GOOD GAMES ON TAP THIS WEEK

Toronto Highlanders, Leaders of Ossington League, Here For Two Games.

Kingston fans know how the locals sized up against the champions of Toronto last season and on Friday and Saturday of this week they will be given the opportunity to see how they compare with the probable champions of the Toronto Ossington League this season...

The Highlanders are tied for first place in their league with the Hill-crests, Oalers ranking third. The fact that the Killies are leading the Oalers alone is sufficient evidence that they have a fast aggregation and it will take a team with a collection of air-tight fielders and wise clouters to beat them.

There is no doubt but that the Kingston crew are much better than they were last season and as the locals trimmed the Toronto champions then, the fans are confident that they can down the new opponents. The locals will have the chance to show their stuff against a real team and Joe Daley's nine should play better ball than they have in previous games this season...

Junior Executive Meeting To-night

A meeting of the Junior League has been called for tonight when the Circle Six-Twigg-Victoria-executive mixup will be straightened out. No action has been taken one way or the other since the meeting last Friday night but it is expected that some agreement that will be satisfactory to all concerned will be made.

BASEBALL PROBLEMS

By Billy Evans.

Is it possible for a batted ball to first strike a considerable distance in foul territory and later be a fair ball?

Such a thing is possible if the ball first strikes in foul territory somewhere between home and third or home and first.

When a ball first strikes in foul territory, it is finally judged fair or foul as to where it settles between home and first and home and third, or where it is when it passes first or third.

Thus, if the ball first strikes say 15 feet down the third or first base lines, and is a considerable distance foul when it so hits, it can be a fair ball if it finally settles in fair territory, provided no player has touched it while in foul territory.

No thought should be given as to where the ball strikes; it is where the ball finally settles between home and first and home and third, or where it is when it passes those bases.

Often a ball first strikes fair and later goes foul. In like manner a ball can first strike foul and go fair.

SPORTING NOTES AND COMMENT

Softball sure is a popular sport in Brockville and one would think with so much interest being shown in the game, that the softballers would do something about having a decent playing field. The field there on which the local C. P. R. Club played last week must have been meant for a golf course.

The Highlanders of the Toronto Ossington Park League play Kingston here next Friday and Saturday and the fans should be treated to some classy ball. Just at present the Killies are leading the procession in their league and according to all reports, have a real team. The fans are craving for real live wire games and should get them. Toronto and Kingston teams clash the end of the week.

Kingston has five wins and no defeats, Peterboro one victory and one loss and Belleville is on the high-side of the score sheet once and met defeat four times up to date in the C. O. B. L. Peterboro plays at Belleville again on Wednesday. Both teams are showing much better form and it will be a merry race to see who is going to be within touching distance of Kingston.

Miss Helen Willis, American tennis champion, has been discharged from the hospital where she underwent an operation last week. She will remain in Paris for a few days and will then travel to England to see the Wimbledon tournament.

We read where a baseball team in the States travelled by aeroplanes so that they could play two baseball games in different cities some distance apart in the same afternoon. Even the most ardent supporters of that ball team will have to admit that their team was "up in the air," that day.

THREE SMALL CARS FOR THE YEAR 1927

New York, June 11.—Three of the five manufacturers experimenting with the small car in the United States will have their products on the market by the spring of 1927.

Erwin Greer, automotive engineer, predicts this and goes further in foreseeing the end of the heavy motor car still in use to-day.

"At the New York and Chicago automobile shows you will undoubtedly see several samples of the mosquito car, Greer says. "For the motor industry has taken seriously to the idea of a small, short wheelbase, narrow-tread motor car."

Several types of French and English cars are known to be on trial in America. These, Greer believes, can be produced here at much lower cost than in Europe. At the same time they would be more economical to operate, easier to handle and would relieve traffic.

"The next two years," Greer adds, "will see the most revolutionary changes in the history of the automobile industry. The oversize, overweight motor car cannot survive even in the limited quantities in which the higher priced automobiles are now produced."
