BELLEVILLE WON 5-INNING GAME

Defeat Kingston by 3 to 1—Rain Terminated the Contest.

(Special to The Whig)
 Belleville, June 23.—Belleville won a five-inning tussle with the Ponies yesterday 3-1, rain terminating the contest at this juncture. The umpires called the game and after the regulation 30 minutes declared the contest off on account of wet grounds. Whether this was a deciding factor no one will be able to tell but certainly the Trunks outplayed the Ponies while it lasted. Ouellet was going in his old time form and after his hoodoo of first innings was over, he settled away and pitched sparkling ball. He was most ably handled by Peeny Mills and three would-be base stealers were cut off by his good right arm trying to make the second station. Every play was clean cut having the winner beat at least a step in every throw. Balstone and Weir supplied the hitting features when each drove an honest to goodness triple to the far confines of the outfield. Balstone's was not productive of a run but Weir drove Ross home with his. Young was throwing them for the Ponies and he did not appear to have the stuff he exhibited here on a former occasion. Both pitchers were steady. Neither walking a man and Young whiffed three while Ouellet made two hits the last one being "Red" in the pinch.

HELPFUL GOLF HINTS

JOHN DUNCAN DUNN
 In the bunker shot, particularly where you play a real one from a bad lie and with a bank to be played over, where the ball must rise rapidly, see to it that the stance is absolutely secure, with both feet planted firmly, having been worked into the sand, if necessary.
 To play the real bunker shot, stand behind the ball, which should be in line with the left toe, the right foot may be forward a little, giving an open stance. Any insecurity may not be detected until the swing is in progress, and then will be fatal.
 In the bunker shot grip the club firmly, in fact this shot and that of playing out of high grass are the only ones where you hold tightly on to the club. But do not let it be in an unyielding manner in the bunker shot, as you must allow for play in the wrist, to raise the ball at the moment of impact.
 That the heel of the club may get well under the ball, keep the hands low and lay the face of the club back more, particularly if you are close to the bank.
 If you are too close to the bank do not try to play straight toward the hole. Play obliquely, remembering that the main idea when you are in a bunker is to get out.

Goes to Montreal
 Montreal, June 24.—Frank Boucher, formerly with the Vancouver Maroons, and a member of the great hockey family of Ottawa, will play next season under the colors of the Montreal Maroons. It was learned from reliable sources here.

The Prince of Sweden saw the Cubs beat the Giants the other day. After the game he is said to have commented as follows: "It is obvious that my country hasn't a complete monopoly on the cheese business."

GOOD BALL CARD BOOKED FRIDAY

Petes Coming Here Ready to Upset Kingston Team's Sailing.

Al. Heckman is very likely to be the man to do the hurrying for the Peterboro team when the Johnsons come here on Friday evening in a Central Ontario League fixture. From all accounts Heckman has at last hit his stride and if this is true, the local fans are in for some real mound work. Heckman can step with the best of them when he is going right and he is the one man that the locals find it hard to knock over. There has been plenty of kidding done at Heckman's expense but the same blondy boy knows a thing or two about heaving and if he is selected for Friday's battle, and if he is at the form that it is claimed he is, Friday's fixture will be well worth turning out to see.

The Peterboro club has a fighting chance to come through the schedule. They have shown a wonderful improvement since the first of the season, and they showed by their great comeback over the Belleville Nationals in their last meeting that they have plenty of punch. The Petes are hard fighters and the local squad will have to be right on edge all through the nine innings of this week's meeting to come through with a victory.

The Central Ontario League race is getting more and more interesting instead of the 'opposite. Many thought that Kingston would have an easy time all the way through the season just as they had in the first few games but it was a lucky break that gave them a win over the Belleville team the last time they played here. These other two Central Ontario League contenders are beginning to step and anything is apt to happen now. It looks as though the Petes and Nationals are out to keep the title of the League away from Kingston but whether they can succeed or not remains to be seen. However, Friday's game will be, or at least has every indication of being, the best baseball attraction of the local season.

NEW MINOR LEAGUE TO MEET SUNDAY

Hamilton, June 24.—The Minor Professional Hockey League will hold its organization meeting at the Royal Connaught in Hamilton on the afternoon of Sunday, June 27, at 3 o'clock, and according to Percy Thompson who will pilot the local club, there will be representatives here from at least a half-dozen cities seeking admission. While it is proposed that the circuit be made up of six clubs, Hamilton, Toronto, London, Stratford, Niagara Falls and Windsor, there is a chance that the organization will be converted into an international eight-club affair, embracing Boston, Springfield, New Haven and Providence, R. I.
 Charles F. Adams, President of the Boston National League Club, is interested in the new league. He has been doing much missionary work on the American side with a view to the development of young stars for his team, and he reports that the four cities mentioned above are keen for the minor league brand of hockey. He wants to see those cities linked with four from Canada, but declared that if that is not possible at present the U. S. A. teams will fight it out among themselves and then saw-off with the Ontario winners.

