The annual garden party and strawberry festival will be held on the grounds of St. George's Cathedral on Tuesday, July 13th, from 3 to 9 p.m. Band in attendance in the evening. Admission free.

The town is daily visited by scores of tourists. They go over to the Royal Military College and the points of interest and will soon be able to visit the Kingston Museum at Macdonald Park that now contains many objects of interest, and is itself most attractive. The splendid masonry, the quaint stairway in the five foot wall, the old cannon and the chambers for the sharpshooters are all of the greatest interest to visitors. Then, too, on the stone wall of the most, is the plate with the inscription telling the visitors that it was here in July 1673 that Count Frontenac landed with his French soldiers and his Indians and established a garrison of white men at Cataragui which first as Fort Frontenac and then as Kingston, has ever since been a fortress.

That Britain's "Parliament of Nurses" has been definitely established with the opening of the new College of Nursing, on Henrietta street, Cavendish Square, London, for among its activities the college is to control the organization of the nursing profession throughout the country. This "Parliament," or governing body, meets quarterly, its members being elected on democratic voting principles, and its power is supreme in everything appertaining to the nursing sisterhood. The college has some 25,000 members, and is largely under medical and Government control.

That the post office garden completes the charming display of flowers so much admired by the visitors to our city. First, it coming by C.P.R., they see, as they enter the town, the garden at the station. Next turning on to Clarence street, they stop to admire the handsome building which they find is the custom house and see the bed of red roses in the garden. Clarence Park invites them to rest among the flower beds and they admire the quaint iron fence on which Virginia creeper clings and the century old wall of St. George's Cathedral in the back ground. Then they pass the post office garden where roses, white, pink and deep red are blooming and annuals and tall perennials are in blossom. The whole effect is delightful and the gardens reflect much credit on the gardeners.

That at the biennial conference of the Y.W.C.A. in session now at Hugh's College, Oxford, England, Canada is represented by Miss Muriel Brock, president of the Dominion Council, Y.W.C.A.; Mrs. Chas. Carter, Hamilton, Ont.; Mrs. Whitcomb, Vancouver, B.C., and Miss J. M. Pearce, Toronto, who also attended the International Training Course in Sussex during June. This is the first time the World's Committee has met in England since the inaugural meeting in 1923 when there were only seven countries affiliated and seven "corresponding members." Today the family of over 1,000,000 in 43 countries represents nineteen national organizations, eight "corresponding members," eight in the "pioneer" stage, eight "isolated centres," as well as others still "under survey." In 1928 the World's Committee has been invited to meet in Peking, China.

That at last the summer frocks that have been adorning the shop windows or hanging in closets ready to put on when the long delayed summer should come, are being seen on the street and at tea and summer dances. The frocks are in all the bright colors of the season and give a charming effect against the grey of the streets or the green of a lawn at a garden party.

EXPECTANT MOTHERS. Read Mrs. Menard's Letter. Her Experience May Help.

Chatham, Ontario. - "I want to tell you how much good your medicine has done me. Before my baby came I felt so weak and run-down that I could hardly do my work. My head ached continually and I was so discouraged that I could cry from morning till night. I had no other baby just one year and a half old and it gave me a lot to do. So I thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as I had read so much about it in the little books. I found a difference right away as my head was relieved and my tired feelings gone. My sister had been doing my washing and she continued doing it, as she said it might set me back if I started to do it again. It sure did help me and I had taken just two bottles when my baby came. He is a fine big boy, now nearly five months old. I am taking your medicine again and I am able to do my work all by myself now. I always recommend the Vegetable Compound to women, and especially to expectant mothers, as I believe they need help at those times."

Is Your Kitchen Roomy? Then You Need a Beach Cabinet Gas Range

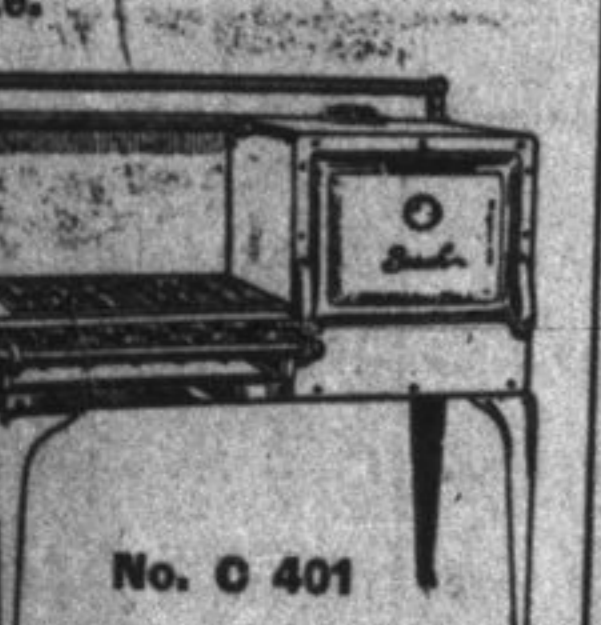

Here are the three models of the Beach Gas Range specially suited to large kitchens. All have the outstanding Beach features—headed burners, which save gas, and rust-proof ovens, which make cleaning easier. You can buy them with either open or closed tops, and with or without the oven heat regulator and touch-a-button lighter.

