Record Late Frost. Searching his records on Monday over a long period of years, G. G. Grother, government meteorologist, Brockville, could find no registration to compare with that of Sunday night, when the mercury dropped to twelve degrees above zero, representing twenty degrees of killing frost, and causing new ice to form on the open waters of the St. Lawrence River opposite the town. Such continued cold weather at this time of year is unprecedented, in Mr. Grother's opinion, which is also verified by many of the older inhabitants.

Funeral of Kenneth Johnson. The funeral of the late Kenneth Johnson took place on Friday afternoon from James Reid's undertaking parlors to Cataract cemetery for burial. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. W. T. G. Brown of Sydenham Street Church. The pallbearers were Jack Patterson, John Anderson, Harold Aitken and Clara Mills.

O You Weather Man! It looks as if the Weather Man is trying hard to beat his record of last April, when ten inches of snow fell on April 13th. However, the people look for almost any kind of weather these days, and they were all surprised on Friday morning when they found the ground covered with snow again.
