THE REV. H. W. CLIFF INDUCTED AT COOKE'S

Rev. G. A. Brown, President of Bay of Quinte Conference, Presided.

Rev. H. W. Cliff, of Arnprior, was inducted into the pastorate of Cooke's United church of this city on Friday evening. Rev. G. A. Brown, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference and pastor of Chalmers church, Kingston, presided at the ceremony and he was assisted by Rev. J. K. Curtis, of Princess street church, Prof. S. W. Dyde, D.D., Prof. William Morgan and Prof. W. G. Jordan, D.D., all of Queen's Theological College, Rev. Malcolm MacGillivray, D.D., Rev. C. D. Baldwin, D.D., and Messrs. F. Montgomery, N. H. Clarkston of the session of Cooke's church. There was a good representation from the congregation present and quite a number of visitors from other congregations also attended.

Rev. J. K. Curtis preached the sermon of the evening and he based his remarks on the text "We pray you in Christ's stead be ye reconciled to God." The speaker himself supplied a title for his remarks.

REV. H. W. CLIFF.

"The Mission and Purpose of the Christian Church."

Mr. Curtis brought forward the view that the church as a whole, and each individual member of the church, must seek at all times to take the place on earth which Christ filled when he lived among men. In early times the Greeks had risen to great heights without any supplication for Divine aid and even in everyday life great and heroic deeds were being accomplished by people who thought very little of God.

At some time or other however the ancient Greeks had felt a higher call but had found no means of answering it. Rev. Mr. Curtis compared them to people on the summit of a great mountain with an urge to fly but having no wings. In the same way the people of to-day who did not know God were living a lonely life and their hearts and beings were crying out for something which they did not have. The knowledge and belief in Christ would make these lives complete, he said.

Another phase spoken of by the preacher was that of the man broken and wounded down in the valley; he, far more than the man on the mountain top with the urge to fly but without means, needed aid and it could be had from the same source. Christ had come into the world to assist these people. He had assisted them while he was on earth but now He had ascended to heaven and had left the work of pointing these people to Him to his church.

The actual ceremony of induction was conducted by Rev. G. A. Brown and at the conclusion, the clergyman and elders assisting, officially welcomed the new pastor.

Rev. Dr. M. MacGillivray in addressing the minister congratulated him on becoming associated with the congregation of Cooke's Church, Kingston. He had come to this congregation with a reputation and experience from which much was expected. Dr. MacGillivray thought that both pastor and people would be well suited to one another.

The congregation appreciated exceptional gifts, had a high spiritual tone and had always taken a willing part in every good cause. They had always stood by their ministers and were united and enthusiastic. The speaker said that he had known every minister of Cooke's since 1843 and all had found the people much to their liking.

The citizens of the community generally, were friendly and broad-minded. The city possessed excellent educational facilities for the family of the new pastor and also a splendid public library and the library of Queen's University which were at all times open to him. Dr. MacGillivray extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the congregation and of the Presbytery.

In speaking to the people Rev. G. A. Brown mentioned the things which from his experience as a minister he thought would, if observed by the congregation, go a long way toward happy relationships and successful service. These were, that the church be placed first and the minister second; that the congregation be of good cheer under all circumstances; and that they pray without ceasing. If these three things were observed the minister would find much to support him, said the speaker.

When the service was over Rev. Mr. Cliff was introduced to the members of the congregation by representatives of the session.

WOMEN'S MEETINGS

WILTON

The Wilton branch of the Women's Institute has had a very busy month in June. From June 7 to 13, inclusive, a course in food values and cookery was held under the able management of Miss Grey, Toronto. There were thirty-two members in this class and the average attendance was twenty-six. Anyone attending any of these classes was amply paid for their time. On June 17th, Mrs. Lowe, Toronto, an Institute teacher and speaker addressed about twenty-five ladies on "Institute work" and "The Value of Self-Control." She stated how there are 7,000 branches in Canada and the Old Country, all working for the betterment of our home and native land. On hearing what other Institutes are doing to aid schools, hospitals, orphans and child welfare, and numerous other helps, we feel that there is no end of work for the Institute. Mrs. Lowe's talk on "Self-Control" was splendid. Anyone after listening to, and meeting her afterward, realized that she had fully learned the value, and was a living example in her charming personality. All progress is through control. Each moment we are kings or slaves, and the choice rests with us. Mrs. Lowe, urged, that each of us make perseverance, our bosom friend, experience, a wise controller; caution, an elder brother, and hope, the guardian angel.

On Wednesday afternoon, June 30th, the District Annual Convention was held at Wilton. Every branch in the district was represented, namely, Bay View, Conway, Maple Leaf, Adolphustown, Odessa, Napanee and Wilton. There were about 135 ladies present, every available seat in the hall was occupied. The meeting opened with "The Institute Carol," followed by Lord's Prayer. Mrs. James Miller, Napanee, the president, was in the chair and Mrs. P. A. Young, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. William Fretts, vice-president, were also present. Addresses were given on Federation, co-operation, and Institute doings. The programme consisted of several solos, two readings, a violin solo, and a paper on current events, each branch contributing one or more selections toward the programme. Each branch, also, gave a report of last year's work. After hearing of the good work done, I think each branch is much encouraged to go on in the future. Last year's officers were re-elected by acclamation. Mr. Robinson and Mr. Wilson of Napanee, gave a short address on "Chautauquus," and very earnestly solicited the aid of the Women's Institutes in boosting Chautauquus. The meeting closed with "God Save the King." The Wilton ladies then furnished refreshments of ice cream and cake, and each one took their departure, looking forward to next year's annual convention.

Death at Sandhurst.

On Saturday last, after a lingering illness, Mrs. William Ham, passed away. During her six years' residence in Sandhurst, Mrs. Ham, by her charm of manner, bright and cheery disposition, kindness and amiability, greatly endeared herself to a large circle of friends, who join with relatives in mourning her departure.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon in St. Paul's church, the rector officiating, and was so largely attended that many were unable to gain admittance. Mrs. Ham was a devoted member of St. Paul's church and last year was the efficient president of the Women's Auxiliary, which position she regretfully relinquished on account of failing health. Because her character so aptly illustrated the good, the true, and the beautiful, her life will long be held in cherished memory.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Lyall Milne, the president occupying the chair. The Ode was sung followed by repeating in concert the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was answered by "If I could have one more labour saving device, it would be what? Many splendid suggestions were given. A report of the District Convention, prepared by Mrs. J. Bell was read by Miss Florence Huffman. Community singing was heartily enjoyed by the members. A demonstration on rug making was given by Mrs.