SPORTING NOTES AND COMMENT

The regulations governing the Kingston Tennis Club were posted yesterday, some of the newer rules being read with considerable interest by the members. The Kingston Tennis Club is thriving along and a verandah has been put on the clubhouse. The buildings will be painted and the ground fixed up and in a very short time the club will be in first-class shape. There are six courts in play at the present time, five concrete and one clay.

Entries for the ladder tournament at the Kingston Tennis Club were opened Tuesday and the first to register was Dr. W. A. Jones, president of the club. There will be a grand rush for registrations from now on.

Friday evening's game between the Peterboro and Kingston teams should be productive of the best baseball yet to be put up by the Central Ontario League in Kingston. Present indications are that Al. Heckman will be sent to the slab, and if so, the local batters will have to keep both eyes on the ball all the time. Heckman is no mean pitcher and is rated highly in the Central Ontario League.

Victorias and Circle-Six will play their July 1st game in the morning at the Cricket Field. This meeting will be a great holiday attraction for local fans and will be the second morning game for these two teams in their schedule. The tie game which ended 7-7 and which caused such a rumpus a short time ago, will be re-played on July 7th.

Girls' softball games continue to be big attractions for the fans. The girls get greatly excited over their play and the excitement seems to spread to the spectators.

Harris Has a Problem on His Hands in Selection of Pitchers

Proper handling of his pitching staff is the biggest task of every major league manager. In this connection I doubt if any big league leader had a tougher proposition ahead in juggling his pitchers than "Bucky" Harris of the American League champs.
 The Washington staff is composed almost entirely of veterans. All four regulars have been in the big show 10 or more years.
 Walter Johnson leads with 20 seasons to his credit. Joe Bush is second in years of service with 15, Coveleskie an even dozen and Reuther 10.
 Veteran pitchers of 10 or more years in the majors often lose their stuff quickly. This is where the rub comes in as far as the manager is concerned.
 Pitchers reasonably certain of going the route make the managerial job much easier. When to pull the faltering twirler is the bane of every big league leader.

Griffith Explains.
 Probably no one is better aware of the task that daily confronts Manager Harris than Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club.
 A great pitcher in his day, Griffith hung on for years after his arm had lost much of its cunning. He was smart.
 "There is no way to figure a veteran pitcher" was a remark Griffith made to me recently. "There is always a question mark attached to his arm."
 "Often a manager purposely rests an old-timer for a week, only to have him fall to show a thing when called upon."
 "On the other hand, a veteran pitcher, after working a hard game, is called upon say only two days later and has a world of stuff."
 "I speak from experience when I say there is no way in the world to figure a veteran pitcher and his stuff. He may have everything when you least expect it and nothing after you have 'prepped' him for some big game."
 When to pull his pitcher is going to be a tough situation that Manager "Bucky" Harris of the Washington club will face many a time before the close of the season.

Remarkable Showing
 A young man of 29 years, who did not reach the majors until 1920, Harris became a manager in his fifth year of service, winning a pennant and world series and repeating with a second flag. Some stepping!
 He has early in his career set something to shoot at, having accomplished the ultimate in baseball, a pennant and a world series title.
 Not only must he play the difficult role of second baseman, direct the play of his club but also constantly keep his eye on the work of his veteran pitchers.
 To yank or not to yank will be the big thing with "Bucky" Harris this summer.
 While the problem of "Bucky" Harris relative to his pitchers is perhaps more perplexing than that of most managers, it is the real issue with every one of them.
 In the south Rogers Hornsby feared for his pitching and not without reason. Ream and Keen are the only two who have done consistently good work.
 McGraw, who expected much better pitching this season, has been badly disappointed. George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns has been up against it. Even Cornie Mack with one of the best staffs in the majors, has suffered because of erratic work on the rubber.
 Managing a ball club in the big leagues is filled with problems but none quite so difficult to handle as the proper selection of pitchers. It is often nothing more than a big gamble.

BASEBALL PROBLEMS
 By Billy Evans.
 If the team at bat discovers the player at bat is the wrong hitter before he is retired or reaches first, how can the mistake be properly corrected?
 If the error is discovered before the batsman has been retired or reaches first base, it is a very easy matter to correct the error. Otherwise it is impossible.
 When such a thing happens, the team at bat can correct the slip in the batting order by substituting the proper batsman.
 The proper batsman shall take the count of balls and strikes that was on the improper batsman. There shall be no other penalty if the mistake is discovered before it is too late.

 Mr. O'Goofy was out going in the gas house district the other day and claims to have found the worst golf course in the world. "Why they even had a ground rule allowing you to tee up on the greens," he said.
