

The Diary of a Young Lady of Fashion!!

Being a Grand Tour by Miss Cloene Knox

This Diary gives an extremely vivid and entertaining glimpse into the life of the eighteenth century from the point of view of an observant and witty Irish girl. She was taken on a grand tour by her father, who hoped to make her forget a certain Mr. A., a handsome but penniless neighbor, who had offered himself as a suitor for her hand.

preached on "Hell" attacking the arguments of those who contended that there was no Hell and pointing out from the word of God the fact that there is a Hell, a place of eternal punishment. On Wednesday night Father Knox delivered one of the finest sermons that has ever been heard in St. Mary's on the subject of "Judgment." The speaker described that day on which mankind will be called upon to account for their lives in this world and on that day the sentence of eternal damnation or eternal reward will be passed upon all.

Last night Father Knox delivered a beautiful sermon on "The Family Life." Tonight the Holy Hour will be observed, a special ceremony and on Sunday afternoon the men's mission will be brought to a close. This morning solemn requiem mass was celebrated for the departed members of this parish, who at any time lived here or those who had labored in this parish. The church was crowded and hundreds received Holy Communion. Last night over eight hundred were enrolled for the Holy Name Society, a Society whose object is to stamp out cursing, swearing, blasphemy and all profane or foul talk. This Society is known the world over and the branch in Kingston is fast becoming a very powerful one.

On Sunday morning at the 10:30 mass the main sermon of the mission will be preached on "Penance." Father McMahon and Father Knox have created a wonderful impression among the men during the past week by their powerful sermons. The mission for the women will commence on Sunday night and will conclude the following Sunday afternoon. The missionaries conducting the present mission at St. Mary's cathedral are two outstanding speakers of the Jesuit Order and they have had great experience in missionary work.

Rev. Father McMahon, a man of comparatively slight stature but with a clear and powerful voice that reaches to all corners of the big cathedral, is a Canadian. He has been in the Jesuit Order for many years and has become one of the outstanding missionaries of the day. He has given missions in all the large cities of the United States and Canada and has established himself as a man of keen thought, a student of men and possessing the ability to reach their hearts and lay his subject before them in a most comprehensive and illuminating manner.

Rev. Father Knox, a man of powerful physique and force, has achieved marvellous success as a missionary with the Jesuit Order. He was born in the north of Ireland. He studied for the Anglican ministry and for some time was a minister in the Anglican church, stationed at London, Eng. After his conversion to the Catholic church he came to Canada and was parish priest in the diocese of Vancouver until the outbreak of the war. Early during the war, he went overseas as a chaplain and he served with distinction as chaplain. At the close of the war he returned to Canada and joined the Jesuit Order, later becoming a missionary of great power and ability delivering sermons that attracted much attention and commendation.

DIAMOND JUBILEE OF KINGSTON Y.M.C.A.

Extensive Plans to Celebrate It—The Association in Need of Money.

This year the Kingston Y.M.C.A. is making extensive plans for celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of the association, which is nearly sixty years old this year. On December 12th, 1866, a group of fifteen young men met in Temperance Hall, and formed themselves into a Y.M.C.A. for their own "improvement spiritually, intellectually, morally and for the promotion of Christ's work in our city."

Records show that Mr. T. F. Clark was chairman of the evening and others present were Dr. R. H. Reeves, Mr. George Robertson, Mr. J. S. Walker and William Stevens. The Association continued for a little over two years after which there seems to have been a lapse for some unknown reason. It was again re-organized on Oct. 21st, 1873. This meeting was held in St. Andrew's hall with Principal Snodgrass in the chair.

For a number of years the Association was quartered in rooms, over the Canadian Express office near the Randolph hotel. Very early in the history of the Association, plans were made for more suitable quarters and a building fund started in 1875. It was not until 1892, however, that the present structure was erected. It was not long before a real live programme was adopted by the Association and some old files make interesting reading to-day. Educational lectures were given as early as 1874, when a series of addresses were delivered by prominent speakers. Rev. Patrick Gray, spoke on the "Gunpowder Plot," Rev. J. P. Porter on "Thomas A. Beckett" and "The Microscope and the Organic World" was discussed by Prof. Dupuis of Queen's University.

The religious work was very much to the fore in the early days of the Association, and one of the first reports speaks of the Bible class which was held for several months each year. The beginnings of work of the Y.M.C.A. among the soldiers was made at an early date and a barracks was set up in the camp ground, and recreational facilities for the soldiers. Hospital work and evangelistic services were held and some good work was done.

The work commenced sixty years ago has had steady growth many of Kingston's prominent citizens having taken an active part in its development. Some of the early employed officers were Mr. George Meadows, Mr. Frank Pratt (later general secretary of the Toronto Y.M.C.A.), Dr. Bruce Barton served as physical director for a number of years, and Harold Beall, who is now in Calcutta, India, served for a time.

Erection of Building. The securing of the funds for the erection of the present building was an important milestone in the history of the Association. Young men and boys flocked into the new building and splendid work was carried on largely under volunteer leadership. The upstairs portion of the building was rented for use as a business college, and later as lodge rooms for the Oddfellows. The Kingston building was modelled after other buildings which had been erected in other Canadian and American cities, with the tower on the corner and other facilities were provided for an all round programme.

No mention was made in those days, however, of installing dormitories as it was thought that a rent of a certain portion of the building would provide sufficient revenue over and above the membership fees for financing the institution. More recent buildings have included the dormitory feature, as this provided a nucleus of young men within the building and brings in considerable revenue to the Association. It was not until 1924 that the board decided to experiment with this new feature and three rooms were added. Two more rooms, well outfitted by the ladies organizations, were added in 1925, and the board has under consideration at the present time a programme whereby accommodation for twenty young men will be forthcoming in a short time by this means.

Partly through the active co-operation of the ladies, who have been responsible for a great many repairs and renovations about the building, it is still in a good condition. As may be expected, however, the building has become somewhat out of date and many are looking forward to the time when a new building will be erected or the present plant renovated.

become somewhat impaired. The financial depression following the war being responsible to some extent for the decrease in subscriptions and membership fees, and in consequence the "Y" suffered. A $5,000 mortgage was placed on the building, and later a loan was obtained from the bank. These sums were necessary to cover outstanding accounts.

A review of the annual report shows that the past year has been one of marked progress and activity and the association is more and more taking a prominent part in the life of the city. And also shows an increase in the numbers availing themselves of the opportunity offered for self-development as well as other features.

The revenue from membership and other sources shows that the Kingston Y.M.C.A. is on the upgrade. The Y.M.C.A. is progressing not so much in the spectacular features as in the promotion of the everyday programme.
