Buckwheat Coal Reduces Ash Waste

Many householders using Egg. Stove or Nut Coal in their furnaces with a bed of Coal not sufficiently deep to prevent the air from rushing through, resulting in much partly burnt coal and not sufficient heat.

The ask from these furnaces will average from 40 to 50% unburnt coal. This loss is much reduced by using our BUCKWHEAT COAL. It seems absurd that larger fuel will be improved by the use of smaller size, but when Buckwheat is used with larger coal the ash will consist of a fine dust rather than large chunks of unburnt Coal.

Buckwheat is an intense heat and will by the pupils and teacher. The prohability of the pupils and teacher are also by the pupils and teacher. The prohelp burn the larger sizes and reduce gramme consisted of choruses, read-
