign director, Mr. Stafford, will set up similar organizations in Chicago, Detroit, Windsor, London, Hamilton, and Toronto, then proceed to Rochester, Utica, New York City and Boston returning by St. John, N.B., Halifax, Quebec City, Montreal and Ottawa.

The entire territory is divided into thirty-eight districts with five of the largest to be organized as divisions, the idea being that ultimately branches of the Alumni Association will be formed there and become part of the National Alumni Association of Queen's University. It is proposed to incorporate at the graduates re-union in the autumn. It is hoped that the preliminary organizations started in this way will be developed to the point that in the fall local Re-Union features will be held in each district resulting in a generous response to the appeal as being made to all the graduates and friends of the University in these different localities. At that time the Principal will again visit the districts it is planned to organize now as will Professor McArthur also. For these outside districts an objective has been set amounting to $300,000. For the larger district to be organized as divisions, such as Hamilton, the objective is $200,000, or Toronto $400,000, of Ottawa $250,000, for Montreal $500,000 and for Kingston, with adjacent towns and cities, the objective is $350,000, making a grand total of $2,500,000.

The first intensive effort will be made in Toronto and Hamilton from April 15th to June 15th, Ottawa to follow June 15th to August 15th, Montreal, August 15th to October 15th closing at Kingston during the grand re-union of all graduates October 16th to November 27th.

There are about 6,000 living graduates. Each of these will be asked to make a minimum contribution of $100. If this average is maintained, $500,000 would be obtained.

One thousand students will be asked to obtain five contributions of $20 each from relatives and friends, making an individual quota for each student of $100. It is expected that they all obtain their quota thus adding $100,000 to the fund.

In view of the fact that each contributor has five years in which to pay the full amount subscribed, the campaign committee feel confident that $500,000 subscriptions will be obtained at an average of $200 each at the rate of $40 per year, thus making a total of $1,900,000 which brings the grand total of $2,500,000.

MAY EXTEND DATE FOR ADJOURNMENT

Until First of April Owing to Way Commons Discussion Drags.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—Parliament dragged out the weariest three hours of the present session yesterday. The debate was divided into two chapters: one on the Australian trade agreement, which is under discussion on the Sutherland amendment, and the other on Nova Scotia coal and Maritime rights.

Fred Davis, Calgary Conservative, added the last half of his speech to Hansard, reiterating his belief that the Canadian dairy industry and kindred lines were being harmed by the treaty, and Thomas Cantley (Conservative, Pictou, N.S.) delivered a vigorous appeal, which he had not concluded at adjournment hour, for "justice" to Nova Scotia in the matter of freight rates, particularly as they affect coal.

As the talk continues by days and half-days, the hopes of the Government of getting away this week-end diminished. Already the six weeks demanded for Cabinet reorganization before March 15th have been eaten into to the extent of one week. Now it is said the Government will amend the date set for the reassembly of Parliament to the first of April, or after Easter.

THE COLLEGE MAY BECOME MORE SECURE

already appeared in the local press. It ought to be borne in mind that the conferences of the former Methodist Church have not had time to send us a single student; students were all allocated to other Colleges before the United Church was born. No opportunity has yet been given the United Church to show its interest in this college. It would therefore seem at least premature to remove it from the bounds of its conference before the college has had time to shake down and adjust itself to its new associates. Half of its old constituency was cut away from it by the union. To close the college now before its new constituency gathered about it is a course which might pardonably be called unwise.

Financial Sift.

The financial side must be considered. Queen's Theological College has by its charter the right to as large a part of the Old Arts building as it requires, and along with that light, heat, attendance and repairs free of cost, an asset which, according to a careful calculation, is worth $5,000 a year, to the church. The building could not now be erected at a cost less than $250,000. These advantages must perforce be left behind if the college is closed or removed.

As to the endowment of $200,000 there is not the same certainty. The wording of the charter, declaring that the college is the successor of the Old Theological Faculty of Queen's University, has led the solicitor of the university, and also the solicitor of the theological college to offer the opinion that in the event of the college being removed or closed, the endowment may quite possibly revert to the university, a contingency which they would, if necessary, seek to realize by litigation.

As these comments it is assumed that the right course must be pursued independently of personal considerations. But the question of the closing or removal of an institution which is as native to Queen's and Kingston as the money to the rock ought not to be entrusted to any who do not love it and have not worked for it. Sentiment cannot be created at will. Throughout its history Queen's Theological College has never been a big college, but it has helped to mould some of the most independent and original men in the church. If a mistake is made now it cannot easily be remedied. Humpty Dumpty sitting on the wall is in being; Humpty Dumpty fallen on the ground cannot be put together again by all the king's horses and all the king's men.

Home Falls and Dies.

A horse owned by Mr. B. Grant, Wolfe Island, slipped and fell while driving up the incline of the lee at the foot of Brock street, Tuesday at noon, and a few minutes later died. The death of the animal was attributed to a heart attack.

Concert at Bath.

The Adolphustown Dramatic Club put on a very successful concert in the village hall at Bath, entitled "Rubber Boots" and a good sum was realized by the ladies in charge.
