Roads in Bad Shape. On account of the thaw during the past few days, the roads in the country are in a very bad condition. The motor stages have been able to reach the city each day but have experienced a hard time.

Prof. Sandwell's Appointment. Bernard K. Sandwell, well known as a writer and economist, has been appointed editor-in-chief of The Financial Times, Montreal. For several years Mr. Sandwell was identified with the faculties of McGill and Queen's Universities. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

The Late Mrs. Henstridge. The funeral of the late Amelia Reilly Henstridge took place on Friday morning from her late residence, 31 Pembroke, to Cataract cemetery, Rev. A. E. Smith of Portsmouth officiating. The pall bearers were Messrs. Cassell, Cunningham, C. Wright, and Henstridge (Montreal). Funeral arrangements were in charge of the James Reid firm.

Membership Campaign. A meeting of the directors of the Kingston Horticultural Society was held on Friday evening, and a membership campaign was outlined to the directors and adopted. Cards will be sent to all prospective members in the city. It was also decided to hold another social evening in the near future in order to raise more funds for the work under way.

Kiwanis Activities. The speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Monday will be Dr. W. E. McNeill, Ph.D., registrar and treasurer of Queen's University. Dr. McNeill, who is secretary of the General Campaign Committee of the Queen's Endowment Fund, will give an outline on how the campaign is to be carried out. The booster of the day will be Kiwanian Jim McKee.

Funeral of Mrs. Mandell. The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Jane Mandell took place on Friday afternoon from the residence of her niece, Mrs. Laird, 214 Colborne street, to Cataract cemetery, Rev. G. A. Brown officiating. The funeral directions were in charge of the James Reid firm and the pall bearers were John Mandell, Frank Mandell, A. E. Laird and G. Masoud.

Chauffeurs' Ball. The Chauffeurs' Ball held in the Garden Dance Hall on Friday evening, was a very successful event. About 60 couples were present and the hall was very beautifully decorated.

ated. The committee in charge, composed of Mr. C. J. Bennett and Mr. Robert Kirkwood, are to be complimented. Excellent music was provided by the Melody Kings orchestra.

Cannot Cut Way Through. On account of the ice conditions, the work of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company is held up for the present. It had been expected that it would be possible to get some steamers into the dock during the winter months, but the ice is now so firm that it is impossible to cut a track wide enough for a boat to pass through. It is understood that the ice at the present time is twenty-two inches thick.

Return to New York. Mrs. George Granger of the Salvation Army headquarters, New York City, owing to the death of her father, has been spending a few days in the city with her young daughter Betty. They left on the noon train to-day for New York. Capt. Granger, who is a Kingston boy, holds a most responsible position on the headquarters staff. It will be remembered that Capt. Granger was the bandmaster of the old 146th Battalion, C.E.F., recruited here and which left Kingston for overseas in 1916. Afterwards Capt. Granger was transferred to the 21st Battalion where he was badly wounded.

Back From Convention. The members of the Board of Education, who attended the Urban School Trustees' Association convention, in Belleville, returned last night after a very helpful and successful convention. Mr. T. G. Bishop, chairman of the resolutions committee, carried on his work efficiently and was complimented for his splendid presentation of the resolutions and reasons for their adoption, or disapproval. A number were also approved with amendments. Rev. A. E. Lavell gave an address on "Can the Schools Lessen Crime," one of the most stimulating addresses of the convention. Mr. J. G. Elliott was heartily congratulated on his success in handling the gathering. Belleville Board of Education were splendid hosts.

Horticultural Society. The directors of the Kingston Horticultural Society met in the Dairy School Friday evening to introduce their campaign for 1,000 members. Artistic cards have been printed which will be distributed through the city. These bear a colored reproduction of "Paul's Scarlet Climbing Rose," the society's beautiful premium this year. It also states the aim of the society, viz.: To beautify the city and improve home surroundings. It was decided to hold a second social evening early in March. For this invitations will be issued, the proceeds going to the fund for the beautifying of the grounds in the vicinity of the new Library. Mr. Greenless told of the formation of a community club in his district recently. The club has for its object the improvement of the lawns and grounds in the neighborhood where the members live. Spade trees and ornamental shrubs are to be planted, unsightly board fences are to be covered with climbers, and every effort put forth to replace ugliness by beauty.

THEOLOGICAL DINNER

Held on Friday Evening in the Queen's Cafe.

The annual dinner of Queen's Theological College, was held at the Queen's Cafe on Friday evening, when about forty were present. James-Lyttle, Moderator of the Theological Society, presided.

Four toasts were given. The toast to "Queen's University," was proposed by Dr. J. F. McFayden and responded to by Mr. W. E. McNeill, Registrar of the University.

Dr. McNeill, in the course of an eloquent address, spoke of the great loss which Queen's would sustain if the Theological College was moved from Queen's University. He also spoke of the number of students who come to Queen's University from the homes of ministers of the church.

Dr. Malcolm MacGillivray, Chairman of the Queen's Theological College, proposed the toast to "The Theological College," and Principal S. W. Dyde responded.

Dr. Morgan proposed the toast, "The Church," and Dr. W. G. Jordan responded. The toast, "Our Guests," was proposed by Harold Reid and responded to by representatives from the faculties of Arts and Medicine.

During the evening, Miss Lottie Sanders sang a solo and the Sanders family also gave a number. Mr. Zuffel rendered a guitar solo, which was much appreciated.
