What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

CORKING COMEDY AT CAPITOL STARTING TO-MORROW

"Bluebeard's Seven Wives" Has Blanche Sweet, Lois Wilson and Ben Lyon.

There is a highly diverting comedy on the screen of the Capitol Theatre starting Thursday in the Robert T. Kane production, "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," released through First National. Besides bringing a full quota of laughs, Kane has assembled a most unusual cast. Witness: Blanche Sweet, Lois Wilson, Ben Lyon, Dorothy Sebastian, Diana Kane and Sam Hardy, and many more.

"Bluebeard's Seven Wives" is one of the most original things ever accomplished in the comedy line. The picture gets its title from the exploitation stunt evolved by a motion picture press agent (Sam Hardy) to make his young movie star (Ben Lyon) a popular sensation. The press agent concocts a future for the young star in which at least seven wives are thrown across his path. With so many marriages the press agent is sure that his charge will become known as a modern Bluebeard.

The press agent, however, figures without a little thing known as Love. When his star succumbs to this, all plans are in the discard. The comedy is fast throughout and there is a beautiful Romeo and Juliet scene enacted by Lyon and Blanche Sweet.

One of the funniest climaxes ever staged arrives when the press agent, in endeavoring to find Lyon, who has escaped in a flivver coupe, finds himself surrounded by about four hundred such vehicles. He promptly goes mad.

Blanche Merrill and Paul Schofield wrote the story, while Alfred A. Santell directed. It is more than worth while seeing; it is too good to be missed.

REPORTS PRESENTED SHOW ADVANCEMENT

The annual meeting of Queen's University Council was held Tuesday afternoon in Douglas Library. Principal Taylor was in the chair, and among the members present from out of the city were R. O. Sweeney, Montreal; D. H. Laird, K.C., Winnipeg; George A. Guest, Toronto, and Senator Andrew Haydon, Ottawa.

Reports were made to the council by the deans of the Faculties of Arts, Medicine and Science, and all showed steady advancement, while pointing out requirements in the respective departments, which it was hoped would be provided, as a result of the present Endowment Campaign.

Principal Taylor traced the growth of the Campaign, and explained its present status, while Prof. McArthur gave an account of the trip to the west in connection with the campaign.

The general feeling was one of optimism that Queen's graduates and friends would rally to the support of the university, and raise an amount sufficient to adequately provide for her needs.
