DR. A. E. ROSS IS NOMINATED CANDIDATE

Sparks, secretary of the Business Men's Association, had written to the Government pointing out that at the one port of Rock Island smuggling to the extent of $10,000,000 annually was going on. On August 5th, 1924, Mr. Sparks and his associates were given a hearing before Mr. Mackenzie King, Mr. Bureau, Mr. Lapointe and other cabinet ministers and the request was made for a Parliamentary committee to investigate, but the request was refused, said Dr. Ross.

The speaker then gave the dates on which Mr. Sparks had either written to cabinet ministers or had approached them in some other way and asked that the smuggling matter be taken up. In October, 1924, Mr. Duncan, the detective, was assigned by the Government to investigate. He secured evidence and made arrests in a number of cases but in every case these men went to Ottawa and secured their discharge from a court case, said the speaker.

Just before the end of the 1925 session the Government had asked for a grant of $350,000 to organize a special preventative force to stop the smuggling. Mr. Bisalton, who was known to be in league with the smugglers, had been put in charge of this force and he had appointed smugglers and incompetents in many cases as the preventative agents, said the speaker.

A Serious Charge.
"I will make a charge that this government was tied up hand and foot with the smuggling interests," said Dr. Ross. "They lost $53,000,000 in revenue and if they had been alive to their job they could have materially reduced taxation. But you not only lose the revenue you also destroy the business of the country. For years after they had been warned what was going on, this government went on removing the influences that prevented smuggling."

Touching on the constitutional aspect of the Governor-General's action in refusing dissolution to Mr. King, the speaker said that constitutional practice had been that if a Government after one dissolution did not have a sufficient majority to carry on, it could not be granted a second dissolution.

"Who are Mr. King's supporters in this attack on the Governor-General?" asked Dr. Ross. Answering his own question, he said: "There is Mr. William Lyon Mackenzie King, whose eyes are never Britainward; Henri Bourassa, who only once put up the British flag and that was when he was caught in Europe at the beginning of the war; Rev. Mr. Woodsworth, who would destroy law and order; Mr. Garland, whose flag is red and red only; Mr. Bird, who was very sorry that he had voted; and Miss Agnes MacPhail, who votes contrary to her faith and pronouncement."

party would be to protect every man and to make it possible for sons and daughters to get work in Canada, he said.

Conservative Resolution.
Mr. Charles Duffin then moved a resolution to the effect that the Conservatives of the riding of Kingston and Portsmouth believed the policy of the Conservative party was necessary to restore the confidence of the people and to attract capital to Canada; that Mr. King had violated British constitutional practice in attempting to carry on a government with a minority, and that in his attack on the Governor-General he was aligning himself and his party with those who would first weaken and then break the British connection. Miss Hewitt seconded this resolution and it was carried.

Hon. W. F. Nickle was asked to speak and he said that when he had heard of the meeting he felt that he must be there and by his presence express his fealty for his old friend, Dr. Ross.

After listening to the address of Dr. Ross he was forced to the conclusion that when the streams of justice were poisoned at their source by the injection of politics the party responsible atoned and died.

This speaker dealt almost entirely with the policy of the Conservative party. He said that if he saw another great question in the coming election besides the purifying of public affairs; it was the introduction of stable economic principles. The cut in the duty on motor cars by the former government had had the effect of frightening capital, he said.

It was not possible to govern a country by listening to only one section, Mr. Nickle declared, and he predicted that both the people living in the industrial centres and those living in other parts of the country would have to show consideration for each other.

To Be Opposition.
In concluding he warned his listeners against going away with the false impression that there would be no opposition to Dr. Ross' election. The latest information he had was that the Liberals intended to contest every seat in Ontario and he urged the Conservatives of the riding to do everything in their power to make the election of Dr. Ross so certain that he could if necessary leave his constituency to go to the aid of other candidates not so sure of election as himself.

