AMUSEMENTS

PICTURES OF COLLEGE LIFE AT CAPITOL THEATRE

William Haines steps into the front rank of screen juveniles with his performance of "Tom Brown" in "Brown of Harvard," which opens a three-day run at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow. He makes Tom a human, likeable, breezy, and slightly egotistic youth. In other words, a typical college boy, and his playing in the football game is always real and authentic. Jack Pickford has the important role of Doolittle, the weak, awkward youngster, who basks in the light of Brown's popularity. The characterization is a new one for Pickford, and in his way, it is one of the finest things he has ever done. It is a tragic role, something new in a college story, and if it weren't for Haines' excellent work, he might easily have stood on the picture. Mary Brian is delightful as Mary, the girl in the case. Her wholesomeness is as photographic as her beauty. Haines and Mary make as perfect a couple as has been seen on the screen in some time. "The Sea Beast," which has been drawing capacity houses, will be shown for the last time to-night.

CLOTHES LINE THIEVES ARE AGAIN AT WORK

Line in Earl Street Back Yard Stripped of Several Shirts.

That it is not wise to leave clothes hanging on a line outside over night was amply demonstrated to an Earl street housewife on Wednesday morning when she looked out to the yard and discovered that the clothes line had been stripped during the night.

The lady in question had yesterday washed out several shirts belonging to her husband and her son. Among them were several good broadcloth shirts. The lady of the house put them out on the line and left them there, evidently intending to bring them in and iron them this morning. But when she got there, the line was bare and now her husband and her son are minus several good shirts.

EXPOSURE WAS FATAL TO ENTERPRISE MAN

Mr. Charles H. Dopking, Aged Eighty, Wandered All Night in a Field.

Exposure from wandering all night in the fields, clad only in light night clothes and bed room slippers, led to pneumonia which caused the death of Mr. Charles H. Dopking, aged eighty years, a native of Enterprise, Ont., and a brother of George Dopking, of Kingston, who passed away Sunday morning at his Pillar Point home, near Dexter, N.Y.

Mr. Dopking had been in failing health since the first of the year and for the past several weeks had been suffering from a cold. At 10 o'clock Friday night, Mr. Dopking arose from his bed to go to the hen house and in some manner became lost and spent all night walking about trying to find his way home. It was thought that he might have suffered some temporary mental trouble as a result of his illness and was therefore unable to find his way home.

An extensive search was started by relatives when it was found he was missing and after neighbors and others had organized into posse to scour the countryside the man was finally found at 5 o'clock the following morning by William Dopking, his brother, and Deputy Sheriff Charles N. Dingman, of Dexter, his son-in-law and others, lying among a clump of juniper berries in a field about one mile from his home. He became ill after his exposure and his cold developed into pneumonia which caused his death.

Mr. Dopking was born in Enterprise, Ont., October 13th, 1846. He married Miss Zeneth Wagar, May 16th, 1869, and 22 years ago went to Pillar Point where he settled. He had been a farmer all of his life, and was a life-long member of the Methodist Episcopal church, which he joined at Enterprise, in early youth.

He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Grace McAdam, Watertown; Mrs. Samuel McAdam, Banockburn, Ontario; Mrs. Eugene Brenon, Tiffin; and Mrs. Charles N. Dingman, Dexter. One sister, Mrs. John Sotrey, Saskatchewan; four brothers: George, of Kingston; William H., of Pillar Point and Reuben and Wilson, of Enterprise; also survives as well as twelve grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the late home at Pillar Point at 1.30 Tuesday afternoon and from the Pillar Point Methodist Episcopal church at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mrs. Clark, pastor of the Pillar Point church officiating. Interment was made in the Dexter cemetery.

EXPRESS CONFIDENCE

That the New Tariff Board Will Deal Fairly.

Toronto, June 9.—Confidence that the new tariff board would deal fairly with the problems which it will be called upon to face, keeping a broad Canadian attitude in its decisions, was expressed by various speakers at today's session of the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. President S. H. Fortier, Quebec City, was not entirely pessimistic regarding the outcome of the appointment of the board. Hon. E. J. Davis, Newmarket, suggested "a Canadian development committee" composed of men of broad vision, tactful in judgment, to meet representatives of the farmers and other classes to discuss matters of interest to all.

The bill was before the committee some weeks ago and was defeated. In the House, however, the bill was again referred to committee.
