The Editor Hears

That the committee of Women's Institute officers of Frontenac district, who are in charge of the arrangements for the horticultural exhibits to be shown by the Institutes of Frontenac at the Kingston Industrial Exhibition in September, have got their work well under way and have raised more than $200 for prize money. Nearly every one of the thirteen branches of Frontenac is entering the competition. The committee composed of Mrs. A. W. Sirett (convener), Mrs. J. D. Shibley, Harrowsmith, and Mrs. G. W. McNaughton, Sydenham, are getting flower seeds and bulbs through the provincial Department of Agriculture and each branch entering the competition will receive what they require to plant their gardens as soon as it is possible to sow the seeds. As well as a great benefit to the country, this plan will insure an attractive horticultural display at the fair. Many of the branches are joining the Kingston Horticultural Society and will get the benefit of instruction on how to grow flowers.

That the most irritated people in Kingston are those who have conscientiously cleaned their walks when the sun melted the snow and yet have to walk through slush and water left on the walks by their neighbors. They ask "Where are the police?"

That Lady Allenby had a unique party of welcome in Vancouver, B.C., when a group of British Columbia women, resident in various parts of the province, honored the "Lady of Mercy" as the famous Field Marshal's wife was known among British soldiers during war days in Cairo. This group of women on meeting Lady Allenby thanked her for mothering and caring for their husbands and sweethearts who served under her distinguished husband in Egypt and the Holy Land. These husbands and sweethearts, now happily settled with their families in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia, and on Vancouver Island, have banded together into a unique organization known as the Jaffa Gate, every member having passed through the Jaffa Gate into Jerusalem with Lord Allenby's army.

That the bobbed hair craze is an expensive one for we hear that England's "bobbing" or "shingling" bill amounts to $21,000,000 a year—more than $100,000,000—at least some statisticians charge that amount to Dame Fashion's account as representing the increased amount of business hair dressers have done since shingling became the style. It is estimated that about 50 per cent. of the women in England have had their hair shingled.

PRESBYTERIAL W.M.S.

Committee Holds Meeting at Home of Mrs. E. O. Jolliffe. The interim committee of the Presbyterian W.M.S. met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. O. Jolliffe, Frontenac street, to arrange the programme for the meeting of the Presbyterial, to be held in Ganaoquo on April 29th and 30th.

One of the speakers will be Miss Melville, a missionary, now on furlough from Africa. An effort will be made to secure for the second speaker, one who has been engaged in missionary work in India. This will be the first Presbyterial meeting of the United Auxiliaries of the Presbyterial, Methodist and Congregational churches. The new district extends from Kingston to the eastern suburbs of Brockville.

Those present were Mrs. W. J. Paul, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. J. Matheson, Mrs. H. Sanders, Mrs. J. Curtis, Miss Nohs, Miss M. Ross, Mrs. Revelle, Mrs. R. O. Jolliffe. Tea was served by Mrs. Jolliffe at the close of the meeting.

This old world, I am sorry to say, is full of men who simply play reform.

HER OWN WAY

By a Girl of To-day.

A NEW HOME. "No," I answered Mamie's query, "I don't want to go home if I can keep from starving here. You see, Mamie, I guess I'm not like other girls. I want to lead my life in my own way. I want to be independent. My father would think that I had gone straight to the devil if he knew I was working in a restaurant checking men's hats, but I will stick it out until I can find something better."

"Good for you, Julie! I knew you had the right stuff in you the minute I saw you. If you were going to give up the very first minute that anything comes up that makes you angry or hurts you, you're not fit to be a working girl. But I expect you're going to be a success. You'll soon learn to weather the hard knocks I have. You were almost frightened to death at Sterns, but you were determined not to lose your nerve."

"You'll work it out, old dear, and I'll help you all I can. If you can stand the gas, stay with me on the job at the restaurant until you get a little money ahead."

"Why are you so good to me, Mamie?" The words came straight from my heart.

"Because—because—oh, sometime, my dear, I'll tell you my story. I cannot do it tonight. It's too long. We must go to sleep now."

With this, Mamie Riley left me, but for a long time I was wide awake wondering what her story was. Behind every girl who goes out into the world to work, is there a story—a story which either makes character or destroys it?—Of that I was soon to learn.

I found the next morning that Sellers had been over to the Blackstone telling all about me when he found I was not there. But, Mamie went over and fixed things up at noon. She presented my order and paid my bill, asked no questions and answered none.

