LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE ON WHEELS

Toronto, May 8 .- The "little ol red school house" will travel on wheels in Northern Ontario if the present plans being made by the Ontario Government and the Canadian National Railway are completed. For some time the question of providing proper school accommo dation for the children at isolated points in the north has been receiving serious consideration by the provincial educational authorities, and it is felt that the difficulty could be solved by having moveable schools. After giving the subject thorough consideration, it has been virtually decided that the requirements could be met by taking an ordinary Canadian National coach and refitting it up as a portable school. By adopting this method both the school and the teacher could be moved from one section to another, and the youth of northern Ontario could wake up some morning and find their school all waiting for them on a convenient siding.

Ottawa, May 8 .- The House of Commons adjourned last night over the week-end with the budget still under consideration. A vote on Tuesday of next week is regarded as a possibility, but it may be delayed until later.

As the Finance Minister made his statement to Parliament on April 15th, the budget has now been before the House for over three weeks

Yesterday's debate was marked by a complaint from T. L. Church, Conservative member for Northwest Toronto, that Ontario lacked adequate representation in the Government Nowadays, he said, men who set tled the policies of the Government were mostly westerners. Rank and File of British Labor Thinks General Strike Was Very Bad Strategy

London, May 8-The rank and file of Labor are beginning to declare that the declaration of a national strike was a mistake in strategy. The feeling is growing that the leaders who have accomplished their purpose should have called the unions out one by one, thereby giving a demonstration daily of increasing strength instead of calling all labor reserves in the fight at the outset.

The suggestion is now being made on the Labor side that the National Strike should be called off while still apparently successful and be used as a threat for the future if the miners do not get justice when .the negotiations are resumed.

These developments indicate weakening in the Labor ranks, although it is still asserted at headquarters that the strike is continuing surprisingly good.

Claims Reports of Disorders Are Greatly Exaggerated

London, May 8 .- Sensational and exaggerated reports of violence and disorder, sent to North America. in connection with the general strike were discredited by Pembroke Wicks, official Government spokesman, at a conference with the newspapermen late yesterday afternoon. It was not denied, he added, that intimidation and disorders had occurred in many places, and that they might recur momentarily. But the exaggerated form in which some news dispatches were being sent to the foreign countries, particularly Canada and the United States, was receiving the serious consideration of the Government.

LINERS SAIL ON SCHEDULE FROM BRITAIN

Conditions at Liverpool and Southampton Are Improved.

On Good Terms With Police at Liverpool, and Seek Advice from Them.

London, May 8 .- The British Gazette, government newspaper, reported yesterday gradual return to normal conditions at Liverpool and Southampton. At Liverpool it was said 13 vessels docked, and ten docked at Liverpool Thursday, and that cargoes of 16 vessels were discharged there with volunteer labor. It was said 6,000 tons of cargo were placed in sheds, 1,000 coming from one ship alone.

A number of strikers reported for duty yesterday in all departments of the Mersey and harbor docks. Notices were posted at Gladstone dock that 500 men were needed and in a few minutes 150 had volunteered, despite pickets.

The situation at Southampton was declared equally good. The North German Lloyd liner Columbus and the Cunard liner Ascania sailed . as scheduled. Many ships there are discharging cargo. The Mauretania has discharged 4,000 cases of fruit The Cunard liner Carinthia landed its American tourists, who went to London by automobile. quiet, with all essential English mails were conveyed Fri-

No interference is reported.

Seventy per cent. of Liverpool tramway men have returned to duty and normal tram services were working in some directions on Thursday.
