THOMPSON'S FUNNIEST PICTURE IS COMING

The roars of laughter that follow in the wake of such a production as "Charley's Aunt" re-echo as loudly through "The Bandit's Baby" which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Situations that are positively new, comedy of a high order, burlesque, and satire are all blended beautifully with the fast action of a rattling western tale, with Fred Thomson's remarkable personality, and with the histrionic ability of the athletic star and his equally famous horse, Silver King. Silver, as a matter of fact, has a lot to do with carrying for the baby that is suddenly wished on his master, "The Bandit." This is unquestionably the funniest picture which Thomson has ever made, and it is safe to predict that it will provide

IT CANNOT BE DONE.
There Can Be No Equalization of Sentences.

In the opinion of Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General for Ontario, there is no such thing as equalization of sentences. Discussing the question, Mr. Nickle contended that equality or, in other words, a fixed duration of punishment for a proved offence would constitute a rank injustice, and consequently can never be. From Mr. Nickle's point of view the Court of Appeal, which lately has been given a rectifying power with regard to sentences; the Remission Branch of the Department of Justice, the Parole Board, and Executive clemency offer the nearest approach to equalization of sentences and the publicly sought assurance that substantial justice will prevail. From some sources the suggestion has been made that there should be a conference of Judges and other administrators of justice to endeavor to determine some practice that might obviate the differences in sentences that have caused comment, but Mr. Nickle fears, for the reasons outlined in what he has previously stated, that the result would not be of great practical value. Each case must be determined upon its merit, and those upon whom the responsibility rests should, where glaring injustices have been done, endeavor to rectify the situation and "make the punishment fit the crime."

Long winning streaks in major league baseball seem to come in 10-year periods. For instance, back in 1906 when Fielder Jones had charge of his famous "hitless wonders," the Chicago White Sox established an American League record by winning 19 games in a row. It still stands.

A decade later, or in 1916, the New York Giants under the crafty John McGraw turned in the great winning streak of modern times, bagging 26 tilts without suffering defeat. This season the Yankees, piloted by Miller Huggins, chalked up 16 victories in succession for the third highest mark, equalling a Washington achievement of 1912.
