MILLINERY LESSONS FOR ATHENS LADIES

Passing of Mrs. Livingston—
Little Amy Young is Steadily Recovering.

Athens, April 3.—Many farmers in the vicinity have tapped their sugar-bushes, but find that the sugar-making season has not arrived in real earnest, as yet.

Dr. Kenneth Blancher, Morrisburg, called here last week by the funeral of his uncle, the late Chauncey Blancher, while in town was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Jessie Blancher, Isaac street.

Mrs. Dulcolon, Philadelphia, N.Y., and Mrs. Morton, Brockville, were here this week, owing to the death of their mother, the late Mrs. Lucy Livingston, who passed away on Monday morning, March 29th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alexander Palmer, Elgin street, with whom she has been spending the winter. A few days previous to her demise, pneumonia developed, and despite careful nursing, she died quite speedily. The late Mrs. Livingston was the widow of the late Benjamin Livingston, and was born in the vicinity of Addison, nearly eighty-four years ago, moving to this district about half a century ago, and becoming a resident of this place several years ago, following the death of her husband. She was a kind-hearted friend and neighbor, held in high regard by all who knew her. Funeral services were conducted in the United church on Wednesday afternoon, by her pastor, Rev. H. E. Warren, who preached an impressive sermon, in the presence of a large audience, gathered to pay a last tribute of respect. The pallbearers were A. Scott, L. Kelly, W. A. Eaton, J. Stewart, P. Hollingsworth and M. B. Holmes. The remains were deposited in the local vault.

Mrs. Lucy Wiltse, Victoria street, aged well over eighty—although she still resides alone—was discovered by a neighbor, on Sabbath afternoon, March 28th, in a very weakened condition, and unable to rise from her bed. Her relatives were summoned, and care and medical attention were given, and she is now quite improved, and it is expected that she will soon be about again, as usual.

Little Miss Amy Young, who has been ill all winter, first with scarlet fever, and later, as a result, with mastoid, which required a critical operation, is quite improved in health, and her nurse, Mrs. Stewart, has been able to leave her patient. The wee girl was able to be downstairs for the first on Thursday, and her numerous friends, young and old, hope for a complete recovery. Little Amy is one of those amiable children whom everyone loves, and her affliction, this winter, is sincerely regretted.

Mrs. Fred Scovill, who has been ill so much this winter, is showing most encouraging signs of steady improvement, and this last week has been enjoying a visit from her daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) W. D. Stevens, and children, Westport.

Mrs. D. L. Johnston, Elgin street, has been invalided home from participating in her usual active life, suffering from a severe cold.

Mrs. Spence, Consequon, who recently sustained a stroke, is recuperating at the Wiltse street home of her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Watt.

Mrs. Laura Yates, Frankville, has been here for a few days, a guest at the Victoria street home of her daughter, Mrs. William Torriss.

Rankin Hasted, who went to Owen Sound with relatives, following the death of his grandfather, Rankin Lawson, with whom the young man has resided since childhood, returned to his home in this vicinity, a couple of weeks ago, far, as he says, "There is no place like home," and Athens seems the dearest spot on earth to him.

The forthcoming classes in millinery, under Women's Institute auspices, are being anticipated with pleasure by a score or more of ladies, who have signified their desire to be enrolled as members. A government instructor, Miss McLaughlin, Toronto, is being sent, and the two weeks will, no doubt, be profitably spent. The date of opening the lessons has been fixed for the 19th inst.

At Findley Station. Findley Station, April 5.—The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. William Curtis on Thursday afternoon. Lunch was provided by the hostess and Mrs. J. Brennan and Mrs. W. W. Kiell.

The K.C.I. scholars are home for their holidays.

Mrs. John Brennan has returned from attending the funeral of her father, the late George Cartwright, at Redwood, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson attended the funeral of Mr. George Galway, Pittserry. Mrs. G. Carpenter and children, Kingston, were recent visitors at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carey's, Mrs. Russell Bennett visited at her father's, Mr. Vanhorn, Middle Road. Mrs. Harold Kiell and little son are visiting friends at Elginburg. Mr. John Bennett, Kingston, spent a day at his son's, Russell Bennett. Miss Sarah Brown is home from Kingston General Hospital. Mr. F. Thomson, Kingston, visited his daughter, Mrs. Lora Thompson, this week.

Miss Meta Campbell is spending the holidays at her father's, at Hartington. Mr. James Walker held his annual cheese meeting. His factory has been running all winter, with a good supply of milk.

We will continue to supply the same high-grade milk from tuberculin-tested cows, on the Hemlock Park Dairy farm for those who desire it.

Unusually High Standards Ensure Pure, Richer Milk

In carrying out our plan of supplying the people of Kingston with the freshest, purest and safest milk, we set unusually high standards to which to adhere.

We insisted that all milk supplied by the Hemlock Park Dairy should be obtained under the most ideal farm conditions, where the production of milk of unusual richness and quality is thoroughly understood.

We insisted that our new dairy should be modern in design and construction; that its equipment should include the modern necessities for ensuring absolute purity and safety in milk; that each can and bottle be rinsed with cold water, washed with boiling water and sterilized with live steam; that the milk be bottled and the bottles capped by machinery so that the milk is safeguarded against contamination on its journey to your home.

Finally, we insisted upon a delivery service which would ensure dependable deliveries daily. Carefully selected horses and modern equipment kept in first-class order, together with courteous, reliable salesmen, make certain of a delivery service you'll appreciate.

Enjoy this richer, safe milk and dependable service in your home. Telephone 3100 for a salesman to call.

Hemlock Park Dairy Milk is pasteurized for absolute safety.

Pasteurizing is simply a process of bringing milk to a specified high temperature, holding it at that temperature for a short time, then cooling rapidly. Nothing is added to the milk, nothing taken away. Pasteurizing does not remove cream, make milk less nourishing or alter its taste.

On the other hand, pasteurized milk is easier to digest and remains sweet longer. Hemlock Park Dairy Milk is guaranteed not to have any alteration in cream content.
