Kingston and North Bay Tie 4-4 in First Play-off Game in Toronto

TEAMS ENTER DECIDING GAME FOR JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP OF ONTARIO ON EQUAL TERMS

The Game on Monday Night—Was Poor Hockey—Kingston Missed Patterson, Who Was Ill—Voss Scored the Goal That Tied the Game—Kingston Expected to Win Wednesday Night in the Final Contest.

(By Whig Sports Editor) Toronto, March 9.—Kingston and North Bay tied in the first of their home and home games at the Arena (game here last night, the game ends up four all. As a result, the two teams will enter the second game on Wednesday night on even terms as far as goals are concerned, but Kingston is expected to win out.

of the play for the next few minutes, but North Bay began to play better hockey, and Vail and Barclay tore away. On a pass from Vail, Barclay slipped the rubber past Taugher right in front of the net. Half a minute later Vail rushed again and passed to Barclay for another pretty goal. Barclay tore right through again but missed by inches. North Bay now began to set the pace and were stepping fast when the first period ended.

The wearers of the "K" played their worst hockey of the season at times, and in games to date they have not been seen to poorer advantage. The absence of Patterson from the line up, through illness, had a bad effect on the play of the Kingston team, and they missed him in many tight fixes, although Molson, who started at right wing played a hard and consistent game and turned in his best performance of the season. Hartley entered the game not feeling up to the mark and hit his stride, in fact, it took nearly the first two periods for the Kingston team to realize that they had a game on their hands, and when they started in to play hockey, in the last period they showed their regular form.

Both teams played weakly on the start of the second period, but the longer the play went the better they got and before long they were showing the real thing. Both goalers suffered narrow escapes when the puck lay at their respective goal mouths in two instances. Vail on a series of rushes brought down the applause of the crowd for his work. Both teams worked their hardest now and rushes by Voss were pretty good to watch. The checking was very close, and the scoop checks of the North Bay team showed that the Northern players were past masters at this art. Rush after rush by the Kingston team was broken up by the scoop checks and this of course brought end to end rushes into prominence the play alternating from end to end rapidly.

Game Disappointing. Taken on the whole the game was disappointing and the brilliant hockey expected in this series is yet to come. The two teams checked, so closely in the first period that the play became very ragged, and the hockey was a rather sorry exhibition. Neither team could get going in the first frame, and North Bay looked as though they might tire at any time. The Kingston team seemed to be smoother and more ready to stand hard going than the Northern champions, but it turned out that the latter were able to more than hold their own and indeed, in the second period, they at times showed a distinct superiority over the Kingston team. Kingston failed to work as a team until the last period but they made up, in some measure then for the rather poor hockey they exhibited in the first two frames.

The Third Period. Kingston started the third period with McKelvey in the box. North Bay's poke checks were used to even better advantage and threw the Kingston team off, but it was not long before Kingston began to show their real form, and rushes by Reid, Hartley and Voss were frequent. In five minutes, McKelvey and Reid tore away. McKelvey passing to Reid for a pretty goal. Kingston continued fast and had North Bay backed up. Molson and Voss both missed pretty chances to score when right in on Clarke. Vail rushed and Hayman scooped the puck in, in the mixup that followed near the Kingston net. The play was away outside, but the goal was allowed.

Taugher Made Crowd Gasp. Taugher again played brilliantly and made saves that caused the 3,000 fans in attendance at the contest to gasp. He was not alone, however, and Clark in the North Bay goal of the rink more than once staved off defeat by the saves he made. He could not help stopping most of the shots sent at him in the first two periods by Kingston, however, for they were right on his chest. Kingston plinked at the goal tender instead of to the corner of the net, and no matter how hard they tried they could not get the rubber in the right place.

Half a minute later, MacPherson and McDowell rushed, McDowell scoring on a pass from MacPherson. Five minutes afterwards, Voss rushed and Clarke stopped, but he came right back again and fooled the entire North Bay team to register the tying goal. North Bay came close to getting another goal when Kelly passed everybody, but Taugher again saved a close situation. With two minutes to go, McKelvey drew another penalty and play moved dangerously around the Kingston net but nothing happened before the final bell.

Kingston Scores First. Kingston scored the first goal in the first frame, when Hartley lifted from outside the defence to beat Clarke on a bounding low shot that had plenty of speed behind it. Up to this time the hockey was very poor, and the fans expected to see a weak performance. Rushes by Vail and Voss caused the greater excitement of the play for the next few minutes, but North Bay began to play better hockey, and Vail and Barclay tore away. On a pass from Vail, Barclay slipped the rubber past Taugher right in front of the net. Half a minute later Vail rushed again and passed to Barclay for another pretty goal. Barclay tore right through again but missed by inches. North Bay now began to set the pace and were stepping fast when the first period ended.

Trying to Make Provincial Board of Health An Adjunct to Politics, F. A. Dallyn Charges

Toronto, March 9.—F. A. Dallyn, head of the sanitation branch of the provincial board of health, says, with regard of the demand of Hon. Dr. Godfrey for his resignation: "There is a history to all this. It has to do with a policy which they wished to put in force and which I wouldn't agree to. It is partly politics. That is all I have to say about it."

which was just what they wanted it to do. The whole thing was a frame-up. It is the result of the Government attempting to gain more and more control of the provincial board, and make it an adjunct to politics. They wanted a reorganization of the department, and they wanted to put me in a position so that I would have to bow to them or quit."

IN A BETTER NEWSPAPER

A newspaper costs money to operate, and a better one costs more money, says the Sullivan, Minn., Gazette. As advertising pays better in a better newspaper, it logically follows that the greatest favor a newspaper can do for its advertisers is to charge them enough for space so it will be possible for the newspaper to put out a better newspaper in which the advertising will be the most effective.
