Miss C. C. M. Smart, South Battleford, Sask., writes:—"A while ago I was troubled with facial blemishes, especially pimples, and was really ashamed to go out with such a bad looking face.
I tried 2 or 3 different remedies, but they didn't help me any, so one day a friend, who had been troubled the same as I was, advised me to use

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. A. Wier, president; Mrs. J. Keegan, vice-president; Mrs. L. Robinson, secretary; Mrs. W. Nottell, treasurer.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a social hour was spent. A duet was sung by Mrs. Keegan and Miss McLellan. Dainty refreshments and ice cream were served by the hostesses. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Cassidy.

A splendid programme of games, instrumental music, recitations and vocal music was contributed by local talent, and altogether a good time was spent. The Granada Model

A medium-sized, medium-priced instrument embodying the new Orthophonic Victor principle which is astonishing the entire world

WITH THE BIRTH of the Orthophonic Victor, began a new era in home music. Music that is "such stuff as dreams are made of"—dreams now come intensely true.
The realization of such dreams, we felt, should not come only to those who could afford the Credenza Model, the first and finest of the Orthophonic Victors.
So we made the Granada, a less expensive Orthophonic Victor containing the remarkable acoustic principle without which no music lover should now be content.

The Granada is in the popular console design, of Spanish derivation,—the rich wood finished either in two-tone mahogany or in walnut blended. It is large enough to be impressive, yet conservative in its space requirements. Like the Credenza it is astonishing all who go to hear it, giving a foretaste of the new delights in music which are now possible at home. The price is $200.
Ask to hear the Granada at any "His Master's Voice" Dealer. Production is still behind demand. If your dealer can not supply you now, there is only one way to be sure of getting an Orthophonic Victor soon. Reserve it.
