Adventures of the Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton.

Blackie The Pony. Nancy and Nick and the March Hare left Rubadub scrubbing up Flop Field Mouse and his friend, the little Gray Mole, and started off to hunt up some more people to be spring-cleaned.

Almost the first person they saw was Blackie, the shaggy pony. "Help, help!" Blackie was whinnying. "Help! My tail's caught in the barb-wire fence and I can't move. Help!"

"For goodness sake, Blackie!" said the March Hare. "You make more noise than two pigs under a gate. Your tail wouldn't hurt you if you didn't keep pulling at it. Stand still and these children will soon get you untangled."

"Oh, thank you," said Blackie, pawing the ground. "But it's most inconvenient getting caught like this, just as I was about to nibble that bunch of lovely new sweet clover there. It's only a few inches beyond my nose and it smells like peaches and cream."

Nancy and Nick soon untangled Blackie's long tail and the pony took a few steps toward the patch of sweet clover.

"Where's that clover now?" he whinnied more loudly than ever. "The old man of mine hangs right in my eyes the minute I put my head down, the March wind blows it forty ways at once."

"My goodness, but you're in a cross humor to-day, Blackie!" said the March Hare. "What's wrong?" Blackie shook his mane out of his eyes. "Nothing, except that this silly old man and tail of mine are always getting me into trouble. I hate them," he said. "I wish I could get them bobbed."

"Oh, ho! You do, do you?" laughed the March Hare. "Well, I'd say you needed a good bobbing all over. You look like a plush coat that forgot to stop growing."

"I know. I'm perfectly ashamed of myself," said Blackie with a toss.

of his head. "But I heard Farmer Greenway say last winter that he wouldn't clip me, because the barn wasn't very warm and my hair could grow as long as it liked."

"Well, I guess it liked to grow pretty long," laughed Nancy. "You do look awfully funny, Blackie. You'd better let us take you to Rubadub, the fairman of Scrub-Up Land. He'll fix you."

"Oh, will he?" whinnied Blackie delightfully. "Yes, sir! He will," said Nick. "Then hop right on my back, all three of you," whinnied Blackie. "We'll start at once."

So they all hopped on and pretty soon there they were, right in front of Rubadub's house in Scrub-Up Land.

"You don't want your mane and tail bobbed, surely," protested Rubadub when Blackie told him all the things he wanted done.

"Why not?" asked Blackie. "It's my mane and my tail to do as I please with, isn't it? I mean, aren't they?"

"But the flies! They'll soon be coming," warned Mister Rubadub. "Then how will you switch them off?"

"I'll bite them if they bite me," said Blackie. "Just go right ahead. What could poor Mister Rubadub do but obey?"

"There isn't much room left to tell it all, but there's enough to tell you that when the flies came they nearly drove poor Blackie crazy as he had no tail to switch them off with. And once a bee stung him."

By fall his tail had almost, but not quite, grown in again.

But the most interesting thing of all is that Farmer Greenway never found out who did it.

PROTEST OF LABOR PAPER OVER A BABY

Daily Herald Nauseated by Flood of Silliness Over York Infant.

London, April 23.—The only dissenting note in all the columns of congratulatory tributes to the new Princess, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, is sounded by the Daily Herald, Labor organ.

The paper says that, while sympathizing with the Duchess as a woman and expressing kindest feelings toward the baby, for the public to be interested in the Duchess and her infant "just because she is a Duchess," is feeble-minded.

ers working right up to the time they are taken to bed — of babies born on bare floors or frowsy beds, with dirt all about them and scarcely enough nourishment to keep them alive—then one is forced to ask: Why, if the community provides some families with everything they can possibly need, doesn't the community set about to provide decent conditions for every mother and child?"

The christening of the infant is expected to take place in the chapel Royal at St. James' Palace. The godfathers will be King George and the Prince of Wales, while the two grandmothers, Queen Mary and the Countess of Strathmore, will be the godmothers. Nothing concerning the christening, however, has been officially announced.

A BLEMISHED SKIN

Cannot be Relieved by Salves and Ointments.

Irritating sores, pimples, eczema, salt rheum and other skin disorders are all signals of distress, telling that your blood is weak or impure. You cannot get rid of eczema and other skin troubles with ointments and outward applications, because the trouble is rooted in the blood and can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills banish these troubles because they purify and build up the impoverished blood. This has been proved over and over again. Among those who have thus benefited is Mrs. Chris. F. Hummel, Castor, Alta., who says:—"I was troubled with eczema for years and although I tried many remedies I did not find permanent relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Whenever I did a little work my hands pained me greatly, especially my fingers and joints which were swollen and cracked, so that I could scarcely move them. Finally as the result of a statement I read, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them very long when I found they were helping me. I then got a dozen boxes, and before they were all gone every trace of the trouble had disappeared. I had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I might have been spared the suffering I endured, and saved the money spent for other treatments that did not relieve me. I hope some other sufferer will benefit by my experience."

If your blood is out of order begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and note their speedy beneficial results. Sold by medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