Mr. John Sowards announced that a strong campaign committee would be organized and that committee rooms would be opened next week. The meeting closed with cheers for Dr. Ross, Mr. Meighen, the king and with the singing of the National Anthem.

A MOST SUCCESSFUL LAWN SOCIAL HELD

At J. Dixon's, Sunbury, in Aid of St. John's Anglican Church.

The largest lawn social in years was held on J. Dixon's lawn, Sunbury, Thursday evening in aid of St. John's Anglican church, when eight hundred people filled the grounds to overflowing. The entertainment exceeded advance notices and every one went home well satisfied that they had received a big "quarter's worth" of fun.

McGrath's orchestra provided excellent music and many a shoe wore the grass off the lawn keeping time. Rollicking comic songs by "Bobby" Howarth, Reg Betts, Miss Ada Howarth and Mr. Herring kept the crowd in convulsions of laughter. Songs by Mrs. Silver and Messrs. Underwood and Edwards were very much appreciated. A jig by Mr. Hammie Johnston drew many rounds of applause.

The Temple quartet, consisting of Messrs. Saunders, Eva, Donnelly and Christmas, was one of the chief attractions, while little Willie Christmas in a cornet solo pleased the audience.

Armand Daniels gave an excellent interpretation of the Terpsichorean act, and shocked faces changed to smiling faces as "she" took off "her" wig disclosing the head of a boy.

Mr. George Smith, an old favorite gave one of his famous recitations which held the audience in violent fits of laughter.

Perhaps the finest feature of the programme was the chairman himself, Canon W. F. FitzGerald, who in his characteristic way with true Irish wit, announced the programme and contributed to it with Irish stories and the funniest number in the entertainment, an Irish recitation. The people were very enthusiastic about the chairman of whom Rev. R. N. Burke, the incumbent, said: "everybody who knows him loves him and he is well known."

NAPANEE

Napanee, July 17.—The pavement dance in aid of the Victorian Order of Nurses, which was postponed from last Friday evening owing to the rain took place last evening. The weather for the evening was perfect and a large crowd gathered to enjoy the dance in the block on Dundas street between John and East streets. The Napanee Citizens Band furnished excellent music. A neat sum was realized for the Order.

The death occurred on Thursday at 11 p.m. of Mrs. Charles T. Fuller, at her home in Clarksville. Deceased had been in failing health for the past year. Her maiden name was Mary J. Henry and she was one of the oldest residents of Napanee, being a sister of the late Alex Henry and Thomas S. Henry, who predeceased her. She was aged seventy-seven years and seven months. As Mr. John Chapman was closing his brick plant on Wednesday night a lever on one of the machines flew back, hitting him, and breaking his jaw in two places. Mr. Chapman was removed to the Kingston General Hospital.

Work has been commenced at laying the water main on John street. This work is being done by the town before the asphalt pavement is put down.

On Thursday evening the death of Mrs. Fuller occurred. Mrs. Fuller's death was not unexpected as she has been failing for a long time. In her passing Napanee loses an aged and respected resident of the town, and St. Andrew's United church a devoted member and ardent worker.

MALLORYTOWN HAS TENNIS EXCITEMENT

James Robinson and Donald Brown Play for Purse of $4—Brown Wins.

Mallorytown, July 16.—We had a little excitement on our tennis court on Thursday in the playing off of a game of singles between James Robinson and Donald Brown for a prize of $4. It was won by Donald Brown, by a score of 5-1.

Weather and everything contributed to the success of the annual lawn social at Caintown on Thursday on the grounds of the United church. The Mallorytown orchestra played throughout the evening with Miss Vera Calvert and Taylor Franklin as pianists; Frank Calvert, tenor banjo; Clifford Hodge and Arnold Avery as violinists. Receipts would clear over $100.

Mrs. (Dr.) McGee, of London, Ont., and her two youngest children are visiting at her mother's. Her husband and his mother were here for over Sunday and later went on to Newboro.