When her mother saw my trunks coming in, I could tell she was very much displeased. She was one of those selfish women who thought she was showing her love for her daughter by making her life miserable with advice on every subject she knew nothing about. If she thought Mamie wanted to do something, it was just the reason Mrs. Riley decided it was the worst possible thing for her to do.

The moment she saw me, she looked upon me with suspicion, and coming back from my room after I had deposited my trunk near the closet door, I heard Mrs. Riley saying in that querulous voice of hers: "I can't understand why you take in a strange girl, Mamie, who will probably work you out of your job at the restaurant. She looked like a designing mix to me."

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

INVERARY.

The Inverary Women's Institute held their monthly meetings at the home of Mrs. C. H. Arthur on March 9th, with the president, Mrs. F. S. Ferguson in the chair. A large number answered the roll call with a recipe for "How to keep Young". A very impressive recipe given by one of the young ladies was "Never get Married." The readings which were to be given by Mrs. Ira Darling and the demonstration by Mrs. C. Loney of fancy work done in 1926 had to be cancelled owing to the illness of ladies. The president read an interesting paper which had been given by Mrs. A. W. Girett at the Social Council of Women in Kingston. It embodied the activities of Women's Institutes of Frontenac Co. Owing to limited time Mrs. Sirett was able to give merely a topical report, yet it was sufficient to show that the various Institutes are very active in their work. It was resolved that the treasurer refund to the Boy's Baseball Club the money which they have paid in at different times for the use of the piano and kitchen at the Agricultural Hall for their entertainments, and that in future these were to be supplied to club free of costs. Arrangements were completed for the "At Home" on March 15th. A committee was appointed to look after the decoration of the hall for this entertainment. A discussion followed regarding the member's obtaining flower seeds from the Government for the purpose of raising flowers to exhibit at the Horticultural Show in Kingston in the fall. The matter was left over until next month. After this community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. F. S. Ferguson at the piano. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Tina Christley and Mrs. Joseph Duff.

Woman Observes 95th Birthday. Mrs. Harriet Bailey, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., celebrated her 95th birthday of March 6th, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leonora Benson, with whom she resides in Walton street. Mrs. Bailey is in good health and enjoyed her birthday cake as much as ever. She is an honorary member of the Sylvia DeGrasse chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

EVERY DAY MAGIC.

A bird was singing in the rain, A bird So small and brown, it scarce was seen Upon the bough The wet wind stirred; But O his song, so sweet and gay, Brought gladness to a shadowed day. "Hope still shines on, tho' skies are grey," Seemed a heavy heart to say, And earth drew near to heaven again Because a bird Sang in the rain.

A star shone on a stormy night, A star Steadfast, serene, amid a world Of drifting clouds It gleamed afar; And to a soul on darkness tossed, On seas of doubt, and almost lost, It brought the thought, "God still abides Steadfast o'er life's tumultuous tides," And a dim faith again found light, Because a star 'Mid storms shone bright,

Two eyes smiled kindly into mine, Two eyes Sweet as blue flowers the morning greets With dewy kiss 'Neath Summer skies, As lonely mid the busy throng, I passed the crowded street along, And earth was glorified that day, Love came into my heart to stay, Along life's road thro' years to shine, Because two eyes, Smiled into mine, —Caroline A. Kinnear. Monte Creek, B.C.

In England it is a belief of many mothers that the head of a newborn baby should be washed in brandy to prevent it from catching cold. The average shark yields about ten square feet of leather.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION FOR MRS. PENN

She Escaped it by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Windsor, Ont.—"After the birth of my first baby I was very much run-down in health and the doctor said I must have an operation as I was suffering from a displacement. A friend wanted me to try your medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and I took it steadily for a year. During this time I was carrying my second baby and I felt real well all the time and did not have a hard confinement. I feel sure the Vegetable Compound did me a lot of good, and all my people do, too. One sister in Leamington, Ontario, takes it, and both sisters praise it as a good medicine. I am more than pleased with the result."—Mrs. W. PENN, Windsor, Ontario.

Mrs. Corbin Relieved from Pain Stewiacke, N.S.—"I had pains across my back and in my side for two years after my first baby was born. My mother had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read about it in the papers, so I tried it and the pains all left me. I have a family of three children now, and the medicine helped me during the months before they were born. I recommend it to my friends."—Mrs. CARY W. CORBIN, Main Street, Stewiacke, Nova Scotia.
