Lady Cynthia Moseley will be the guest of honor of the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club at luncheon on Saturday.

Mrs. George W. Fowler, widow of Colonel the Hon. G. W. Fowler will shortly leave Ottawa for Brockville, where she will reside in the future.

The Editor Hears

That some people make themselves very annoying at the movies. One way they do it is to read aloud the story as it appears on the screen. Most of those who attend the moving picture theatres in Kingston can read and they don't care to hear the story read to them. Another annoying habit is that of telling your companion in an audible voice just what is coming. Something like this: "I saw this in Toronto, you see the hero gets taken to jail. No, he was innocent, of course, but the evidence was against him. Yes, she remained true to him. Oh it all comes out right in the end." These are the very things that make the thrill of the picture, and no one wants to be told all about it.

There are some funny mistakes that come especially under the notice of woman's page editors. Both frequently occur in descriptions of weddings. We read that "the organist played the wedding march by Lohengrin." Now "Lohengrin" is an opera written by Wagner and the "Bridal Chorus" from that opera is frequently played by the organist as the bride enters the church, so frequently indeed, that the frivolous sometimes name it "Here comes the bride." The other odd mistake is to refer to a bouquet of flowers attached to the "bodice" as "the corsage." The word corsage, means a covering for the body and is of French derivation. When you say a lady wore a corsage of sweet peas, you are saying that her bodice was made of these flowers. "What one does say is a "corsage bouquet," meaning a bouquet worn on the corsage, not carried.

That one of the most interesting events of the Urban Trustees' convention recently held in Belleville was the visit of those met in convention to the Ontario School for the Deaf. This school is simply and purely a public school for the deaf children of the province, as other schools are for those who can hear. As the men and women who have given their time and interest to the problem of education, went over the big building and saw what was being done by boys and girls who have been handicapped in the race of life by the serious disability of deafness, they were amazed at their progress. Lip-reading has been brought to a science and in various ways the pupils demonstrated their ability to understand exactly what was being said by watching the lips of the speaker. This school is open for all those afflicted with deafness.

That during the Prince of Wales' recent tour wherever he went he was met by Boy Scouts. Boy Scouts in Sierra Leone; Boy Scouts in Kafue, Rhodesia, helping the Prince to put out a fire that began at an agriculture show given in his honor; Boy Scouts in South America and Boy Scouts again in the immense crowds that welcomed England's future King when he reached home.

HER OWN WAY

By a Girl of To-day.

I thought I was going to faint. I knew that my bag had been there on the table before me just the minute before. Then I remembered that a particularly flashy man had stopped at my table as though to speak to me and I had turned my face away for fear that he would oblige me to make some sort of a demonstration before he could be persuaded to leave.

Frantically I looked about the table and room, before I realized how silly it was, for I knew positively that the man had taken my bag.

Then it seemed to me that everything except despair had gone out of this world. I upbraided myself for doing such a foolish thing as drawing my money out of the bank, and then I forgot everything except the fact that I was in a strange town, penniless and alone.

Unsteadily, I got up from the table and made my way to the dressing room. I had grown panic-stricken at the thought that I had no place to lay my head that night, for I did not dare go back to the hotel and tomorrow morning have to tell them that I had not a cent in the world.

A feeling of nausea crept over me and I fell down in a chair. The dressing room attendant came up to me and said:

"What's the matter, dearie?" "Oh, how I hate that word 'dearie'." I disliked it before, but when I found my money was gone, it seemed as though I could not bear it.

Finally I managed to tell the woman that I had lost my money.

"Never mind," she said. "I'll give you a nickel to call your family on the telephone and then they can come after you."

I thanked her but found it impossible to make any explanations and with a great effort of will, I managed to rise and bathe my face in cold water.

While I was doing this, the attendant was called to the door and I heard her say:

"Yes, I think the young lady is in here. She says she's lost her money."

My heart sank lower than ever at this. I realized it was the waiter and that I owed for my dinner and could not pay.

The attendant came back and said:

"Your dessert is waiting, miss."

"I don't want any dessert," I answered wildly.

The woman looked at me suspiciously I thought and she said again:

"Don't worry, dearie. I'll loan you the nickel to telephone your friends if you have lost your money."

KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Annual Meeting of the City Union Held on Wednesday.

The annual meeting of the City Union of the King's Daughters was held in Sydenham street hall on Wednesday afternoon. The reports of the Lend-a-Hand Circle and of the Charity Circle were heard showing an immense amount of work done for the community and also for missions. The Food and Fuel department of the Charity Circle, which during the last thirty-one years has been of such inestimable benefit to the people of Kingston, reported $2,406.91 saved during the summer of 1925 by the women who are visited weekly by the members of the circle, and given back in food and fuel bought to the greatest advantage by the circle.

Mrs. C. C. Abbott read a resolution voicing the sorrow of the city at the death of their late secretary Mrs. M. R. Davis, while the members remained standing. A letter was read from Mrs. Burnett, the provincial secretary, accepting the invitation of the Kingston Union to hold the provincial meeting of the King's Daughters in Kingston in October.

Miss Nan Skinner gave a most interesting informal address on the work of the Italian Mission in Montreal of which she is a voluntary worker. She spoke of the thrift and cleanliness of the Italians and of their generosity to their visitors. The Mission was formed to assist these strangers in Canada and to help them to become Canadians. The visitors are most welcome and true hospitality is to be found in their simple homes.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Miss G. Strange; honorary vice-president, Mrs. A. Strachan; vice-presidents, Miss J. C. Shaw, Mrs. D. G. MacPhail, Mrs. Edwin Walsh, Miss E. Smith, Miss Helen Fraser; secretary, Mrs. W. M. Campbell; treasurer, Mrs. C. E. Abbott; Silver Cross secretary, Mrs. W. S. Connell.

Questions and Answers

Dear Editor:—Would you be kind enough to explain through the valuable columns of your paper something about pasteurized milk. As there are many different opinions about this matter I would be pleased to know as follows:

1.—What is the process of pasteurization?

2.—Does pasteurized milk contain the same food value as before the process?

3.—Is there care taken in having the best milk procured for the benefit of the consumers?

4.—Are there any chemical products put in the milk during pasteurization?

Yours truly,
—HOUSEKEEPER.

STRATFORD WOMAN

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Stratford, Ontario.—"After my first baby was born I started to work on the tenth day and did a big washing on the twelfth day. Being so young (I was married at 19) I did not know what was the matter, so let it go until I was all run-down, weak and nervous, and had a bad displacement. For nearly two years I could not sleep and I would always complain of having 'not a head-ache, but a brain-ache.' My mother is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life and she recommended it to me. After taking two bottles I began to get a little sleep and to feel better and I have never left off since then, except for about three months. I can safely say I have taken thirty bottles since my second baby was born. I think it makes child-birth easier as I had terrible pains with my first three children and very few with my fourth as I was so much stronger. I am now able to do my work alone, but I am still taking the Vegetable Compound as I am nursing baby."—Mrs. OMER PAUL, 49 Cherry Street, Stratford, Ontario.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.