If your home and family are large, then the Beach Double Oven Cabinet with canopy top is just what you need. The canopy top provides lots of space for keeping dishes warm.

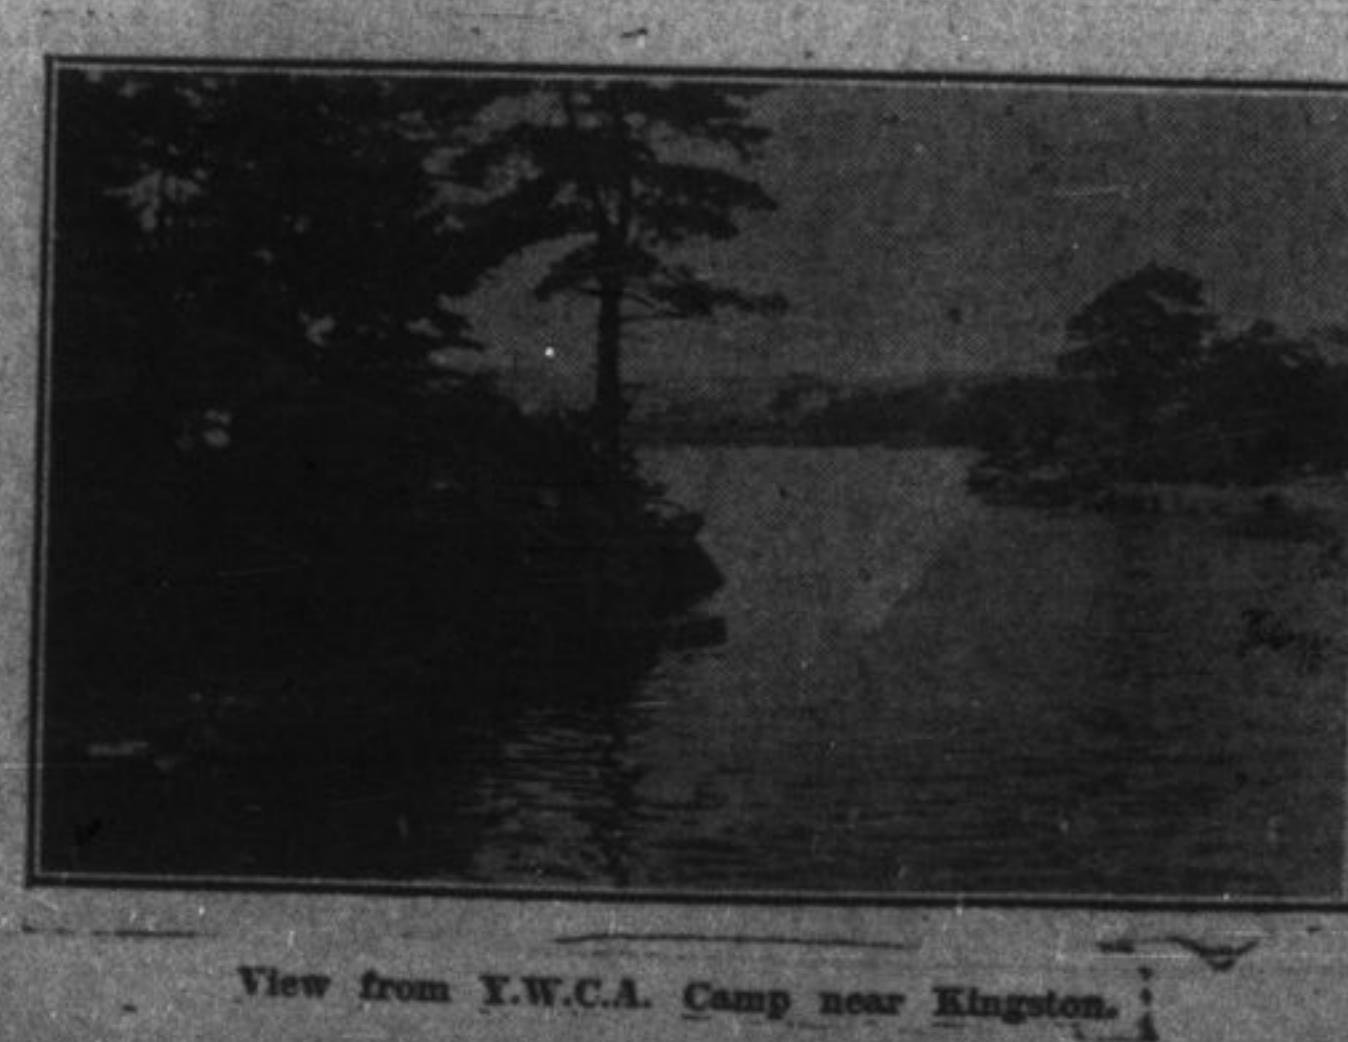

But maybe you want a less elaborate range. If so, you should get the Double Oven Cabinet with shelf. It is particularly suitable for kitchens of moderate size.

While for the smaller kitchen you should choose the Single Oven Cabinet. It has most of the advantages of the other types, but it takes up less room. For a small family it is ideal.
