MILTON SILLS HERE IN "THE KNOCKOUT."

"Ho-Man" of Screen Scores Hit in Big North Woods Thriller. Milton Sills has always been a favorite with local motion picture goers but in no type of picture is he better enjoyed than in screen plays which give him an opportunity to demonstrate his "ho-manism." His work in "The Sea Hawk," "As Man Desires," and in "The Making of O'Malley" have indelibly planted pleasing memories in the minds of his fans and the success of these pictures proves that he is cast to suit them when appearing in virile, outdoor roles.

He has such a role in his First National's "The Knockout," which opens tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre for a three days engagement. It is a long time, indeed, since the reviewer has seen a picture with more thrills and action than is contained in this plausible and highly romantic story which, according to the credit titles, is an adaptation of M. D. C. Crawford's novel, "The Comeback."

Earl Hudson, head of First National's eastern production units, handed Stanley the scrip.

"Read it. Figure out what we want and go get it," he said.

First Stanley went to Maine. The logs weren't big enough. He went to Canada. There he found locations that he had dreamed of, but the best description of the work of location hunter may be gleaned from a story by William Read, staff writer of the "Toronto Star," who accompanied Stanley on his quest.

"At first Beauclere, in Quebec, seemed the logical location. For a week the cameras recorded the dam and jam and log driving. Then news came that there were wilder rapids near the silver and gold regions. The movie army advanced a day's march nearer the North Pole.

This morning's ceremony reminded them that man is but dust and one day he must return to dust.

GIVEN THREE YEARS ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Andrew Smith of Cataragui Is Sentenced by Judge Lavell.

A sentence of three years in penitentiary, was imposed on Andrew Smith, of Cataragui, by Judge Lavell, in the County Judge's Criminal Court on Wednesday morning.

Smith was tried on Tuesday afternoon, on a charge of having earned knowledge of a girl under fourteen years of age, and the maximum penalty for this offence in life imprisonment.

In passing sentence Judge Lavell said that he had no reasonable doubt as to Smith's guilt and he characterized the attitude of the girl's mother toward the affair as shocking. He said that he wished to give every consideration to Smith's years and state of health, but he felt that it would be better hitting the offence to impose a less sentence than three years in the penitentiary.

Crown Attorney T. J. Rigney prosecuted and W. M. Nickle appeared for the defence.

SOCIAL EVENING HELD

At the Home of Arch. Asseltine at Moscow, Ontario, February 17.—The Young People's Association held a social evening at the home of Mr. Arch. Asseltine in the form of a Valentine party. Games and contests were the main features of the evening. One of the most interesting contests was a Biblical one. Each letter of the alphabet represented some character in the Bible. It certainly required some thinking. This was donated by Mr. McKenzie. Another interesting feature was a crossword puzzle designed by Miss D. Asseltine. A splendid lunch was served and everyone went home feeling greatly indebted to Mr. Asseltine for the use of his home and to the programme committee for the way they entertained.

Mrs. M. T. Huffman entertained a few of her friends on Wednesday evening. Percy Asseltine attended the Normal "At Home" at Sydenham on Friday evening. There is an epidemic of measles through the country. Many of the children are absent from school.
